Voters Overwhelming in Support for Amendments

Hansen Wins Decisively Over Chief Justice Currie In Supreme Court Contest

Judge Robert W. Hansen, the 55-year-old Milwaukee Circuit Court judge who campaigned on his belief for a need in maintaining "traditionalism" in the Wisconsin Supreme Court, defeated the state's chief justice in Tuesday's Supreme Court election.

Judge Hansen overwhelmed Chief Justice George R. Currie, 67, who would have been able to serve only two years of a new 10-year term in his $25,000 a year post if he had won re-election. Hansen, who will take a $1,000 salary cut as he moves to the high court — where an associate justice draws $24,000 — carried 57 counties to 15 for Currie. He took the lead with the first precinct reporting and never trailed.

The chief justice carried his home Dane County by some 6,000 votes; Hansen piled up a plurality of more than 30,000 in Milwaukee and had more than 55 per cent of the statewide total.

The count, with 3,181 of the state's 3,281 precincts reporting, was:

Hansen	440,649
Currie	357,082

The total vote cast was nearly 20,000 more than the predicted 600,000.

Hansen, who said he viewed a judicial campaign as an opportunity for "a dialogue with the entire community rather than a debate between candidates," said after his election was assured that he felt the campaign was waged on three points.

Judicial Leadership

These were, he said, a need for judicial leadership in the family law field, a need for judicial concern for the rights of law abiding citizens as well as criminal suspects, and the separation of government powers, "with all legislation to be enacted by the legislature."

Of his defeat, Currie said only that "this is a democracy and one who is a candidate for public office should cheerfully accept the decision of the voters in defeat as well as in victory. I do so accept this result."

Currie, a former Sheboygan attorney, reached the high court in 1951 with an appointment by then-Gov. Walter J. Kohler Jr., who three years later named Hansen to a district court vacancy in Milwaukee.

Campaign Topic

Hansen also returned today to a topic he had discussed at length in the campaign — and wherein he had differed sharply from Currie — the developing free press-fair trial controversy.

"I think that should the concept urged by many of 'guidelines,' even guidelines identified as 'reasonable,' be adopted, constitutes judicial lawmaking,"

Not a Presidential Candidate

Dirksen In, Out of Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — To hear Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen tell it, there's a "Dirksen for president" boomlet spreading across the land.

But in his puckish manner, the Illinois senator — whose recording "Gallant Men" has made his sugary tones as familiar as his silver curls — confessed Tuesday he is not about to become a presidential candidate.

Why?

"Because of sagacity born of experience and knowing what it is to campaign and knowing my own limitations," said Dirksen.

The 71-year-old senator was quick to point out that his decision didn't result from a lack of backers.

He told a news conference of a wealthy friend who told him recently: 'You ought to run for president and here's the money to do it."

He said he declined, although he knew the individual concerned had the money and was willing to part with it. How much money?

"It was so big it scared me," said Dirksen.

Just back from a week's vacation in the South, Dirksen said he was surprised by "the amount of Republican talk" he encountered when he journeyed to Miami, Fla., for a speech to the American Textile Manufacturers' Institute.

"These people were from all over the Deep South, as well as from New England," he said. "In a day down there I heard a lot of Republican talk."

Who were they talking about for the Republican presidential nomination?

"About me," he said, dipping his head modestly.

4-Year Terms Approved For Top Elective Officials; School Bus Count Closest

Wisconsin voters Tuesday approved the most sweeping changes in the 119-year history of the state's constitution, passing by overwhelming margins all eight referendum questions put before them.

Included in the approved constitutional amendments are the lengthening of top state officials' terms of office from two to four years, the joint election of governor and lieutenant governor, tax-paid school bus rides for parochial pupils, unlimited consecutive terms for county sheriffs and allowing of changes in justices' and judges' salaries during a term of office.

The public adopted all eight amendments on the ballot by margins of up to 214,000 votes. The cloest of the races was on the school bus amendment, where state voters cast 461,354 yes votes and 355,782 no votes. All other constitutional questions gained 60 per cent backing or better.

The change expected to have the most historic impact on the state was the decision to double the present two-year terms of state officials and elect the top two as a team. The new system will start with the 1970 election.

Seventh State

Wisconsin becomes the seventh state in the nation to choose the governor and lieutenant governor on a single ticket, much the same way as the president and vice president are elected. Only 10 states remain with two-year terms for governor.

Never before had Wisconsin voters adopted more than four changes in the constitution at the same election. Only once before had more than half a dozen questions been on the same ballot — and all 10 listed in 1914 lost.

The school bus amendment rode to success in an election free of the bitter religious disputes that had stained past campaigns. The same change had been rejected by 107,000 votes in 1946.

The 1961 Legislature had tried to provide transportation for private and parochial pupils, but was overruled by the Wisconsin Supreme Court which said the law violated the separation of church and state. The new amendment exempts school bus transportation from that portion of the constitution.

Budget Affected

About 111,000 pupils in Wisconsin will be affected by the amendment. The cost to the state the next two fiscal years is estimated at $6.7 million, a figure that may cause Gov. Warren P. Knowles' $1.1 billion balanced budget to begin teetering.

The 1967 Legislature still must pass a law to carry out the change. However, with the amendment endorsed unanimously by the Senate last month and with little dissent in the Assembly, there is no doubt as to what the decision will be.

Constitutional amendments in Wisconsin must be passed by two consecutive sessions of the legislature, then be approved by a majority of those persons voting in a referendum.

Since Wisconsin became a state in 1848, the people have approved 85 constitutional amendments involving 78 referenda.

The first time four were

Knowles Urges Kellett Passage

Governor Claims Bi-Partisan Support Is Responsible for Bill

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a forceful appearance before a joint session of the Legislature, Gov. Warren P. Knowles today urged speedy enactment of the Kellett plan to streamline a state government which has been described by mounting numbers of critics as cumbersome, paunchy and unwieldy.

After appearing to hesitate earlier in the legislative session, the Republican governor Tuesday called in leaders of the Democrats and Republicans in both houses of the Legislature, assured them he regarded the issue as a bi-partisan one for which both parties can claim credit, reminded them that both parties had approved platforms pledging a structural reform of state administration, and declared his resolve to fight for its achievement.

Essentially, he endorsed the main pattern of the plan brought in by a reorganization commission headed by William R. Kellett, the retired Menasha corporate executive.

More Urgent

In one respect the Knowles plan is more immediate and urgent than the original blueprint which called for execution of the stream-lining of more than 85 agencies into 26 functional departments on July 1, 1968. He asked that the lawmakers move up the effective date to July 1 of this year.

But amendments covering the creation of a department of natural resources, and a modification of the plan for a department of health and social services, will probably be described as efforts to compromise.

Most of the powerful and angry resistance within the state government to the Kellett proposal has come from the State Conservation Commission, protesting a union with the

Dean Plans to Wed Ex-Coed Of St. Norbert

Post-Crescent News Service

DE PERE — The Rev. Vincent De Leers, dean of St. Norbert College, confirmed today the identity of the young woman involved in his decision to seek laicization with the right to marry from Roman Catholic authorities in Rome.

Father De Leers had announced Tuesday he was seeking permission to leave the Norbertine Order and subsequent laicization, or return to the life of a layman, to enable him to serve the urban disadvantaged. He has been granted a leave of absence from the Norbertine Order effective April 15.

Father De Leers

Father De Leers confirmed that his marriage plans involve Miss Marguerite (Peggy) Best of suburban Indianapolis, Ind. The Catholic Church forbids marriage of priests without permission from the Vatican.

Miss Best, about 26, was graduated from St. Norbert in 1961 She had become a convert to Catholicism sometime before her graduation. She subsequently studied in Paris preparatory to joining an order of nuns in an eastern state. She never technically became a member of the order, Father De Leers said, but was a candidate for membership. Such candidacies normally last about a year before aspirants take their first vows.

Miss Best was an assistant in the St. Norbert art department while she was in school.

Legislators Okay Taxless Oleo Sale

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A bill repealing Wisconsin's historic ban on colored oleo margarine and allowing its sale without tax was recommended for passage today by the powerful legislative Joint Committee on Finance. The vote was 9-5, as amended.

The bill, backed by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, provides that the state's long-standing bar against colored oleo be removed immediately.

A 7½-cent per pound tax proposal and a $5 million dairy research center at the University of Wisconsin financed by the tax funds were cut from the proposal on votes of 9-5 and 8-6, respectively.

Emergency Clause

Attached to the bill, which passed the Assembly Agricultural Committee last week, is an emergency clause which could allow action to be taken on the measure by the Legislature before passage of the state budget in late May or in June.

First defeated, then approved in recommending the bill, was an attempt to delete the animal and dairy science building and simply provide funds for research. The move was made by Assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah, who opposed granting funds for state buildings in that manner.

The university should come to the State Building Commission, he said, to finance facilities. Research funds could be provided from the tax, however, and allow "flexibility in providing the best type of dairy research."

"In essence this is a kind of bargain with the farm interests of the state," said Sen. Robert Warren, R-Green Bay. "We shouldn't tamper with it before it gets to the floor.

The motion was rejected on an 8-5 vote but later was approved.

The move to kill the bill, made by Assemblyman Tommy Thompson, R-Elroy, died for lack of a second.

Termed Compromise

Other members of the committee termed the measure an outright compromise in a session which has 13 oleo bills before it.

Assembly Edge Rises for GOP

MADISON (AP) — Republicans have jumped from a five-vote edge in the Wisconsin Assembly to a likely margin of seven votes.

The Republican domination was restored to 53-47 Tuesday when Joseph E. Tregoning of Shullsburg overwhelmed his opponent to capture the vacant seat for Green and Lafayette counties.

The count, now the same as after the general election last November, was expected to become 53-46 with the anticipated resignation of Assemblyman Kenneth Kunde, D - Sheboygan, who has been named U.S. Postmaster in his home city.

Cornell Dorm Fire Kills Nine

Eight University Students Perish; 10 Others Injured

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) —Eight students and a faculty adviser at Cornell University perished today and 10 persons were injured in a pre-dawn fire that heavily damaged a 15-year-old dormitory.

The dead students were six women and two men. The adviser was male. The injured, eight of them women students, suffered from smoke inhalation. None was considered in serious condition.

Scores of others escaped through windows and doors. Some evidently tried to use sheet ropes, and the sheets were left dangling.

The bodies, found in bedrooms, hallways and a lobby, were taken to a university morgue. They were not identified immediately.

Johnson Asks For Increases In Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked congress today for postal rate increases totaling $800 million and for a two-step pay increase of some $2 5 billion for all federal employes and members of the armed forces.

In a special message, Johnson recommended that the cost of mailing letters be increased by 1 cent. The charge for first-class mail would go to 6 cents and an air mail stamp would cost 9 cents.

The President also called for increases in all other postal rates.

Johnson proposed that the government's 2.5 million civilian employes, and members of the armed forces, be given an average pay increase of 4.5 per cent effective Oct. 1.

In addition, he called for further increases on Oct. 1, 1968, and Oct. 1, 1969, for civilian workers.

Urges Teach-ins, Preach-ins

Rev. King Claims U.S. Is Wrong For Bringing 'Violence' to Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has unfolded a major new program of teach-ins, preach-ins and mass demonstrations in an effort to gain from the government an admission "that we have been wrong from the beginning of our adventure in Vietnam."

The winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize pictured the United States Tuesday as so dedicated to its worldwide money and material investments that it has become "the greatest purveyor of violence in the world today," and is on the wrong side of a world revolution for human rights.

'Under Our Bombs'

"Now they languish under our bombs," he said of the South Vietnamese, "and consider us — not their fellow Vietnamese — the real enemy. They move sadly and apathetically as we herd them off the land of their fathers into concentration camps where minimal social needs are rarely met. So far we may have killed a million of them, mostly children."

King's first recommendation, delivered at a news conference, was for "those who are prepared to do it, who see the great dangers ahead for mankind," to become conscientious objectors.

In the evening, before more than 3,000 persons in the Riverside church, he called for clergymen to give up their draft-exemption as clergy and become conscientious objectors.

He also suggested a five-point program designed to "begin the long and difficult process of extricating ourselves from this night-marish conflict:"

—End all bombing in Vietnam.

—Declare a unilateral ceasefire "in the hope that such action will create the atmosphere for negotiation."

—Curtail U.S. military buildups in Thailand and Laos.

Role of Viet Cong

—Accept a role for the National Liberation Front — Viet Cong — in negotiations and in any future government, because it "has substantial support in South Vietnam."

—Set a date for removing all foreign troops in accord with the 1954 Geneva agreement.

King got standing ovations, at the beginning and at the end of his talk. He was picketed by about two dozen members of a Queens Negro organization that insisted the two causes should not be tied together.

People's War Against Liu Demanded in Propaganda

Mao Accuses President of Takeover Plot

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's propaganda organs chorused demands today for a "people's war" against "China's Khrushchev" — President Liu Shao-chi.

The Maoists accused Liu and his followers of plotting to take over the government of China, the machinery of the Communist Party and the armed forces.

The latest charges against Liu appeared in an editorial in Shanghai's daily newspaper, Wen Hui Pao April 2. Radio Peking People's Daily and the Liberation Army Daily, the military newspaper.

The Maoists admitted that divisions remained in their own ranks and called on the people to mobilize for a "great criticism struggle."

Capitalist Road

As usual the attack avoided naming Liu directly, referring to him as "China's Khrushchev" and "the top party person in authority taking the capitalist road."

The editorial said Liu tried "to surround and attack revolutionaries, to build up white terrorism, and plotted to defy the tremendous proletariat cultural revolution."

The editorial said the anti-Maoists had "plotted to take over the party, government, and the military, and to revive capitalism in China. These people who brought disaster to the country and harm to the people must be pushed aside."

Mortal Enemy

"China's Khrushchev is the mortal enemy of the people and the party," the editorial said, adding that "we must completely overthrow" him and his followers.

"We must start a people's war and drown them in the great ocean of people's war," the editorial continued. "All factories, farms, units, schools, organizations and shops must join together and all must mobilize to hit at the party's greatest capitalists."

Red Guards were quoted as vowing to fight Liu "until he is thoroughly struck down and discredited."

Other followers of Mao described the overthrow of Liu as China's "greatest affair of state" and again called him a "counterrevolutionary," a Communist epithet which means he has committed not only political but antistate crimes.

Contract Breach Charged

Carson Quit to Get Raise, NBC Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Carson's resignation from the "Tonight" show apparently is a move to set up renegotiations of his $500,000-a-year contract with NBC, network sources indicated today. They said, "It seems like a question of more money."

The sources discounted reports that Carson, who quit Tuesday, claiming NBC breached his contract in the midst of a performers strike against ABC, CBS and NBC, wanted to abandon the program for personal appearances.

"That's not likely to be the issue," they said. "He's making plenty of personal appearances. It just seems he wants to renegotiate for more money." Carson was not available for comment.

Counter Charge

Carson charged through his lawyer that NBC violated his contract by broadcasting reruns of his late-night shows since the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists struck the networks eight days ago. NBC countered that the contract permitted the reruns.

Negotiations to end the walkout remained at virtual standstill. The strike involves demands by AFTRA that base pay of more than 100 local newscasters at network-owned stations be increased to $325 weekly and that they receive higher commercial fees. The weekly base pay now is $300.

Carson, who has backed the strike, has three years to run on his contract.

A Carson tape was on the air again Tuesday night, but the chatter was about events on a Friday — the kind of out-dated references that the star has complained about in the reruns.

Newhart Signing

NBC acknowledged today, after announcing it "looks forward to Johnny's return," that it had signed comedian Bob Newhart to a long-term contract. He has been a frequent vacation substitute for Carson.

"Newhart's ratings were exceptionally good when he filled in," a network spokesman said, but he would not comment on the possibility he was being considered as replacement for Carson.

AFTRA's attempts to convince network craft unions to respect its picket lines gained some success Tuesday as Teamsters Union truckers refused to make deliveries at the network's offices here.

The networks' motion picture cameramen voted Tuesday night to seek authorization for a sympathy strike from their international union, the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employes and Motion Picture Machine Operators. A spokesman said the membership was "unanimously prepared to stop work immediately."

The strike has clouded the fate of the telecast of the Oscar awards of the Motion Picture Academy, scheduled for ABC Monday night.

A decision will be withheld as long as possible but the academy's president, Arthur Freed, indicated the ceremony probably would be postponed unless the strike is resolved.

Mrs. Ramsey had been missing since May 1966 when she failed to return to her Huber Law cell in Milwaukee. She had been serving a four-month term after being convicted on bad check charges.

Humphrey Considers Talks With Kiesinger Major Part of Mission

BONN (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today opened the Johnson administration's first face-to-face talks with West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and said he came as a friend to strengthen bonds between the two nations.

Humphrey considers his talks with Kiesinger to be the key discussion of his two-week, fence-mending mission in Europe.

Kiesinger welcomed Humphrey as a representative of a country with close ties to Germany and a country whose aid after World War II would never be forgotten by Germans.

The chancellor, who since taking office four months ago has leaned closer to France than the United States, said the Atlantic alliance has stood the test of time and "I am sure it will stand the test of the future."

Kiesinger said his government is willing to do anything to strengthen the alliance, and Humphrey called Kiesinger's word reassuring.

Unity Theme

In his attache case Humphrey carried a call for unity to calk the leaking seams of the Atlantic alliance. He was expected to hit the unity theme hard in two days of discussions with Kiesinger and members of his government.

The vice president's itinerary also included a visit to West Berlin.

Chief among the troubles between Washington and Bonn are West Germany's unhappiness over some provisions of the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons and the foreign exchange drain resulting from the stationing of American and British troops in West Germany.

One of Humphrey's principal tasks is to shape closer relations with Kiesinger. Although former German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard made frequent trips to the United States, Kiesinger and Johnson have yet to meet. German newspapers have made no secret of their feeling that Humphrey's visit is second best.

Humphrey came to West Germany from Britain, where Queen Elizabeth II wined and dined him and his wife Tuesday night at Windsor Castle. The vice president had two days of talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other British officials.

Humphrey debated the war with members of Parliament Tuesday in a private meeting of the British-American interparliamentary group in Westminster Palace.

Seattle Tries Floating Police Station in Core

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Although people "haven't been exactly waiting in line to see me," Sgt. Elmer Knechtel is pleased with the response to Seattle's "floating" police headquarters, established in an area where most of the city's minority groups live.

"There was a feeling that the police were not always available to central area reasidents," Knechtel said. "This is the result."

Knechtel works out of the first African Methodist Episcopal church from 4 to 8 p.m.

In the first three days, 11 persons, whites and Negroes, stopped by. The sergeant handled two complaints and interviewed a possible recruit.

Campaign Financing Law Resparks Battle Of Johnson, Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Sen. Robert F. kennedy again are clashing — this time over the White House-backed presidential election campaign financing law.

Kennedy called Tuesday for repeal of the law enacted by Congress last year, saying it would give "massive amounts of funds in a dangerous and unrestricted way to the national leadership of the two major political parties."

Although the New York Democrat named no names, his remarks seemed directed at least partially at Johnson — particularly since Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said Tuesday the White House "was calling all over the United States during the Easter recess" seeking votes to prevent repeal of the plan. Johnson had endorsed the plan last year.

From Taxes

The current law would provide up to $30 million to each major political party in 1968, with the money coming from income tax payments. It allows each taxpayer specifically to allot $1 of his income levy to a fund to be split between the parties.

Sen. Russell B. Lont, D-La., author of the measure, has suggested amending it this year to eliminate the taxpayer "check-off" system and substitute direct $30-million federal appropriations to the major parties.

But Gore is leading a drive to repeal the measure altogether.

He is trying to tack his repealer amendment onto a bill restoring tax breaks to business.

Destroy Parties

Kennedy, attacking Long's proposed amendment as "a monster," said "it could lead to destruction of our local political parties and their domination from Washington."

He suggested national leaders could withhold funds generated by the measure from states whose leadership refused to deliver delegates at the national conventions.

Long insisted that anyone using the tactics Kennedy feared "would end up in the penitentiary."

Further spotlighting Kennedy's clash with the administration was a letter to Long urging defeat of Gore's move and signed by Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

As the Senate headed for a possible showdown today on the campaign financing issue, the House Foreign Affairs Committee opened its hearings on Johnson's request for $3.1 billion in foreign aid for the year beginning July 1.

Aid Package

Some committee members predicted the President's aid package — a controversial item any year — would get a particularly rough going-over from this year's economy-minded Congress.

The House also is to vote today on whether to chop $50,000 from the budget of the controversial House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Johnson's hopes for a congressional resolution pledging future U S aid to Latin America remained in precarious shape in the Senate, with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Sen. Long suggesting it might be wise to sidetrack the measure.

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — Four boys, the oldest 6, died Tuesday in a fire at their home near this Memphis suburb.

Their mother, Tassieranne Jones, 38, had gone to a neighbor's home only moments before to borrow a bucket of water. Deputies said she had to be restrained from running back into the flaming house.

Killed were Sylvester Jones, 6; Jerry Louis and Terry Louis Jones, 4-year-old twins; and Calvin Lee Jones, 3. Five other brothers and sisters were attending school at the time.

Daley Returned For Fourth Term

Chicago Voters Cut Mayor's Democratic Edge in Council

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago voters handed their three-term Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley another four-year lease on his City Hall suite in Tuesday's election, but whittled his City Council majority.

Daley, 64, received 789,163 votes to 272,955 for Republican John L. Waner in a turnout of about 65 per cent of the city's 1,772,610 voters.

Daley received 72.84 per cent of the votes, but there was a slight increase in the opposition minority of the 50-man City Council.

Election results also revealed a small core of 20,775 voters who cast write-in ballots for the Negro civil rights activist and avowed anti-Daley candidate, night club performer Dick Gregory.

Another 579 voters tossed their write-ins to Lar Daly, 55-year-old field runner in 27 races.

Proving Again That Figures Can Lie

The Green Bay Press-Gazette recently sent a reporter out on the highways to measure mileages and driving times from various points in the Fox Cities area to the Shorewood site of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay on the northeast side of Green Bay, and the Larsen site on Green Bay's southwest side which is favored by this area.

The Press-Gazette came to the conclusion that "the time spent and distance students will have to travel to get to the Shorewood site is not significantly longer than the time to the alternative Larsen farm site." In fact the Press-Gazette determined that "it was seven minutes farther to the Shorewood site than the Larsen site."

But there are two glaring omissions in the survey work done by the Press-Gazette reporter.

Distance and time from the Fox Cities area to the Larsen site on Highway 54 was measured along present Highway 41, including the congested stretch from De Pere around Green Bay on Ashland, Highland and Military Avenues. According to the Press-Gazette figures, the distance from Ballard Road and Highway 41 in Appleton to the Larsen site by this route was 29.9 miles. It took the reporter 30 minutes.

But the reporter failed to study a map before embarking on this ambitious project. She failed to note that County Trunk E runs almost directly from the Ballard-Highway 41 intersection to the Larsen site. The distance on County Trunk E is only 21.8 miles, and the driving time at legal speed limits is 17 minutes.

This shortcut is well known to residents of this area who frequently use it in driving from here to Austin Straubel Field or the Packer stadium. Most of the county trunk has been newly blacktopped.

In addition the Press-Gazette failed to point out that another shorter and faster route will soon be available when the new Highway 41 bypass is completed from De Pere to Duck Creek, passing within a mile of the Larsen site.

This bypass is now under construction, as contrasted with the expressways and high-level bridges Green Bay talks about to connect Highway 41 to the Shorewood site. The latter are only an imaginative gleam in the minds of regional planners.

Bad Jokes in Madison

Some of our representatives at Madison have evidently become so secure in their jobs and so casual about their duties that they brush off the inconveniences to which they sometimes put private citizens who wish to participate in the legislative process. An incident related to us recently about the introduction of a far-reaching administrative reorganization bill probably warrants the attention of those officers of the legislature who are responsible for its public image and who so often lecture about the public's inadequate understanding of their work and problems.

A southern Wisconsin representative of considerable experience and rank offered a measure to combine within the state Conservation Department an assortment of peripheral conservation and natural resource services and programs, ranging from the State Geological Survey, the State Soil and Water Conservation Service, the extension forestry program of the state College of Agriculture, to the summer work camps of the state Welfare Department, among others. Some weeks after it was printed and distributed, a legislative committee scheduled it for a public hearing.

The author turned up, explained with a smile that he did not intend the bill to encompass what it did, blamed the legislative draftsmen, turned on his heel and left the hearing room. But about 50 witnesses, all of them opposed to the measure, many of them having travelled long distances to reach the capitol, wondered what to do next.

There are many speculations about the origin of the contretemps. Like many another politician, the author may have concluded that the prospective fight was more dangerous than he wanted to handle. He may have been deceived by the real, unidentified authors of the proposition. Legislators are sometimes careless in putting their names on bills and resolutions they have not read, or do not understand.

But the important consideration is that the nominal sponsor of the bill arrogantly inconvenienced and confounded several scores of officials and conscientious private citizens whose investment in time and travel might have been put to better use. It would not be surprising if some of them wonder about the kind of hanky-panky to which they were subjected. A minimum courtesy by the author, upon the discovery that the measure was not what he intended, would have been its withdrawal or the drafting of amendments to achieve his declared purpose.

Public Opinion and Vietnam

World public opinion concerning the United States' role in Vietnam has generally been counted against us. But there are indications that privately some of the Asian leaders don't feel the same way.

Philippines President Marcos is on record as favoring a continued show of force by the United States in Asia as well as economic assistance. His reasoning is that much of Asia is not yet ready to be self-sufficient and that the Communist threat is very real. Reportedly Premier Sato of Japan told Ambassador Arthur Goldberg on his visit to Japan that the American commitment in Saigon must be met and that it will be extremely influential in future Asian affairs.

Premier Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore is supposed to feel the same way. Speaking in Japan, Premier Lee stated flatly that "the stakes are very large. What is happening in Vietnam cannot be repeated. We cannot allow the same forces that have emasculated South Vietnam to emasculate the whole region." And the alternative "may very well be a permanent American military presence."

Even Prince Sihanouk of Cambodia is sometimes quoted as being glad that American troops are holding back the North Vietnamese and discouraging Chinese aggression.

The trouble with most of the leaders of these countries is that for domestic political reasons they cannot express enthusiasm for the American interference. Many of the countries only recently cast off colonial chains. Japan long ago adopted a slogan of Asia for the Asiatics. Right now the Philippines president is trying to wrest away from United States control a small military base near Manila. Premier Lee must deal with a left wing element that probably has ties to Peking and the usual charges that his country is still a chattel of the British Empire. Prince Sihanouk, it must be suspected, agreed with former President Sukarno of Indonesia that Red China would be dominant and must be appeased. But his fears of a puppet role for himself now lead to guarded applause for the American troops while making every effort not to get Cambodia involved.

We can hardly blame the peoples of other countries for trying to avoid war, especially the sort that is so drastically devastating Vietnam. We also must recognize each country's particular political problems at home.

But in the long run Asian leaders must take a firm stand against Communist infiltration or all the American troops in the world won't make much difference. The war in Vietnam is benefiting a lot of Asian peoples simply because of the increased demand for supplies and services and the growing anti-Americanism in many countries is unwarranted.

County Road Act Voted Down

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 6, 1867.

The County Road Act has been rejected by a majority of voters of this (Outagamie) County.

In some localities, the opposition was based upon the feature of the bill which authorized town boards to levy a town tax in addition to a county tax; in others hostility was principally because the work and expenditure were to be made by a county road commissioner.

Whether a majority of the people of the towns are in favor of levying a county tax to improve the roads, or whether they prefer each town shift for itself, no living man can tell from the vote on Tuesday.

This much we can see and know. Under the operations of that road act, Appleton could have been made to pay this year a county road tax of $7,000 or $8,000, to be expended on roads outside the city on country roads.

By the vote Tuesday, we (of the city) are relieved of that burden, and can, therefore, have more funds to devote to the building of bridges in the city.

Wednesday, April 1, 1942.

A fire discovered at 8:28 a.m. that day in the basement of the clothing store at 108 W. College caused a $25,000 loss to the William Petersen Clothing firm and considerable smoke and water damage to the nearby Petersen - Rehbein Meat Market, the S. S. Kresge store and the Montgomery Ward store. Firemen fought the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control because of a concrete flooring which hampered them from reaching the source of the blaze in the basement.

Uncle Sam laid down a new war rule that day. To save precious tin, every customer purchasing a tube of toothpaste had to turn in his or her old tube first.

The Wheel of Victory Home Economics Club planned a picnic meeting as a windup for its season. Mrs. Karl Beyer, Mrs. Victor Jentz and Mrs. Elmer Schroeder were chosen to head the arrangements committee.

Ellenmary Seaborne, 7th grade student at Town of Harrison school, won first prize in the American Legion essay contest sponsored by the Thomas E. Kees Post at Sherwood. Donald Herbeck, 8th grade student at Sacred Heart School in Sherwood, took second place.

Taylor Writes

This Is Tense Hour in Middle East; Egypt's Nasser Is in Tight Straits

combat forces are pinned down in far-off Yemen. He has closer to 70,000 troops, rather than the usually reported 38,000 there. He is also clashing with Saudi Arabia in Yemen. The horrible civil war is, in fact, an Egyptian-Saudi battleground. And if Israel or any other enemy of Egypt is to strike Nasser many see this as the strategic time to do it.

Nasser often fronts for the Soviet Union. The Arabs have a saying that the fisherman catches fish in troubled waters. Some blame also falls on other countries, but most of the trouble in the Middle East originates in Egypt, and the main teachers of it come from there.

100,000 MASSACRED

Our own intelligence confirms that Nasser's army and agents have massacred at least 100,000 people in Yemen alone.

In Syria, the land that St. Paul walked, Nasser fishes on all sides of the frontier conflicts and his saboteurs have been arrested while penetrating clandestinely at St. George's Bay.

Jordan's embattlements with its neighbors are only the obvious part of the story. Nasser is in deep in Jordan. King Hussein, solidly pro-American, has made it clear that Nasser has chosen Hussein to be a John the Baptist and lose his head in freedom's cause.

In Iraq Nasser's target is also the Baghdad political structure. His subversives work there like fiddler crabs busy at their minuscule business in the sand.

Iran stands beyond Iraq. It is nearly as large as all of our country east of the Mississippi. It has a Soviet border 1,000 miles long. The Trans-Iranian railroad has about 4,100 bridges and 54 miles of tunnels that mean easy crippling by an enemy.

Pro-American Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's recent first-time purchase of Soviet aircraft, military equipment, etc., was reportedly an appeasement gesture to the U.S.S.R. and Egypt alike — a product of a joint squeeze on the Shah.

Mafia is an island in the Zanzibar group off the African coast. It is a base for the Cairo electric eel's subversive through Tanganyika into the whole of East Africa and in support of the Congo insurrections.

Aden borders Yemen. The Red Sea is pinched tight at the bottom. Aden stands there on the Arabian peninsula, and this narrow gateway to the Western world is an immensely strategic bottleneck. For that reason the British have occupied Aden for 130 years.

The Arabs say when death removes a great sheik's protection from them "there is no more shade." Britain's scheduled 1968 withdrawal leaves Aden's tribal societies in a vacuum. Nasser's terrorist Liberation Front under Abdullah Asneg is giving the same support to a horrible undeclared war there that Nasser supplies openly with his 70,000 troops in fighting Yemen.

LAW OF THE TENT

In this part of the world where the sun was born, and which today is the source of 70 per cent of Europe's free world oil, Portuguese Admiral Alfonso de Albuerque, the conqueror of India, found and reported a law when he discovered Arabia It was, and remains throughout Arab regions, the Law of the Tent.

You must extend your home's hospitality to your enemy for three days. Then anything can happen if he has been foolish enough to deliver himself into your hands.

Aggressor Nasser has double-crossed us for 11 solid years. In 1964, after our taxpayers had handed him $1.2 billion, he told the United States to "go drink the Red Sea" about the time Indonesia's Sukarno was saying "to hell with your American aid."

Like fools, we ended our aid only temporarily and then resumed it to both of them. On last February 28 Nasser declared: "Those who want to collect (i.e., the U.S.) will have to run after us for the payments."

Absolutely nothing in Nasser's record, nothing in his policies, justifies our having given him a single nickel since 1964, if ever.

'Win-First' Attitude In T-Ball?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

"T-Ball," the game of 6 through 8-year-old boys, is again in the organization stage. Theoretically, the recreation department sends slips to all schools, children sign up and are assigned to teams. The excellent coaching of the recreation department then teaches these youngsters how to play the game and more important, good sportsmanship.

Perhaps it is only fair to tell the parents of these boys that the "championship" in some areas has practically been determined. The parental pride and "win first" theory has infiltrated to this level. Fathers are madly "signing up" the older, more experienced players and will submit these boys as a complete team to the recreation department. The "left-over" children are then divided into teams and T-Ball season begins!

Not fair? Call the recreation department and volunteer to help organize these teams fairly. Both men and women volunteers are needed desperately.

Wisconsin Report

Madison Lobbyists Grow in Numbers but Impact Isn't Alarming

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The man who is in charge of recording such matters has noted that the number of registered lobbyists at this stage of the Legislature's session is comparatively high and that the total before the session end may set a record of over 300. That may mean that there is more public interest in the affairs of the Legislature than its somewhat humdrum performance thus far has suggested. It may also reflect the increasing complevity of modern life, the steadily expanding role of government in the affairs of individuals and business, and the gradually growing population of the state and its expanding economic concerns.

Wyngaard

The image of 300 paid lobbyists at Madison, however, is somewhat deceptive. Actually there is not the horde of special interest agents crowding the halls of legislative wing that the license statistics may suggest. The Wisconsin law is unusually restrictive in the regulation and supervision of lobbying. Its essence is a requirement that anybody who makes representations to the Legislature for pay must register and get a license. But many of the license holders are casual to lobbyists at best, turning up sporadically. Many others are actually "civilians," but chose to register, take a license, and pay their $10 fee to be on the safe side of a broad construction of the applicability of the statutes.

WHO'S WHO 40 or 50

The professional lobbyist and the prototype in the endless discussions of the lobbying phenomenon in politics represents a smaller force in numbers that is probably supposed by the general public.

Perhaps there are 40 or 50, counting many of those who are primarily engaged as trade or professional association secretaries and who count lobbying as one of the principal responsibilities of their work. Many of those association spokesmen, however, tend to be chosen because of their knowledge of legislative machinery, their acquaintance with legislators and other politicians, and their experience in political life.

Among the professionals, many were recruited directly from the political system, for natural and evident reasons. They start with a considerable advantage over the amateur, such as the practicing lawyer who knows little about legislative psychology or technique and who perhaps does not possess the traits of personality that lobbying peculiarly requires. Thus the best known of the lobbying names represent men who drifted into the profession upon retirement from politics or were drawn into it because of superior rewards in pay and other considerations.

Their value to their employers, moreover, tends to be cumulative. The longer they stay, the better they are known. Everything else being equal, the lobbyist who is the most successful is the one whose personal contacts are the most abundant and reliable.

REGULATIONS ARE STRICT

For a number of reasons, lobbying has changed significantly from the free wheeling style of a couple of decades ago. There was a time when there was virtually no regulation or supervision of the activities of men professionally engaged in influencing legislation. As long as 20 years ago, the Legislature responding public concern imposed rules. Today they are perhaps as strict as can reasonably be required in a democratic system.

Public apprehension about the practice of lobbying obviously continues, however, and especially because there is a tendency to suspect, or to charge, that lobbying was responsible when a legislative decision is unpopular. The future may bring more exacting public supervision. But the rank and file citizen, many miles removed from the scene of legislative operations, meanwhile may derive some comfort from the realization that there is a system of checks and balances involved in this aspect of politics, as in others. So tightly organized is modern society that it is rare that one pressure represented by a lobby is not faced with counter-pressure directed by another.

Here's How to Tell Winner From Loser

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A winner knows what to forget and what to remember; a loser forgets what he should remember, and remembers what he should forget.

A winner seeks for the

goodness in a bad man, and works with that part of him; a loser looks only for the badness in a good man, and therefore finds it hard to work with anyone.

A winner admits his prejudices and tries to correct for them in making judgements: a loser denies his prejudices, and thus becomes their lifelong captive.

A winner is not afraid to contradict himself when faced with a contradictory situation; a loser is more concerned with being consistent than with being right.

A winner feels challenged when the odds are against him; a loser is always looking for "the edge."

A winner appreciates the irony of fate, and the fact that merit is not always rewarded, without becoming cynical; a loser is cynical without appreciating the irony of fate.

A winner possesses ideas; a loser is possessed by them, and so, even when successful, remains their slave.

A winner knows how to be serious without being solemn; a loser is often solemn as a substitute for his lack of capacity to be serious.

A winner looks it over; a loser looks it up.

A winner rebukes and forgives; a loser is too timid to rebuke and too petty to forgive.

A winner recognizes that the only true authority is moral authority; a loser, having little of this, tries to assume more external authority than his character can handle.

A winner tries to judge his own acts by their consequences, and other people's acts by their intentions; a loser gives himself all the best of it by judging his own acts by his intentions, and the acts of others by their consequences.

A winner feels that his past failures have contributed to his success; a loser feels that his past failures blocked his success.

A winner does what is necessary with good grace, saving his energy for situations where he has a choice; a loser does what is necessary under protest, and has no energy left for moral decisions.

A winner accepts the fact that, finally, no mortal can know who the real winners or losers are; a loser thinks that status and power and applause confer a kind of immortality upon him — and never wonders what the lesson of the crucifixion might be.

Neenah-Menasha Concert

Reviewer Spends Unhappy Hour With Kansas City Philharmonic

BY ROBERT BELOW
Of Lawrence University

The Neenah-Menasha Community Concert Association presented the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Hans Schwieger, Monday night in Menasha, as the final offering of this year's season.

Your reviewer regrets that it was not a happy evening because of a badly balanced program and soggy playing.

Two 45 minute symphonies, Tchaikovsky's Sixth and Brahms' Second, made up the entire program, except for an insignificant opening piece by Debussy. Brahms and Tchaikovsky are not identical, but these works are too similar in texture, instrumentation, rhythmic squareness, length, and even key, for inclusion on the same program.

And the implication that lengthy Romantic symphonies of the late 19th Century are the only important symphonic literature is an implication that needs refutation.

There is to much other fine music for a symphony orchestra to confine itself in this way. There are also many super hi-fi recordings of both pieces, and though we admire the works, and welcome live performances, we protest a concert of virtually nothing but an hour and a half of the same thing.

The performances were no justification, either. The Tchaikovsky was poorly done. Ensemble was ragged, balance sloppy, orchestral sounds lackluster, rhythm and intonation inaccurate, the whole leaden and ineffective. The perfunctory and unenthusiastic applause suggested that the audience was aware of it.

The Brahms Symphony fared better. At the beginning of the second movement, the players seemed to suddenly wake up and start listening to each other, and then began to make music for the first time all evening. Ensemble became accurate, sounds luminous and more buoyant, defects in balance disappeared — in short, the orchestra sounded like an orchestra. We could only wish it had happened earlier.

We suspect that the local concert association is not to blame for such an unbalanced program, but we hope that they can avoid future programs of this sort.

Lawrence Focal Point For Cultural Events In Fox River Valley

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Of Lawrence University

Lawrence University has been trying to lure the citizens of Appleton to listen to its speeches and its music ever since the first glass of water was set on the first speaker's stand on July 4, 1849, and the first piano hauled onto the campus several months later.

Last of a Series

In Appleton's pioneer days, the only fine arts in town were those celebrated on the Lawrence campus. With the passage of 120 years, Lawrence no longer holds a local monopoly on culture, but it still is a strong focal point for the area.

During 1966, for instance, 230 events held on the Lawrence campus were open to the public — 94 concerts, 18 theatrical productions, 36 film classics, 11 art shows and more than 60 lectures.

Dominates Valley Culture

This represents a majority of cultural events offered in the city. During the month of February, as a case in point, the Post-Crescent's Special Events calendar, which lists happenings in the whole Fox River Valley from Fond du Lac to Green Bay, carried a total of 90 items. Of these 90 events, 58 were located in Appleton. And of the 58 Appleton events, 41 were held on the Lawrence campus. This means that if you accept February, 1967, as a reasonably typical month, 70 per cent of the special events of a cultural nature held in Appleton were centered on the campus.

That may well be, but do the citizens of Appleton attend these events? Here are some figures. Of the 804 season tickets sold for the Lawrence Community Artist Series in 1966-67, 256 were bought by people not associated with the university community.

Of the 250 season tickets sold for the Lawrence Chamber Music Series, 90 were held by non-Lawrentians. This means that nearly 31 per cent of artist series audiences and 36 per cent of chamber music audiences were townspeople.

The same percentages of town participation hold up for other public events — about 30 per cent of audiences for faculty recitals, about 20 per cent for student programs; about 40 per cent of the season tickets in drama and about 35 per cent of audiences for film classics and athletic contests.

Internationally-Known

Internationally known names, obviously, draw the heaviest town attendance. Speakers such as Pearl Buck, Norman Thomas and Bishop James Pike; music groups such as the Cleveland, Netherlands and Moscow Orchestras; and various performers of popular music have evoked the greatest local support. It's not only adults that attend events at Lawrence — when the Pick-a-Pack Players performed in the Music-Drama Center, more than 10 per cent of Appleton's total grade school population attended the play.

The current season of Great Decisions discussions has attracted a total enrollment of 70 — a dozen staff and faculty, 22 local alumni and 35 other townspeople with no specific ties to Lawrence.

The founding of the Appleton Society of the American Institute of Archaeology within the last two years has graphically demonstrated the interest of townspeople in a campus project. The society's present membership is 30 townspeople, including one officer; 25 Lawrence faculty and 15 students. A fund raising auction in November drew major representation from Appleton, both in attendance and in bidding.

To furnish information on public events at Lawrence, the institution maintains a regular box office and mails a monthly calendar to 5,000 persons. Another 3,000 calendars are given counter distribution in libraries and places of business.

"Speaking Champion"

Lawrence people frequently go off the campus to furnish speakers and musicians for many programs of civic groups in the area. In the year past, faculty members gave more than 100 speeches, most of them near Appleton. The new local champion on the civic circuit is Dr. Francis L. Broderick, dean of Lawrence and Downer colleges, who has given 30 speeches in his first year on the campus. Dr. Broderick formerly was director of the Peace Corps in Ghana.

Lawrence's emphasis on music is felt in many of the city's churches, where more than 50 Lawrence undergraduates are members of choirs.

Fourteen churches in the Valley presently draw either their organists or assistant organists from undergraduates at the Lawrence Conservatory, among them the First Congregational Memorial Presbyterian, All Saints Episcopal, First Baptist, St. John's United Church of Christ, St. Joseph's Catholic, and First English, St. Paul's and Zion Lutheran churches, all in Appleton; the Kimberly and the Neenah Presbyterian Churches; St. Mary's of Menasha; Green Bay's Union Congregational; and the St. Norbert Abbey, DePere.

Choir Directors

In addition to these undergraduate organists, six faculty or staff members have held church positions in recent years as well. Two Lawrence students direct youth choirs in Appleton churches.

Nearly 200 Appleton area residents take music lessons at the Lawrence Conservatory, 175 children and the rest adult special students.

Lawrence's facilities are often used by civic and church groups for events of their own sponsorship. From September, 1965 to the same month in 1966, Lawrence was involved in rental contracts with 19 different local groups, some on a repeat basis. In addition, Appleton's community Attic Theater occupied the Music - Drama Center for three months during the summer; five summer church conferences also were housed on the campus.

26 Students Win Honors At Xavier

Twenty-six blue ribbons were awarded to Xavier High School students who participated in the fifth annual language fair Saturday and Sunday.

Excellent ratings in Latin II were given to Chris Ruppel, Debbie Streck, Mary Therese Ponschock, Barbara Gregorius; Judy Wolfe and Susan Bonner; Latin III, Susan Stilp, Many Van Bommel and Jean Van Handel; Latin IV, Mary Kamps, Lynn Gruentzel, Virginia Kirsling and Beth Witmer.

French I students with top ratings include Karen Kimball, Shirley Jollie, Sue Rougeau and Joan Wallace; French II, Suzette Hurst, Jennifer Garvey and Pat Bayer; French III, Gloria Much, Linda Karras and Lee Eggers; and French IV, Mary Rankin and Mary Frances Gillen.

Blue ribbons for German II went to Carol Weber and John Resch. A total of 67 red ribbons, a rating of very good, also were awarded.

More than 300 projects of Latin, German, French and Spanish students were entered, dealing with cultural topics and language translations in their fields.

Sister Joseph Paul and Sister Therese Ellen were co-chairmen for the event.

Seek Graduate School For Social Work Study

A plea for a local committee to gather information justifying the establishment of a graduate school of social work at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, was made by Dale G. Hardman, assistant professor of sociology, Monday noon.

Hardman addressed the Community Forum, consisting of representatives of Appleton and Outagamie County social service agencies.

He explained that a committee here would work under the jurisdiction of the Northeastern Association of Social Workers. He said that similar survey groups are being set up in 17 counties.

Need Justified

"We feel we have the need, and can place social workers in the northeastern area," Hardman said. He said that letters were sent to 133 agencies in the 17-county area, and responses from about 100 agencies indicated shortages of social workers ranging from one to 20 in individual agencies.

Hardman also justified the need by pointing out that out of 400 students now undergraduates in the department of sociology at Oshkosh, 300 are social welfare majors. "It is a shame they can't get their master's degree at the same school," he added.

Federal funds are loosening up for help for social work education, Hardman said. One grant would match support of undergraduate and graduate work on a 75 per cent federal, 25 per cent state level. This grant is available only through local departments of public assistance. Another federal bill would help in all areas of social work.

Set Standards

Hardman also explained why the Oshkosh school is asking the help of northeastern communities. He said the department of sociology feels the agencies should set the standards of education, and the school should then teach what is needed. "Too often in the past workers in the field have turned up new techniques, and 10 or 15 years later instructors at the universities have become aware of the changes," he said.

In other business Mrs. Kyle Ward Jr. reported on the United Community Services planning and research committee's investigation into problems of the aged, and on the organization of Citizens Alcoholism Services.

Arthur Malin, UCS executive director, urged the agency members to be aware of the development toward the formation of a wide-area United Fund.

Greenville Voters Approve $57,000 Town Hall-Fire Station Construction

Freedom Electors Set Aside $10,000 to Buy Park Site

Final plans will be completed soon and bids will be let for construction of a new, $57,000 Greenville Town Hall and fire station.

Greenville voters approved the building program by a 106-22 margin Tuesday. However, the second part of the vote showed 107 ballots for the combination building and 18 for only a town hall.

Voice vote approval was won for purchasing 2 1-3 acres of land adjoining 7 acres of town owned land on State 76 in Greenville. The new town building would be constructed on the land.

$5,000 for Land

The town has an option on the property, owned by Ethan Bosin. There reportedly is a $5,000 price tag on the land.

Tentative plans call for a building complex of about 5,000 square feet. Construction is expected to start early this summer. The town now has an old town hall and no fire equipment or station. However, plans are to eventually purchase fire equipment and start town fire protection service.

The town hall — fire station building proposal drew a larger than normal voter turnout, according to town officials.

There were town office races for supervisors and clerk. A three-way contest for one town clerk post found James Wunderlich emerging with 219 votes, compared with Kenneth Neumann's 189 and Cornelius Ebben's 127. Wunderlich replaces Jerry Schoeffler who did not run. Clarence Reimer was elected, unopposed, to the 2nd supervisor post, with 503 votes.

Incumbent Clerk John R. Woods won over Eugene Tellock 365 votes to 163. Re-elected without opposition were Chairman Rudolph Spreeman, Treasurer Ed Kelly, Assessor Carlyle Manley, and Constable Louis Rudloff.

Freedom

Town of Freedom electors Tuesday voted to include $10,000 in the budget for purchase of 28 acres of property on State 55 just north of Freedom for development of a park.

The budget totaled $119,300 and represents an increase of about $16,000 over last year's budget. An additional $10,000 was added to the highway budget raising the figure from $50,000 to $60,000.

The park will be named the VFW Memorial Park and is scheduled for development over a period of years. Clerk Joseph E. Rickert said the Freedom VFW formerly had an option on the property and asked the town to buy it for a park site.

In town elections, first-time challenger Willard VanHandel topped four other candidates for the treasurer's post. VanHandel received 232 votes. Incumbent Mrs. Betty Schuh had 189; Edward Vandenberg, 113; Mrs. Shirley Guerts, 40; and Ervin VanBoxtel, 29.

Both supervisory posts were contested and incumbents were re-elected. Ray Romenesko outpolled Myron Arnoldussen, 329 to 247, and Nicholas Guerts topped James Nelessen, 377 to 194.

Other incumbents re-elected were chairman George Schroeder, clerk Joseph E. Rickert, assessor Clyde Weyenberg, and constable Carl N. Greiner who topped Mark DeCoster, 492 to 86.

Other action at the annual meeting included approval of a $200 annual salary raise for the clerk and an increase from $1.40 an hour to $1.75 an hour for town laborers.

Also approved was an increase from $60 to $70 in the price paid per section for fire protection. There are 36 sections in the town.

Rickert reported 609 voters turned out for the election.

Bovina

The Town of Bovina will begin a program to blacktop all town roads as a result of the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon. An increase of $13 per $1,000 of assessed value will be shown on this year's taxes for roadwork. The increase was the same last year and will increase town tax revenue by approximately $18,000, according to Clerk Milan Ratsch.

Incumbents elected without opposition to town offices were Ralph Gehring, chairman; Merlin Knorr, first supervisor; Eugene Conradt, second supervisor; Milan Ratsch, clerk and treasurer; Lawrence Beckman, assessor and constable, and Willis Andrews, municipal justice.

The town also will investigate the possibility of joining fund drives into a united fund. Voter turnout was about 30 per cent of the average number of voters for a general election, the clerk said.

Buchanan

Salary increases for Town of Buchanan officers were approved at the annual meeting. Annual salary for the chairman and clerk were increased from $840 to $1,000 a year while supervisors, the treasurer and assessor were voted $100 a year pay raises.

Other decisions at the meeting included approval of the installation of rest rooms in the town hall and approval of a move to hire Outagamie County crews for plowing snow from all town roads.

An auxiliary pump, of undetermined cost, will be put on the town fire department water truck.

All candidates elected were incumbents with the exception of Ewald Ring Jr. who won his first bid for assessor.

Officers re-elected are Joseph DeBruin, chairman; Richard Killian, first supervisor; Harry VanRoy, second supervisor; Clarence Windrow, clerk; Cyril Klister, treasurer, and Virgil Wollenberg, constable. Wollenberg defeated John Wellhouse Jr. and Tom Van Elzen for the post.

DeBruin said the turnout of 399 was higher than usual. There are approximately 700 eligible voters in the town.

Center

A new garage to house the Town of Center grader and truck will be built for approximately $15,000 at Center Valley, about 1½ miles west of Twelve Corners. The town hall and fire station is located there and the town already owns the future garage site property.

Preliminary plans say the garage will be 50 by 60 feet and final determination of the construction will be left to the town board. At the annual meeting, electors turned down a bid to put in a new road from County Trunk S to Rock Road, about a mile on the west town line.

None of the town elections were contested. The only newcomer was Francis Butler, elected treasurer after incumbent Donald Devine didn't run. Incumbents re-elected were Orville Jensen, chairman; Elmer Rabe and Harvey Mueller, supervisors; Walter Techlin, clerk; John Bast, assessor; and Reginald Brockman, constable.

The clerk said 258 voters of approximately 600 eligible voters went to the polls in one of the heaviest spring election turnouts ever.

Cicero

Vernon Tubbs was elected to the town treasurer post vacated by Darrell Hahn and all other incumbents were returned to office at the annual town meeting.

Re-elected are Chris Roepcke, chairman; Raymond Wagner, 1st supervisor; Arthur Miller, 2nd supervisor; Sanford Barth, clek; Vernal Thomas, assessor; and Alex Hooyman, constable.

In other action, Cicero voted a $136,000 tax levy, about the same as last year, and also authorized the town board to purchase a new fire truck, in conjunction with neighboring towns, for the eastern portion of town.

Dale

The Town of Dale will blacktop 2½ miles of road in the coming year, including a half mile each on Short, Hemlock and Coon Roads, and a mile of Lonely Road.

In other action at the annual town meeting Tuesday, voters approved:

Putting the old 1937 Dodge Fire truck up for sale (the town is putting a new fire truck into service); leaving the dump grounds open continuously; appropriating $1,000 for the recreation department; and charging a $50 fee for wrecking yard permits. There was no fee policy on wrecking yards in the past.

Re-elected to town offices without opposition were Chairman Stanley Perkins, supervisors Emil Selle and Albert Bruns, and clerk David Zehner. Ray Malliet polled 130 votes in winning over Marie Nelson and John Much Jr., for town treasurer, while Alvin Huebner polled 200 votes in winning re-election as assessor over Rodney Armitage who counted 75 votes. Constable is Gordon Much.

Deer Creek

Town voters Tuesday decided to switch the town's governmental headquarters from the town hall on County Trunk FF to the Meadow Grove School at the intersection of County Trunks F and XX. The site will be bought for $600. Voters favored the move 116 to 30 in a referendum vote.

At the town meeting, salary increases for town officers were approved. The hikes will be $10 a meeting for the board members and treasurer. The assessor's annual salary was raised from $450 to $550 and the treasurer's annual rate was increased from $250 to $350. Officers formerly received $7.50 a meeting.

The only contested election was between incumbent 1st supervisor Clifford Flanagan who polled 94 votes to challenger Urban Radtke's 63. Re-elected were Leonard Hoffman, chairman; Chester Heiman, 2nd supervisor; J. W. Schoenike, clerk; Irvind Neilson, treasurer; Norman Conradt, assessor, and Albert Loose, constable.

The voter turnout was average for similar elections, Schoenike reported, as 155 voters went to the polls.

Ellington

The only official to encounter opposition in the town election, 2nd supervisor Carl Brandt, was re-elected to the post, defeating William Weyers. Brandt tallied 231 votes, while Weyers recorded 147.

Incumbents re-elected without opposition were Emmett Root, chairman; Robert Schroth, 1st supervisor; Helen Hoyer, treasurer; Robert Prunty, assessor; Lester Giesen, municipal justice; and Edward Tremmel, constable.

At the town meeting, improvement of a one-mile stretch of roadway on the town line was approved, but must await a decision by the Town of Center for its portion of the project before final action can be taken.

Residents also voted to hike highway maintenance crew pay from $1.25 to $1.50 per hour.

Hortonia

Gerhard Ruhsam won re-election as Hortonia town chairman by a 2-1 margin Tuesday over Vernon Baehman, and both incumbent town supervisors were victorious.

Ruhsam polled 139 votes to 64 for Baehman. Lorenz Morack registered a 117-79 victory over Clarence Frye for 1st supervisor post, while Herbert Lathrop was re-elected over David McNichols by a 138-63 count for 2nd supervisor.

Greenville Voters Approve New Fire House-Town Hall

Re-elected without opposition were Clerk Myrtle Sambs, treasurer Clara Baehman, assessor Edgar Lathrop, and constable Lambert Kramer.

The town clerk said the voter turnout was "large for this type of election." About 50 persons attended the town meeting Tuesday. The meeting saw only routine business conducted, it was learned.

Liberty

Except for one supervisor and constable, the Town of Liberty has the same officers for another year.

More significant than the town election was the voter decision at the town meeting to blacktop two miles of Town Hall and Alcan roads, at a total cost of about $9,000. Voters also raised the town clerk salary from $470 to $600.

The new supervisor is Luther Krake, who, with 74 votes, replaced Vernon Conradt who did not seek re-election. Kenneth Genske polled 38 write-in votes. In the second supervisory race, Lawrence Thern was re-elected over Eugene Morack by a 71-33 count.

Norbert Krake is the new constable, replacing David Wochinski, who did not seek the post. Krake polled 67 votes to 52 for Charles Thieme. Re-elected without opposition were Clerk Harold Beresford, 119; Treasurer Alfred Krause, 119; Assessor Edwin A. Krause, 115, and Chairman Walter Laedtke, 114.

Maine

All incumbents were returned to their posts without opposition. Re-elected were Cecil Carpenter, chairman; Alvin Mielke, 1st supervisor; Alvin Carpenter, 2nd supervisor; George Gomm, clerk; Tessie McAuly, treasurer; George Olson, assessor; and Glen Plannert, constable.

At the annual meeting the electors voted to maintain the $4 per $1,000 tax rate for roadwork and discussed the possibility of procuring a cemetery vault for winter.

Maple Creek

Carl Janke, who ran unopposed, is the new chairman of the Town of Maple Creek, replacing Walter Kilian, who did not seek re-election.

Janke, who was a town supervisor, polled 111 votes. He was replaced as 1st supervisor by Edwin Knapp who counted 79 votes to 40 for Richard Huntley. The 2nd supervisor is Roy Hilker who ran unopposed. Other town officers re-elected without opposition were Clerk Noah Bennetts, treasurer Henry Breiting and Assessor Alfred Korth, 110.

Maple Creek's voter turnout was about half that of the last county board election.

At the town meeting Tuesday, a 25 cents per hour raise — to $1.50 an hour — was approved for town employes.

Oneida

Norman Austin, veteran Town of Oneida chairman, easily won re-election Tuesday by defeating John VandenEng, 450 votes to 185.

Elected supervisors were Albert Vandenheuvel, 404, over Edmund Pasowicz, 199, and Peter J. Gerrits, 495, who was unopposed.

Incumbent Clerk Richard A. Peterson defeated Theodore Van Schyndel, 330 to 280, while incumbent treasurer Janet VandenEng had 365 votes to 254 for Peter J. Ver Vort. Assessor Arnold C. Hansen was unopposed. Constable Robert C. Schuyler was defeated by Francis J. Coonen, 442-165.

During the town meeting, held Tuesday morning, town voters adopted a $100,000 budget, principally for town roads.

Osborn

Chairman Edward Peotter Sr. was re-elected to his 11th consecutive term. He was unopposed. Other incumbents also elected without opposition were Clarence Freund and Harvey Doersch, supervisors; Alice Klitzke, clerk; Reuben Mielke, treasurer; Orray Rohm, assessor; and Reuben Blohm, constable.

Electors voted at the annual meeting to continue leaving town administration up to the town board.

Vandenbroek

Unopposed clerk Edward Bankert was the top vote getter in the Town of Vandenbroek with 288 votes.

Other town officers who won uncontested elections were chairman George Kroes, and assessor Henry VanderLoop.

Owen Hietpas, 195 votes, and John Ebben, 168 were elected supervisors. Simon VandenHeuvel, who had 167, missed ending up in a tie by one vote.

Elected treasurer, succeeding John Schumacher, was Ben Verbeten who defeated Matt Diedrick, 164-150. Constable Leo Hendricks outpolled James Calmes, 165-105.

The town meeting was scheduled to be held today.

Town of Black Creek

An incumbent supervisor retained his post by a single vote and the other incumbent for supervisor was beaten by a coin flip in his bid for re-election.

Incumbent Erwin Stingle polled 96 votes, while his opponent for 1st supervisor, John Kluge, recorded 95. Incumbent 2nd supervisor Herbert Fuhrmann and his opponent Gerhardt Nachtway each tallied 94 votes, but Nachtway came up with the right call on the coin flip.

Town chairman Alvin M. Sasman retained his post, defeating Clovde E. Smith, 105-85, and incumbent Ervin Rueden was re-elected town treasurer by a 150-41 margin over Muriel Holz.

Re-elected without opposition are Anthony P. Weyers, clerk; John Murphy, assessor, and Steve Mullen, constable.

At the town meeting, residents expressed concern with dumping regulations and urged policing of the area to see that only town taxpayers are using it and in a proper manner.

Town of Kaukauna

Two miles of Farrel Road will be widened and graded and two bridges will be installed, electors decided at the annual meeting for the Town of Kaukauna.

No estimate of the roadwork price was available. The Farrel Road improvement project will be between County Trunk JJ and Griener Road.

In the town elections, five-year incumbent clerk Fred Geurts, was upset in his bid for re-election by Gordon Newhouse, 128-115. Incumbent supervisors James Dake and Lloyd VanderHeiden topped challenger Urban Nelessen, receiving 130, 125 and 100 votes respectively.

Other incumbents re-elected were Floyd VanVreede, chairman; Eugene Haessly, treasurer; Richard VanderHeiden, assessor; and Ed Kieffer, constable.

A total of 243 voters went to the polls, representing about two thirds the number eligible.

Town of Seymour

Officers of the Town of Seymour will get salary increases this year. The clerk, assessor and treasurer will receive $100 a year more than they did before. The chairman and supervisors received a $50 a year increase.

The town election was routine. All incumbents were re-elected and the only contested post was for second supervisor where Elzer Viese topped challenger Ludwig Schroeder, 106 to 76. Other officers are Norman Helms, chairman; Elmer Ullmer, first supervisor; Alvin Wendt, clerk; Ray C. Mueller, assessor, and Albert Schmit, constable.

The voter turnout of 194 was about average, Wendt reported.

Youth Fined After Forging License To Obtain Liquor

A 19-year-old Lawrence University student who forged his driver's license to obtain liquor, was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail Tuesday afternoon in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Frederick D. Bartlett, Milwaukee, was arrested following investigation by Appleton detectives who said he changed the year of birth on his driver's license to show that he was 21. He was caught when he tried to pass the forged license in Mr. Roberts Bar Sunday night.

In addition to the fine, County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered Bartlett's driver's license suspended for six months.

Rout 6-Year President In Hortonville Election

Paul Steinert Outpolls Incumbent Warner By 4-1 Margin; Schneider Is New Trustee

HORTONVILLE — Six-year village president Ray M. Warner was routed Tuesday in his bid for re-election to a fourth two-year term.

Paul Steinert, an employe of Fox Valley Canning Co., outpolled Warner by more than a four-to-one ratio, 378 votes to 93. Steinert's victory came in his first try for the office.

Clerk Roger F. Coenen was re-elected by capturing 295 votes to 178 for Gene Retzlaff.

Three trustees, two of them incumbents, won re-election. The incumbents are Vincent Olk, 374 votes, and Ray Richards, 262. The third trustee elected was Robert Schneider, with 348 votes. Defeated were Joseph Keller, 158, and Edward T. Treiber, 150.

The third incumbent trustee, Milton Fannin, did not seek re-election.

Kenneth Buchman, who was unopposed, won election to the treasurer's job with 436 votes. Veteran treasurer Paul Kruehl was not a candidate.

Two other office-holders won re-election — assessor George Bellile, who defeated Richard Haase 278 to 198, and justice John Renard, who defeated Richard Hansen 315 to 152.

Survey Planned For Sherwood Incorporation

Engineering Firm To Make Initial Boundary Study

SHERWOOD — The engineering firm of Foth and Porath, Green Bay, has been selected by the five-man citizen committee, to make the preliminary survey for incorporation of Sherwood as a village.

Donohue Associates, Inc., Sheboygan, were selected alternates from a field of six engineering firms interviewed by the committee during the past few weeks.

The citizen committee was chosen at the Feb. 9 informational meeting, when residents decided to take steps to incorporate. More than $900 in contributions for engineering fees were collected from homeowners here.

Attorney Selected

Victor Miller, St. Nazianz, who has had experience in incorporating several villages in Manitowoc County, was chosen attorney for the project.

Miller will now make arrangements with Foth and Porath, to send an engineer here to investigate the area with the committee and set boundaries.

A petition with signatures of 50 property owners living in the village is required before a petition can be made to the Circuit Court for action.

Incorporation advantages were investigated when progressive-minded residents noted the area, only 15 minutes drive from the Fox Cities, and bordering High Cliff State Park, was not advancing.

Lack of Facilities

Lack of municipal water and sewage treatment facilities is the prime factor in ts standstill, residents claim.

Sewage treatment facilities have been urged several times by the State Board of Health, and Oscar Eggers, Fond du Lac, a member of that department, pointed out the health hazard of the visible effluent in the residential area at the public meeting.

Almost emergency water conditions exist here with shallow wells dry and residents forced to use commercial laundry facilities in nearby communities.

Homegeneous Area

Residents believe the area is homogeneous and contains the social and economic activities such as churches, schools, stores, post office, telephone exchange and sufficient tax base with no competing interest in the same territory from another incorporated community.

If the village, with more than 350 residents, incorporates it will be the third in Calumet County. Hilbert and Stockbridge also are incorporated.

The citizens committee for incorporation is composed of H. F. Augustine, David Huhn, Leslie Stumpf, Gerald Michiels and Florian Schmidt.

Knowles Urges Speedy Action On Kellett Bill

Department of Resource Development, and the State Department of Health, which fears merger with the State Welfare Department.

Knowles proposed the creation of a health advisory council that would work within the merged health-welfare agency, to pacify the complaints of health officials.

Chance for Review

He also proposed that the conservation commission, within the merged department of natural resources, remain semi-autonomous during the next two years, and merge fully on July 1, 1969. That would give the next legislature a chance to review the union, he explained, and make adjustments if that seems necessary and wise at that time. Under that plan, the present conservation commission would be reduced to an advisory capacity within the fused department, in 1969.

When fully operative, the consolidated department of natural resources would be directed by a nine-man board, including two members of the conservation commission, which would pick an executive secretary who would be the chief administrative officer for the first integrated natural resources protection program in Wisconsin. The advisory board of the present Department of Resource Development would remain as an advisory body, of rank similar to the conservation commission. The resource agency would be run by a director, who presumably would be Freeman Holmer, its present chief. Similarly, the conservation department would have a director, who presumably would be its present chief officer, Lester P. Voigt.

Part of Department

The Natural Resources Committee of State Agencies, a tool for collaboration of other state agencies on natural resource problems, also would be a part of the merged department for administrative purposes.

Knowles recognized that the protests of the conservation commission — which is now under legislative investigation for allegedly improper lobbying efforts against the Kellett plan — represent the greatest hazards to legislative approval of reorganization.

But he insisted that a unified conservation administration is essential.

"We have failed in the area of total conservation planning," he said, "because the agencies involved have had splintered responsibility."

At a press briefing Tuesday night, Knowles declined to forecast the legislative voting reaction to the Kellett plan.

Appeals to Pride

But in his speech today he appeared to appeal to the Legislature's pride and to its constitutional responsibility and power over the administrative agencies that are its creations, and to which it has delegated scores of law-making powers that inherently repose in the legislative branch.

"This reorganization proposal represents a golden opportunity for the Legislature to assert its positive role as the policy-making unit of government," he said. "You of the Legislature, and not agency personnel, have the responsibility for assuring good management of the administrative branches of government."

The governor also appeared anxious to disown the idea that reorganization is a Republican plan. He excitedly recited Democratic campaign proposals for such legislation, as well as Republican, and named prominent Democrats among those who sat on the Kellett committee and voted for its report.

but "people were hanging out of all the windows."

University Provost Dale R. Corson said the two-story, brick building, on the edge of the city, housed 70 persons, many of them members of the freshmen class of a six-year experimental course for top-flight students seeking doctorates. They and faculty advisers slept on the first floor and in the basement. Graduate and senior women lived on the top floor.

The cause of the fire was not determined. Firemen said it apparently broke out in the basement.

About 100 firemen fought the flames, discovered shortly after 4 a.m.

The building, known as the Cornell Heights Residential Club, is in the village of Cayuga Heights, bordering this central New York city.

Hansen Defeats Currie In Supreme Court Race

Hansen said. "I think it is not in the traditions of our country . . . I would say it destroys the right of review and appeal, if the court makes the order."

Two matters which observers once thought might figure in the campaign went unmentioned by either of the candidates — Currie's age, and Hansen's position in the Fraternal Order of Eagles' civil rights dispute.

Milwaukee action groups demonstrated for weeks last summer against the "white-only" membership requirement of the Eagles, of which Hansen is a former national president. He firmly defended the group's constitutional right to maintain the clause, but has been a leader in the faction seeking — so far unsuccessfully — to delete it.

No Political Affiliation

Both men are Protestants, married and Masons; Hansen has four children, Currie two. Neither has any political affiliations, and the election, as are all Wisconsin judicial contests, was non-partisan.

Hansen, in addition to his professional activities, has been an international vice president of CARE, a member of the Presidential Commission studying the problems of refugees in South Vietnam and a member of the President's Committee for employment of the handicapped.

Except for Hansen's discussion of contemporary law, current decisions were not brought into the campaign. Currie, as Chief Justice, cast the deciding ballot last year as the Supreme Court reversed Milwaukee Circuit Judge Elmer Roller's decision which had held that baseball violated Wisconsin's anti-trust laws by moving the Milwaukee Braves to Atlanta.

The court's 4-3 decision found that the state could not enforce its "Little Sherman" act against the monopoly of baseball, and the United States Supreme Court refused to review that finding.

Taxless Sale of Oleo Approved

naro, D-Kenosha, opposed the levying of any tax on the product which now bears a levy of 15 cents a pound

"I don't think we should break precedent by starting a sales tax that goes far beyond 3 per cent," he said.

The tax was deleted on the motion of Sen. Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland.

Martin told Molinaro that "we all know the only way to get a colored oleomargarine bill through that repeals the ban is to provide a tax, at least initially.

"This bill is to me just a step toward allowing our citizens to use colored margarine. The political realities of this particular problem dictate that we must have a tax to get this bill through," Martin said.

Assemblyman Byron Wackett, R-Watertown, committee co-chairman insisted a tax be left on oleomargarine for a period to allow the department of agriculture to provide quality controls during the early years of production in Wisconsin.

Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, also a co-chairman, backed the tax proposal, saying it was dictated by political realism.

"There is something that is almost sacred here in the state of Wisconsin — and that's butter."

Daughter's Tax Error Found by Father in IRS

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Patricia Stumpf filed a complaint with the Internal Revenue Service and her letter wound up in the hands of her father, district director of the IRS.

Miss Stumpf's letter said a $78 refund check she expected after filing her income tax report had not been received.

"A review of Patricia's return," her father replied, revealed that she made a common error by making an entry in the wrong line. The long delay would have been avoided if she had checked the return before mailing."

Further, Stumpf said, the IRS corrected the error and found that his daughter would receive a refund of $94 instead of the $78 she demanded.

Flooding Puts Counties on Disaster List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Small Business Administration has declared six western Wisconsin counties disaster areas as communities along the Mississippi River and its tributaries continue the battle against flooding.

The counties of Chippewa, Eau Claire, Pepin, Buffalo, Dunn and Trempealeau were listed as disaster areas, which will enable flood victims to apply for long term, low income federal loans.

Four other counties — La Crosse, Vernon, Crawford and Grant—are expected to have considerable flood damage as the Mississippi and Wisconsin rivers and other streams continue to rise.

The level of the Mississippi River reached 13.1 feet Tuesday at La Crosse where flood stage is 12 feet. The water is expected to crest at 15.5 feet on Saturday.

An estimated 300 families have been evacuated from La Crosse in anticipation of a near repeat of the record floods of 1965 when an estimated $80 million worth of damage was caused by the floods.

At Prairie du Chien's St. Ferriole Island, about 100 families were evacuated as flood waters spilled onto the inland.

The river at Prairie du Chien, with a flood stage of 18 feet, rose to 14.1 feet Tuesday and is due to crest at 22.5 feet next Monday.

The 1965 floods caused $2.6 million damage at Prairie du Chien. About 15 families are expected to be evacuated there before the crest arrives.

13 Teen-Agers Die as Boat Capsizes on Nile

passed in the same election was 1908 when the income tax was written into the state constitution. The most recent time that many were approved was in 1961 when voters passed four and rejected two, including the sheriff's amendment.

Split Parties

The decision to pick the governor and lieutenant governor as a team came after voters split the top offices between the two major parties in 1960, 1962 and 1964. Once, in 1943, a governor-elect who died before taking office was replaced by a lieutenant governor of a different party.

Voters approved the team election 477,773 to 289,290.

The 1970 date was chosen for the start of the elections every four years to keep state races free of the presence of a presidential campaign that might sway the outcome.

The four-year terms were granted to governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general — each of the five constitutional officers chosen in partisan balloting.

One Question

The governor and lieutenant governor's terms were linked in one question to avoid any complication caused by the other referendum on joint election. The amendment was adopted 502,876 to 288,352 and led the ticket in both total votes and percentage.

Each of the other offices faced the voters individually.

A four-year term for secretary of state, the race in which Republican incumbent Robert Zimmerman habitually leads the state ticket, was approved 489,934 to 290,898.

A similar term for state treasurer was written into the constitution 477,198 to 292,983.

The change was granted for the attorney general 486,839 to 288,786.

The four-year terms and joint election were approved in their first trip to the polls in amendment form. The team election is a relatively new concept at state level, first approved in New York in 1954

Beaten Before

By contrast, the sheriff's amendment had been rejected in 1922, 1946, 1956, and 1961, the last time by a total of 105,000 votes.

This time it was adopted overwhelmingly, 479,415 to 302,894.

Sheriffs, who serve two-year terms, had historically skirted the constitutional ban by running their wives for office every third election. Last year eight bacon-and-badge teams were on the November ballot.

The judges' amendment, approved 460,689 to 306,806, permits the legislature to raise, or possibly lower, all circuit judges' and Supreme Court justices' salaries at the same time. Previously they weren't eligible for a pay increase in the midst of a term, forcing justices to wait up to 10 years to get raises.

Dean Plans to Wed Ex-Coed Of St. Norbert

to wait for a decision from Rome before definite marriage plans are made, Father De Leers said:

"We have agreed not to make any definite plans until we determine what the official action of the church will be."

In his statement announcing his intent Tuesday, Father De Leers emphasized that "I have begun the process of laicization in order to marry within the church as soon as I am free to do so." He said he could not specify his future residence or marriage plans "since they are, obviously, contingent on job opportunities and the canonical process, respectively."

Miss Best is visiting in Green Bay but is unavailable for comment, he said.

Father De Leers has been St. Norbert dean for 10 years and a member of the Norbertine Order for approximately 25 years. He said he had made his decision last September to leave the Norbertine and to seek a return to lay status.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 5, the 95th day of 1967. There are 270 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1614, Pocahantas, the daughter of an Indian chief, and English colonist John Rolfe were married in Virginia.

On this date:

In 1915, Jess Willard knocked out Jack Johnson in a 26-round heavyweight championship fight in Havana, Cuba.

In 1933, the government ordered the return of gold coin, bullion and certificates to the Federal Reserve banks.

In 1942, Japanese forces broke through Gen. Jonathan Wainwright's lines on Bataan peninsula.

In 1943, a fleet of U.S. bombers attacked targets in the Aleutian Island chain.

Ten years ago—West German Chancellor Adenauer said a British decision to rely on atomic weapons for defense had reconciled his government to the need for tactical atomic equipment for West Germany's armed forces.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy sent a transportation message to Congress, asking for a reduction of the federal role in intercity transportation and an enlargement of the government's role in urban transportation.

One year ago—Tear gas was used for the second day to disperse demonstrators at a Mississippi college for Negroes. The students involved in the demonstrations said their protests were aimed at campus conditions.

State Timber Inventory To Include Study of Wood Using Industries

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Another statewide timber inventory in Wisconsin is underway.

The Conservation Department says the field work will require about two years to finish, and it has been started with a survey of wood-using industries in the southern half of the state about their prospective raw material demands in the future. Northern mills will be surveyed next year.

The purpose of the study is to establish the wood crop the state needs to sustain its wood-using economy, and to measure the prospective demand against available and prospective supply.

Stepping Out of his now more familiar role of dean of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, musician-composer of LaVahn K. Maesch rehearses for his Sunday afternoon organ concert in Memorial Chapel. Recital time is 4:30 p.m. Maesch's program features one of his own compositions and a work by composer Daniel Pinkham.

Dean of Conservatory To Give Organ Recital

LaVahn Maesch to Play Own Composition On Sunday Afternoon Program at Chapel

LaVahn Maesch, dean of the conservatory of music at Lawrence University, will play an organ recital at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Apr. 9, at Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

Maesch, who holds the Charles S. Farrar-Laura Norcross Marrs professorship in fine arts, is a 1926 graduate of Lawrence, and a former organ student of Harold Gleason and Marcel Dupre.

Maesch's program features his own composition, "Toccata on Donne Secours," the setting of a 1551 Genevan Psalter hymn tune; and "Concertante for Organ, Celesta and Percussion," by American composer Daniel Pinkham.

Assisting with the Pinkham score will be Lawrence student percussionists Constance Magistrelli, Cambridge, Mass.; Kathleen McCullough, Mundelein, Ill.; and Sarah Swanson, Stevens Point.

Studied at Eastman, Mich.

Maesch, who has been head of the conservatory since 1954, was named dean in 1965. He received a master of music degree at the Eastman School of music, and attended the University of Michigan.

He is a former president of the Music Teachers National Association (MINA), and is a vice president of the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM).

Named 'Man of Music'

In 1960 he was named 'Man of Music" by the University of Wisconsin, and in the same year was given the Lawrence Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Award.

His recent recitals have been given at Duke University, Durham, N.C., Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, Milwaukee, and St. Norbert Abbey, DePere. In May, 1966, he played the dedicatory recital on Lawrence's new $100,000 Samuel Plantz Memorial Organ, the instrument to be used on Sunday's program.

Maesch's "Toccata," the closing work on his recital, is set to the tune treated by Samuel Johson in his hymn - verse, "Father, in thy mysterious presence kneeling."

The Pinkham organ-percussion score treats the organ itself as a percussive instrument. Its structure is sparse, lyrical and refined. The composer is one of this country's most versatile musicians, a former student of Walter Piston, Aaron Copland, Arthur Honegger and Samuel Barber. The "Concertante" was written at the commission of the American Guild of Organists.

Other Works

Other works on Maesch's program are "Chaconne," by Louis Couperin; "Elevation" (Tierce en Taille), by Francois Couperin; "Les Cloches," by Nicholas le Begue; Prelude and Fugue in E minor, by Nikolaus Bruhns; Concerto No. 5 in C minor, by Telemann; "Improvisation" on the Agincourt Hymn, by Myron Roberts; and a prelude for Yom Kippur, "Open Thou the Gates of Heaven," by Herman Berlinski.

Madison Students To Give Play at Fox Valley Center

The German drama, "Woyzeck," to be presented at the University of Wisconsin - Fox Valley Center at 8:15 p.m. Friday, will be the only staging of the play in northeastern Wisconsin.

Georg Buechner's play will be performed in German by students from the Madison campus German department, and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Buechner's 23-scene, experimental drama has influenced the German theater for more than 100 years. Its central character, Woyzeck, is a simple soldier - barber who is imprisoned by his instincts and vision. Deeply in love with Marie, Woyzeck is driven to murder her when she betrays him for a drum major. When he attempts to hide the murder knife in a pond, Woyzeck drowns.

Comedy on Caesar-Coca Special

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8:30 Channels 2-7-12 — "Seems like old times" could be the theme of The Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris Special, subtitled Son of Show of Shows. For all Caesar fans, this is a very special night. The program opens up with the typical buffoonery the master is so noted for and carries on with spoofs on the opera, travel and Virginia Woolf. Perhaps the most original part of the show comes with The Haircuts, whose manes now reach their waists. Their song is marvelously typical of some elements of our teen society: "If I had a wedding ring I'd slip it right on my finger, and then get married to me." Another happy though lightly touted return is the fine Billy Williams quartet.

6:30-7 Channels 11-6-9 — Real Batfans will recognize this episode as the very first Batman show to appear on television. The Caped Crusader tries to break the villanous screwball rhymes of The Riddler (Frank Gorshin) and his frisky moll (Jill St. John).

6:30-7:30 Channels 2-7-12 — Shades of Lilliputia, a dozing Dr. Smith awakens to find himself a captive of an Army of little mechanical men on Lost in Space. The rather obnoxious little fellows have spotted the Robinson's Robot and immediately take him to be the giant savior of their race.

6:30-8 Channel 5 — Myrna Loy guests on The Virginian and to say she turns in a surprisingly effective performance might be unfair to this talented star. But indeed that is the case here for one does not expect this lady, a symbol of charming cool sophistication, to provide a portrait of scheming violent insanity.

8-9 Channels 4-5 — Another excellent contribution to tonight's TV fare is The Bob Hope Chrysler Theatre which features Patrick O'Neal, Donnelly Rhodes, Tony Bill and Lynn Loring in "Dead Wrong." It's the story of a parolee who can't resist stopping to buy a bottle of liquor from the man who was responsible for his prison term.

8-10 Channels 11-6-9 — Dean Martin and Susan Hayward are perfectly type cast for "Ada," on Wednesday Night at the Movies. She is an ambitious young lady, born on the wrong side of the tracks, who is using her beauty and brains to gain political power. Her husband is an easy-going guitar-strumming gubernatorial candidate whose only political savvy is his charm.

9-10 Channels 4-5 — An NBC News Inquiry: Crossroads in Space is a definitive and hard-hitting look at the immensely complex operations of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Vice President Humphrey is a guest, explaining the aims and goals of NASA. But the more worthy parts of the program are those dealing with heretofore unspoken complications within the agency. Duplication, extravagance, political motivations and prestige projects are all defined.

Paul Winter Ensemble

Jazz Concert Friday At St. Norbert College

The first instrumental group ever to play a jazz concert in the White House will be heard at St. Norbert College when the Paul Winter Ensemble performs in the Hall of Fine Arts Friday night.

Tickets for the 8:15 p.m. performance are on sale at the St. Norbert music department and Newman's Store in Green Bay.

Started as College Group

Comprised of alto sax, classical guitar, flute, bass and drums, the Winter group has been named by critics as perhaps the most important new jazz group of 1960.

The ensemble began as a college group at Northwestern University. After winning the Intercollegiate Jazz Festival in 1961, the group was signed to a recording contract by Columbia Records and sent on a six-month tour of 23 countries in Latin America by the U. S. State Department. The success of this tour resulted in an invitation from the Kennedys to play the first jazz concert ever held in the White House.

The five-man group of young musicians plays what might be called contemporary chamber music because of the highly organized ensemble nature of its arrangements. However, their music still reflects the rhythmic excitement and improvisation of good jazz. The ensemble represents a combination of a small orchestra and a free-wheeling combo.

Varied Repertoire

Their repertoire features a variety of musical material including many original compositions, standard jazz tunes, and adaptations of popular and folk music the group has heard in its travels in the Latin American countries, especially those of Brazil.

Winter founded his group, originally a sextet, on the belief that jazz has a rightful place on the concert stage, but that this presentation of jazz should be different than that heard in nightclubs.

The Paul Winter Ensemble was the first student jazz group to go on tour under the U. S. Government cultural exchange program.

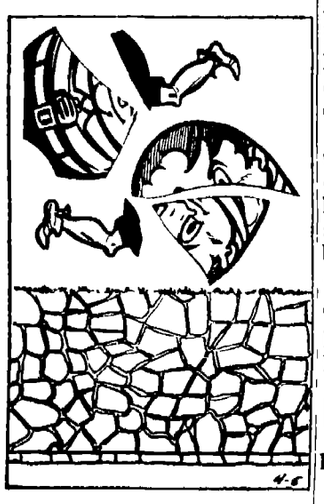
Boys and Girls Put Humpty Together to Win a Prize

BY CAPPY DICK

Even though all the king's horses and men couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together, you can do it. What's more, your work may win a prize.



Put Him Together

To each boy or girl whose assembled picture of Humpty Dumpty sitting on the wall is found to be one of the five neatest and most original from all the cities where this column is published a set of 12 Encyclopedia Britannica "True-to-Life Books" will be awarded. These are beautifully-illustrated books containing stories about boys and girls, animals and nature in various parts of the world. Typical titles are "Pablo, Boy of Mexico," "Birds in Summer," "Life in the Forest" and "The Ugling Duckling." There are eight other books in the set.

For a chance to win a set, a contestant's entry must first win a local qualifying prize. In today's contest this prize is a set of five tiny tools that really work, although each is only about one inch long. The set includes a miniature pair of scissors, a miniature pair of shears, a tiny pair of pliers, a little screw driver and a tiny penknife that will open and close. Five sets of these tools will be awarded, one to each boy or girl whose contest entry is found to be one of the neatest and most original in the Appleton area. Thus qualified for the national contest, these entries will be reviewed, along with local winners from all other Hobby Club cities, to find the five winners of the "True-to-Life Books."

To prepare an entry, cut out the footprints of Humpty Dumpty as well as the wall. Paste the pair on paper or a postal card. Assemble Humpty Dumpty and paste him on top of the wall. Decorate the entry in any neat, original way with paints, crayons, cutouts or other means.

Print your name, age, address and zip number beneath the picture. Address the entry to Cappy Dick's Midweek "True-to-Life" Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the prize winners will be published here. Their entries will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be reutrned.

Well-Meaning Friends Often Bring Grief With Sympathy

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year you had something in your column from a person who was self-conscious around grief-stricken people and didn't know what to say when he made a condolence call. As I remember, you said, "Be brief. Say, 'I'm sorry,' and let your presence say the rest."

My father passed away last week and now I would like to add something to your advice. I would like to tell people what not to say.

Don't go up to a woman whose husband has just died and say, "You are still young and attractive. You will meet some nice man and get married again."

Don't say to the sons, "Now it's up to you to take care of your mother. You must take your father's place." No son can take his father's place in the life of his mother and it's dumb to suggest it.

Thank you, Ann, for letting me have my say. — Still Grieving

Dear S.G.: It's hard to believe people can be so insensitive. And the odd thing is that these lunkheads mean no harm. Forgive them, and learn from their mistakes.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am sorry your column doesn't appear on the front page. What I have to say ought to be read by everyone who can read.

I have been married only a few months The minute I returned from my honeymoon the women in the office began to ask me if I was pregnant yet. When I stayed home with the flu last week I received five calls from friends who said, 'I'll bet you are pregnant."

This morning I wore a tent-type dress which, as you know, is considered very fashionable. Three girls came over and asked if it was a maternity dress. Then the office manager came by and said, 'The new styles are perfect for covering up pregnancy You could be in the eighth month and nobody could see a thing"

What is wrong with these people? Why don't they mind their own business? Can you come up with an Ann Landers' type answer that will shut them up? — Nothing To Announce

Dear N.T.A.: Nothing will shut them up. For certain cloddish types, no question is too personal, no subject too delicate. No response is the best response. Silence can be deafening.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Usually your advice is right on the button, but recently you disappointed me. A young bride wrote and said she felt ill at ease calling her in-laws Mr. and Mrs. Jones. You suggested that she offer to call them either Mom and Dad Jones or by their first names.

I have been married for four years and I am still calling my husband's parents Mr. and Mrs. Jones simply because they have never asked me to call them anything else.

It is not up to the daughter-or son-in-law to make the first move. The in-laws should ask the new member of the family to call them mom and dad. This is a sign of acceptance. I feel very much an outsider, and I am certain that this is their way of letting me know I am just that. — Unaccepted

Dear Unaccepted: You are right. It is up to the in-laws to suggest that the new member of the family call them mother and dad, or by their first names. This is unquestionably a sign of acceptance and I hope your in-laws see this letter and hop to it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

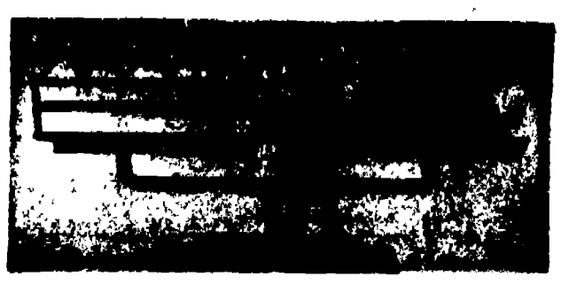
EGGS



An Economical Protein Food

Eggs Benedict

Eggs and Cheese Casserole

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

Eggs are headline news for shoppers these days . . . everyone knows this food is rich in protein, easily digested and quickly prepared. This spring eggs are plentiful as usual, but even more so, to make the prices attractive when it comes to food budgeting.

The current supply is more than a seasonal change, reports the United States Department of Agriculture. It is estimated that there are 5 per cent more eggs available this year than a year ago. There are two related reasons behind this increasing supply of eggs, say the experts. First, there are more hens to produce the eggs and, secondly, these hens are laying more eggs per little red or little white hen.

If properly refrigerated, eggs will keep for about a week at the same quality as at purchase time. Longer than that, the eggs are usable but begin to deteriorate in quality.

(For those intrigued by statistics, egg production in 1965 totaled around 180 million cases, which broken down into kitchen-sized figures means one whole case of 360 eggs for every man, woman and child in the country, or just about one egg a day for each of them. That's a lot of eggs!)

Tips on buying eggs are offered by the U. S. consumer and marketing service. These are valuable and should be remembered while shopping. For instance, here's a rule of thumb: Grade refers to the quality of the egg . . . size is something else again, this refers to the weight of a dozen of eggs. Grade and size are not related, but both are specified on the carton when eggs have been graded. (Ungraded eggs often carry this information, too, but here it's not required.)

Grade AA and Grade A eggs are best quality; these are ideal for any purpose and are especially fine for frying and poaching where appearance seems important.

The most common sizes of eggs are extra large, large, medium and small or "peewee."

Some homemakers buy the extra large sized eggs for a hearty breakfast serving, others prefer the medium size and serve two to a person. Large and medium sized eggs are excellent for general cooking and some families have the smallest eggs on hand for youngsters to eat.

Methodist Women Hear Work Of Migrant Ministry in State

Central Wisconsin is the summer home for more than 4,000 migrant workers each year who work with the vegetables that have brought to the state a $12,000,000 business.

Working through the Migrant Ministry with migrant families to increase community understanding, worker - grower communications and assist with educational and health programs and their spiritual welfare is the job of Mrs. John Shupe.

Mrs. Shupe explained the mission of the Migrant Ministry to members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon in the fellowship hall of the church.

Ministry Director

For the past nine years Mrs. Shupe has been director of the Migrant Ministry in Waushara County. Supported by Protestant churches throughout the state, the Ministry works closely with government programs such as the REAP (Rural Education Advancement Program) and also with community programs, such as the adult education project.

Most of the migrant workers in Wisconsin are Spanish-Americans from Texas, stated Mrs Shupe "As U S citizens they deserve our consideration." The largest number come to Waushara County to harvest pickles, to the Sturgeon Bay area for the cherry crop, and to Fond du Lac and Racine for work with vegetables.

Migrant workers need help because they have the lowest total U. S. laborer earnings and increasing unemployment, due to machines taking over the task of picking pickles and cherries.

Work Shortage

The workers average 116 days of work a year, and, in Texas, must live from money earned in Wisconsin. It is not unusual for a family to have 12 children, Mrs. Shupe explains.

There are always jobs for the workers, but adequate housing is difficult to find. Some live in barns and for most there is little privacy.

The men live under the constant pressure of time, knowing they must finish the harvest before cucumbers grow too large and cherries become too ripe. Financial pressures make parents hesitate before bringing a sick child to the hospital. There is always the fear of not knowing when the next move will be, where the next camp will be and what conditions will exist there.

Interpreters Needed

It is Mrs. Shupe's job to help these people in their new surroundings. Her staff is composed of Spanish speaking people to help with interpretation, college graduates and volunteers from the Wautoma area.

In central Wisconsin there are about 80 camps, most of which Mrs. Shupe and her staff manage to visit. During the summer two-week programs were set up in 28 camps. Bible school was conducted for children. Handicrafts, games and canning methods for mothers were also taught.

A fiesta marks the last night of their stay. Teen-age boys, tired after working long days under the sun, relax in volley ball and baseball games. Spanish music brings dancing and staff workers sample Mexican foods, including tortillas. Children, including those of growers, look forward to the breaking of the pinata.

Pay Visits

There is not time to set up two-week programs in every camp, and so in 39 camps there were only fiesta nights or afternoons of visiting with children and women.

Mrs. Shupe says the workers look forward to Ministry visits each summer and if the staff is 10 minutes late for its scheduled arrival, explanations are necessary. Often the sewing machine goes along with Mrs. Shupe, to patch worn clothes and make new items.

"Nothing is ever wasted in my home," Mrs. Shupe says. Winter months are spent making baby quilts for the migrant families. Church sewing groups send new baby clothing to Mrs. Shupe for distribution and friends call to give used furniture. "Someone can always use a platform rocker or an old bed," she says.

'Recreational Ministry'

Because of the activities the Ministry brings to migrant workers it is called a 'recreational Ministry.'

Mrs. Shupe's staff works with the REAP project which involves day care for children ages three to six and school classes taught by area teachers. Driving migrants to a health clinic on Fridays and Sundays is also one of their services.

Mrs. Shupe assists churches in supporting a camp. Church members become acquainted with the families to find how they can best help the workers.

Year 'Round Job

When summer arrives, Mr. and Mrs. Shupe move from their home in Berlin to their cottage at Silver Lake near Wautoma. However, Mrs. Shupe's mission work continues throughout the year with families who remain to work with the potato crop and Christmas tree harvest and sale or on city jobs.

Mrs. Shupe says the workers take pride in their work. The men, less shy than the women, often come to say 'gracias' after a fiesta. Each spring means meeting old friends for Mrs. Shupe, noting children changed from a year's growth.

"We are always under the observation of the workers," Mrs. Shupe says. "They watch what we say, what we wear, what we do. The Migrant Ministry truly becomes a program of Christianity in action."

Fanciful Approach

Sugar cookies look pretty with a dot of red currant jelly in the center. Add the jelly garnish just before serving.

Mrs. John Shupe, Center, talked about the Migrant Ministry in Waushara County to members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon. Visiting with her before the program are Mrs. Elden Wood and Mrs. Duane Gebel. Mrs. Shupe has been director of the Ministry in central Wisconsin for the past nine years. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Chaminade Chorus Celebrates 25 Years

Chaminade Chorus celebrated its 25th anniversary when it presented its Sunday evening concert at Lawrence Memorial Chapel. On hand to help the group observe the date were former directors and presidents of the Chorus and members of MacDowell Male Chorus, who served as guests artists.

At the post-concert reception at First English Lutheran Church there was much reminiscing by present and former members about the changes in the group and the concerts of the past. Mrs. Clarence Richter, accompanist since the Chorus was organized, accepted on behalf of the group a bouquet presented by Karel Richmond of MacDowell.

Former Directors and Officers of Chaminade visited informally at the reception after Chaminade's 25th Concert Sunday evening. Mrs. Donald Van Geffen, Kimberly, at the tea table, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Zordell and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Valitchka. Mr. Knox was director from 1960-66 and Mr. Zordell, 1951-53 Mrs. Valitchka is current Chaminade president. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Zi Hyung Sa, who had just conducted the Chaminade spring concert, visited with former presidents at the reception. With Mrs. Sa, left, he talks with Mrs. Emily Behl, president in 1949-50; Miss Helen Twiton, 1947-48, and Miss Delores Lippert, who served in 1953-54. At right, during a post-concert visit, are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Melchert, Seymour; Elaine Bastian, Mrs. Violet Bastian and Miss Irene Hastreiter.

Also present were Past Grand officers Mrs. George Schmidt, Miss Gladys Gilbertson, Stoughton; Mrs. Frank Meyer, Reedsburg: and Melvin Schultz, Milwaukee, past grand chancellor and present grand secretary of the Knights of Pythias.

Here's another idea to consider. When large eggs sell for 60 cents per dozen, that's the equivalent of 40 cents per pound. This is very reasonable for a pound of high protein food, especially when compared with the price per pound of meat. So, with most eggs below this price now, an egg dish becomes an excellent way to keep the food budget down.

Now to the preparation. Scrambled, fried sunny-side-up or over easy, soft boiled or poached may be breakfast favorites or even popular supper dishes. But the creative cook will look for different recipes. She'll borrow from other famous cooks of an earlier day or another region to make these dishes delicious and possibly not seem like egg dishes at all.

Dried chives, parsley or a touch of herbes fines can make any egg dish . . . from salad to souffle . . . just a bit exciting. An apple omelet with the French Norman's touch brings a delightful change to the table.

We suggest a simplified omelet cookery in two-step procedure. First, beat the eggs only slightly. Then cook the omelet over medium heat, gently lifting the edges with a spatula while tilting the skillet to allow the uncooked portion of the egg to flow down to the skillet surface where it can cook quickly.

From the southland comes a recipe for skillet spoon bread that's light and airy with cornmeal heartiness. This bread is so soft it cannot be sliced with a knife, but must be scooped from the skillet in which it is baked.

Besides these, the Eggs and Cheese Casserole is one of prizewinners of last year in the Poultry and Egg National Board's annual cook-off. This delicious dish combines hard-cooked eggs, celery, pecans and seasonings with a topping of potato chips and cheese. It takes only a few minutes of baking.

The recipe for Eggs Benedict uses the flavorful nip of chives now readily available in dried form and is sauced with a ready-mix Hollandaise. Golden Eggs is a quickly prepared one-dish entree that combines carrots, apples and diced bacon.

Here they are:

EGGS BENEDICT

4 English muffins
8 slices Canadian bacon, broiled
8 eggs, poached

1 pkg. Hollandaise sauce mix
1 teaspoon dried chives

Split and toast muffins, allowing two halves for each serving. Cover each muffin half with slice of Candian bacon. Top each with poached egg.

Prepare Hollandaise sauce according to package directions. Stir in chives. Pour one to two tablespoons sauce over each egg. Serve at once. Recipe makes four servings, two eggs on muffin to each person.

GOLDEN EGGS

4 carrots
2 cooking apples
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 eggs
2 strips bacon, diced seasoned salt, pepper

Set oven for 100 degrees. Wash, peel, grate carrots. Quarter apples, remove core, but leave skin on. Grate apples into carrots. Sprinkle with lemon juice.

Oil shallow baking dish or skillet. Cover bottom of dish with mixture. Make four indentations: break one egg into each Place diced bacon on top. Bake until eggs have set. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and pepper. Recipe makes four servings.

EGGS AND CHEESE CASSEROLE

8 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
¾ cup finely chopped celery
⅓ cup chopped pecans
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 teaspoon onion, minced
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup mayonnaise
1 cup grated American cheese
¾ cup crushed potato chips

Combine all ingredients except cheese and potato chips. Toss together lightly. Turn into four individual casseroles or one 1½-quart baking dish. Sprinkle top with grated American cheese and crushed potato chips. Bake uncovered for 25 minutes in 375-degree oven.

SKILLET SPOON BREAD

4 cups milk
1 cup self-rising cornmeal
3 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon butter, melted

Heat two cups milk just to the boiling point; do not boil. Add cornmeal slowly, stirring constantly until thick. Cool to lukewarm. Slowly add beaten eggs, beating until mixture is smooth. Add butter and remaining milk, again stirring until smooth.

Pour batter into greased, nine-inch skillet. Bake in preheated, 350-degree oven from 55 to 60 minutes, or until brown. Serve hot.

APPLE OMELET NORMANDY

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 small cooking apples, cored, pared, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
⅓ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup soft bread crumbs
5 eggs, slightly beaten
4 English muffins, split and toasted
2 tablespoons melted butter cinnamon sugar

Melt butter in nine-inch skillet; tip and roll skillet so melted butter greases sides as well as bottom. Arrange apple slices in melted butter. Sprinkle tablespoon sugar over sliced apples. Cover pan; simmer until apples are just tender.

Combine water, salt and bread crumbs with beaten eggs; pour over apples. Cook over medium heat until egg mixture begins to set around edges. With a spatula, loosen edge of omelet in several places; tip skillet so uncooked portion runs underneath. Repeat until entire omelet is set.

Cut into wedges; serve on toasted muffins which have been brushed with butter. Sprinkle cinnamon sugar on top.

Students in College Use Best Play

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Several thousand college students competed last month in the annual intercollegiate championships, playing hands constructed by Larry Rosler and Jeff Rubens. A commendable number of contestants found the right line of play in today's hand.

At most tables East took the ace of diamonds and continued with the jack of diamonds. Each declarer won and cashed the three top clubs. So far, so good; but the next play was crucial.

If South next led the king of hearts he went down. West took the ace of hearts and returned a diamond to set up the rest of the suit.

At this stage South could be sure of only three clubs, two diamonds, two hearts and one spade. South needed another spade trick, but whenever anybody led spades West would take the king of spades and defeat the contract with two good diamonds.

Steals Trick

In order to make the contract South must steal a spade trick before he tackles the hearts. South wins the second trick with the queen of diamonds, cashes the three top clubs and then leads the queen of spades.

If a defender is foolish enough to take the trick, South can win the diamond return and get to dummy with the jack of spades to cash the rest of the clubs. Declarer wins six clubs, two diamonds and one spade.

If nobody takes the queen of spades South is sure of two spade tricks and still has a diamond stopper. He switches to the king of hearts to force out the ace, wins the diamond return and thus takes two spades, two hearts, two diamonds and three clubs.

Heated Races, Surprises Flavor Appleton Election

Hard Fought Council Test Produces One Upset; Four New Aldermen Win Seats

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Hard fought contests produced one upset and other surprises Tuesday as the Appleton electorate added four new faces to the city council.

—William H. Wachtendonk, 908 N. Harriman, 3rd Ward.

—James F. Bethke, 2000 S. Jefferson St., 9th Ward.

—Arthur J. Hoolihan, 632 E. Harrison St., 11th Ward.

—Ralph C. Gertsch, 1833 N. Mason St., 19th Ward.

—Ald. Glenn W. Thompson, 1624 S. Walden St., re-elected to his second term in the 13th Ward.

Five Unopposed

Five other aldermen in the city's odd-numbered wards were unopposed, keeping a firm hold on their council posts for another two years.

The lone incumbent casualty in Tuesday's heavy balloting was Ald Roland Voss, 812 W. Oklahoma St., unseated by Wachtendonk, a former president of the Appleton Park Board.

Wachtendonk

Wachtendonk, an accountant, defeated Voss, a retired tile firm operator, 258 to 209, giving the 3rd Ward new aldermanic representation for the second time in the same number of elections.

Hoolihan

Voss, one of the more conservative council members, was making his bid for a second term, having defeated Kenneth Loos two years ago in what was considered an upset.

Thompson, an employe of Riverside Paper Corp., defeated

Thompson

Huisman

Howard Stumpf of 28 Weimar Court, a millworker at Consolidated Paper Corp., by a resounding 544 to 309 margin. Thompson also defeated Stumpf two years ago to land his first term.

Thompson, chairman of the council's welfare - ordinance committee, also beat off a jinx that has been connected with the 13th Ward post over the past four elections. Until Tuesday, the incumbent had always been unseated after his first term.

The closest race was waged in the 19th Ward where Ralph Gertsch, a self-employed businessman, out-polled Ralph E. McHugh, 1119 W. Frances St., 544 to 523.

Close to 1,100 residents showed up at the polls in the 19th Ward, mostly by the interest generated by the Gertsch-McHugh campaign. Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th) left the race wide open when he declined to seek re-election.

While Gertsch was making his initial try for elected office, it was not his first taste of local politics. He played a major role in the campaign of Mayor George Buckley a year ago.

Buckley says while he and Gertsch are personal friends, he maintained a neutral position in the ward contest and had no part in the campaigning for either candidate.

Spirited Campaign

Two years ago McHugh conducted a spirited campaign against Mueller, and in losing, piled up a respectable vote total against the incumbent alderman. McHugh is employed at

Electorate Sweeps Pair of Education Board Members To New Three-Year Terms

Two Appleton Board of Education members — Kenneth Sager and Victor Sumnicht — were swept back into office for another three years Tuesday.

They outpolled a field of four, including John Stevens, 3117 Morrison St., and Don C. Smith, 1702 Ravina Place, who ran strong with almost 9,000 votes between them.

Sager, 525 N. Douglas St., a member of the Lawrence University faculty, ran far ahead of the pack in carrying all of the city's wards and finishing with 7,997 votes.

Close Race

Sumnicht of 47 Silver Spur Lane, president of Advance Industries and a member of the park board by virtue of his school board affiliation, found himself in a close race with both Smith and Stevens posing a threat.

The incumbent polled 5,330 votes.

Stevens, a salesman and Town of Grand Chute assessor who formerly taught in the Appleton Public school system, finished third with 4,544.

Early Lead

Smith, an officer in a consulting firm and an Appleton Library Board member, ranked fourth with 4,362 in his first bid for an elective public office.

Sager grabbed an early lead and was well on his way to a second term with returns from half the wards reported.

He received 672 votes, more than any other candidate, in the 19th Ward and was also the top ballot-getter in his own 5th Ward with 347.

Prior to joining the Lawrence faculty, Sager was a teacher at Appleton Senior High School. He received his education at Lawrence, University of Wisconsin and Harvard.

Close Avenue From Drew To Richmond

Marks Start of Major Portion of Street Excavation

Starting next Monday, the entire stretch of College Avenue from Drew to Richmond Street will be closed to vehicular traffic in connection with the downtown reconstruction program.

The avenue has been partially blocked from Division Street to the west during the past week.

Closing the entire central business strip to traffic next week will signal the beginning of the major part of the street excavation work.

Crews of the Vinton Construction Co., Manitowoc, will be removing old pavement, and those of Bahr Construction, also Manitowoc, will be placing sanitary sewers.

On Schedule

Robert Pfefferle, project engineer, said the project has been moving along on schedule and advised — with a break from the weatherman — College Avenue could be completed by Sept. 1, two months before the Nov. 1 target date.

"There has been some apprehension on the part of the citizenry regarding the movement of light poles on the north

Grand Chute Adopts Zoning Ordinance by Wide Margin

Town Electors Disenchanted With County After Migrant Camp Case

BY MICK BURKE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Grand Chute electors showed disapproval of operating under county zoning ordinances at the polls Tuesday and approved its own ordinance in a referendum vote, 946-178.

The question was placed before the electorate as a direct result of a court decision allowing Stokely-Van Camp Inc. to build a migrant labor camp in the town.

The court ruling came after a long series of court proceedings begun last summer. At that time the town tried to enforce the county's zoning ordinance and halt construction of the wooden and concrete block structure at the site about two miles west of Appleton.

Complaints registered by the town were declared invalid with the court ruling that the zoning ordinance must be enforced by the county and not the town.

Adopt Budget

At the annual meeting after the polls were closed, a budget for 1967-68 totaling $970,705 was approved, an increase of $140,257 over last year.

Proposed expenditures for the coming year were set at $1,247,180 with revenues anticipated at $276,475 Last year's expenditures totaled $1,103,803 with actual revenues of $273,355.

Elected officials salaries were retained at the present scale for the ensuing year. Salaries are usually adopted for a two-year period.

The town chairman was authorized to appoint a five-man committee, with board approval, to study existing salaries and recommend any changes at next year's annual meeting.

Reimburse Officials

Board officials receive $8 per meeting and $12 per day per diem. The treasurer receives $1,300 annually, constable, $1,200, and the assessor, $1,500.

It was agreed that officials attending out of town meetings, with board approval, be reimbursed for expenses. In the past they have paid their own expenses.

In other action town voters:

—Approved the town planning commission's report after its first six months of operation.

—Suggested that the town's representatives on the county board attend town meetings and advise town board members on issues before the county.

Stay in League

—Failed to get response for a summer recreation program in the town estimated to cost $1,300.

—Defeated a motion to find a new location to conduct the annual meeting with ample parking.

—Recommended purchase of a sander be left to the discretion of the town board.

—Approved remaining in the Wisconsin Suburban League at an estimated cost of $1,500 for the year.

The fire burned the rear of the truck, and the cab, a portion of the ceiling and walls in the building and building materials, including roofing. Firemen said the blaze may have started from spontaneous combustion.

Tally Sheets Reveal Idiosyncrasies of Balloting

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Scrutiny of voting tally sheets never fails to reveal interesting tidbits and examples of balloting oddities.

Tuesday's election in Appleton and Outagamie County was, of course, no exception.

For example, voters in the Town of Hortonia think the governor and lieutenant governor should have four-year terms of office, but that the attorney general should be limited to two years. They weren't sure about the secretary of state and state treasurer — on both referenda questions the vote was tied.

In Deer Creek, it's alright for the governor and lieutenant governor to be in office four years, but with all the other state constitutional officers it's "no."

A majority of voters in the village of Black Creek seems to want the problems caused by divided executive leadership to continue, but for four years instead of two. They approve of four-year terms for the governor and lieutenant governor (and the three other state constitutional officers), but disapprove of the governor and lieutenant governor running on a single ballot.

Two county precincts were consistent in their opposition to all change. Voters in the towns of Maine and Black Creek voted "no" on all eight referenda.

Rural Critics

All the opposition to four-year terms came in rural areas. On the four-year terms, 17 towns and villages opposed the referendum for governors and lieutenant governors, 18 opposed the terms for secretary of state and treasurer, and 19 opposed it for the attorney general.

Opposition to the governor and lieutenant governor running on the same ballot came from 16 rural towns and villages.

All precincts in Appleton, Grand Chute, Kimberly, Little Chute, Combined Locks and Kaukauna voted "yes" on each of the first five referenda.

Opposition to the proposed amendment which would allow sheriffs to serve more than two consecutive terms came in 17 precincts, once again all the opposition came from rural areas except for the Appleton 19th Ward which voted "no" 405 to 356.

The "no" vote majorities which opposed allowing parochial school students to ride in public school buses came in the towns of Maine and Black Creek, the village of Black Creek and in Appleton's 14th Ward.

Opposing the amendment proposal which would allow Supreme and Circuit Court judges to receive higher salaries during their terms of office were 12 precincts — once again, all rural.

Popular Issue

The most popular referendum on the ballot was the one dealing with school bus rides for parochial school students. Of the county's 56 precincts, 52 gave approval to the referendum. The total was 16,817 for "yes" and 7,493 for "no."

One rural precinct, the village of Bear Creek, solidly opposed the seven other referenda, but voted for the school bus ride proposition by the rate of 125 to 10.

Full-Time Chairman Approved by Town

$9,700 Salary for Roland Kampo 'Still Too Small' Some Claim

MENASHA — The town board could do no wrong Tuesday night.

After all the incumbents were re-elected by sizable margins, Town of Menasha residents gave an overwhelming vote of approval to what they stand for — anti-annexation and pro-incorporation.

And they boosted the salary of the controversial town leader, Chairman Roland Kampo, by $3,700 and put the post on a full-time basis.

No Opposition

Kampo, who won his second term without opposition and only last year had his salary upped to $6,000, could have written his own ticket.

The $9,700 he received at Tuesday's annual town meeting was still too low, according to some citizens.

But it makes him the highest paid elected official in the Twin City area.

The mayor of Menasha earns $9,100 per year and Neenah's mayor receives $8,400.

Attract Quality

Veldor Kopitzke, head of the Citizen's Committee which made the recommendations, said the group felt the salary should be high enough to attract qualified candidates.

Kopitzke pointed out the town business had doubled in the past two years and "annexation activity requires constant attention" in presenting the case for the full-time post.

At first, a few people objected, saying, "That's a lot of money." Kampo stepped down as head of that part of the meeting and other town officials took the stand on his behalf. Defeated candidate for side supervisor, Theodore Dupont was answered with loud applause when he declared, "The town chairman for the past two years has been the most fighting man in the history of the Town of Menasha."

When one townsman questioned whether the chairman should have unlimited expenses, another suggested the salary should be set at $10,000 with $2,000 in expenses but the motion failed to get a second.

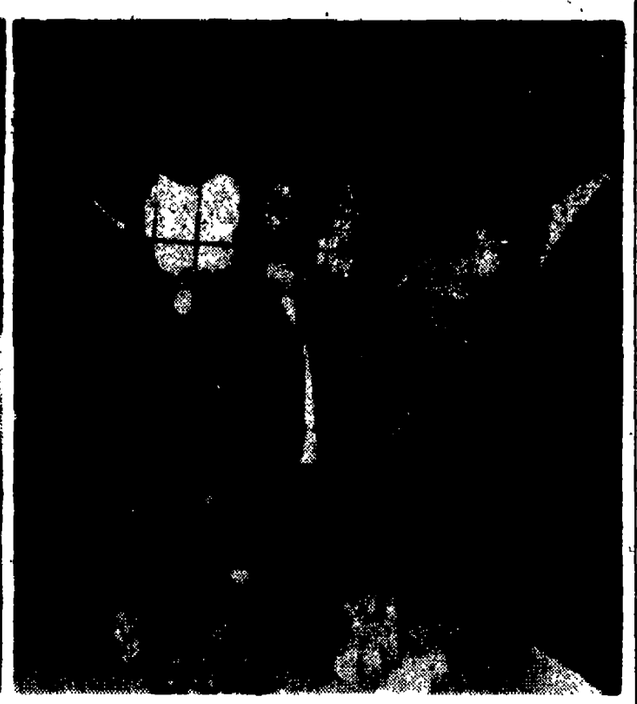
The group discussed the meaning of "full time" and after Kampo said he worked full time at the post during the past year, one remarked, "What we're doing is voting an increase in salary and I'm for it."

Another pointed out Kopitzke's recommendation last year for a $6,000 salary was based on a 40-hour week and said the new figure was actually a $3,700 raise.

Kampo objected to the measure if it wasn't called full-time. He said the terms of the post should be applicable to the person who might succeed him in the future at the helm of the town board.

"Don't vote money for Roland Kampo," he urged, "but for a chairman on a full-time basis."

Only nine persons in a crowd estimated at 150 objected to the proposal.



Fifty-Seven Students from Fox Valley area high schools enrolled during an open house from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Outagamie County Teachers College, Kaukauna. According to President E. H. Gordon who guided the freshman committee's planning for the day's activities, six more students enrolled this morning. Students had informal talks with faculty and students, took guided tours and observed practice teaching and regular classes. They also were familiarized with the extra-curricular program of the school. Incorporation Move Backed By Residents

Town of Menasha Electors Consider Becoming Villagers

MENASHA — Would the citizens in the Town of Menasha like to be village dwellers? You bet they would.

Chairman Roland Kampo posed the advisory question at Tuesday's annual town meeting after noting the "town's got some plans" to change the laws to allow annexation.

About 150 hands went up and there wasn't a single dissenting vote.

Introduce Bill

Kampo wouldn't elaborate on his designs for incorporation to stop the threat of annexation by neighboring cities because "I don't want to tip our hand to the enemy."

However, he did indicate that a bill would be introduced in the legislature. He said that Sen. Norman Sussman, a Milwaukee Democrat, indicated he would support and initiate action on a measure to allow some towns to incorporate.

Kampo pledged to work "toward this solution" after receiving the "people's confidence."

Response Unanimous

Theodore Dupont, defeated candidate for supervisor, decided to put the informal concensus into a motion. He asked the town to proceed "as fast as possible" on incorporating both sides of the town. The favorable response was unanimous.

The question was brought up after a citizen wondered out loud about annexation possibilities in the near future.

Kampo predicted Senate Bill 210 on unilateral annexation wouldn't meet with much success even if it got out of the state senate's governmental and veteran's affairs committee. Some 40 Town of Menasha residents appeared at the initial hearing in Madison last Wednesday.

One-Way Street

An incongruous note was sounded by Clerk Robert Jacobs when he spoke of the efforts of the Wisconsin Suburban League in working for legislation favorable to townships. "We believe in the town form of government," Jacobs said shortly after Kampo's pitch for incorporation as a village.

Jacobs, who is also chairman of the league, said the towns were going on the offensive. "Why should annexation be a one-way street?" he asked, noting that some city dwellers would like to annex to the town.

Vacancies on Menasha School Board Filled

MENASHA — The three vacancies on the Menasha board of education were filled in Tuesday's election by returning Roger Fliege and Frank Rosch to the board of their fourth consecutive terms and by a new candidate, Donald Thornton.

Fliege received the highest number of votes with 2,786 and was also the recipient of the majority vote in the Town of Menasha, where he lives, as well as in the First, Third, Fourth and Sixth Wards. During his three terms of office he has been vice president of the board of education and headed properties and curriculum committees.

20-Year-Old Held in Fight With Menasha Policemen

MENASHA — Disorderly conduct and resisting arrest were charged this morning against a 20-year-old man who officers said attacked two policemen shortly after midnight today in a local tavern.

Robert A. Zblewski, who police have listed under Menasha and Oshkosh addresses, was brought before a court commissioner who set bond at $200 and scheduled further proceedings Friday morning before Judge James V. Sitter in Winnebago County Court Branch III. The bond was fixed at $100 on each of the two charges.

Police said Ablewski repeatedly declared he wanted to kill two police officers. Officers said he told them the motive for his attitude is the death of his brother in an auto crash in Milwaukee recently while Milwaukee police were pursuing the brother in the belief he was driving a stolen car.

Telephoned Police

Officers' reports said Zblewski telephoned the police station at 12:44 a.m. today and asked officers to come to a Menasha bar.

When officers arrived, they said, Zblewski leaped over a railing to attack the two patrolmen as they entered the door.

The report said it took 10 minutes to handcuff the man, and one officer had to sit on him in the squad car while he was brought to the police station. One officer said he had a sore leg from being kicked and the other reported being bitten on the thumb.

"Fluke"

Squad car patrolmen normally travel alone in Menasha. The good thing that we had two men in the car instead of one, or somebody could have been hurt real bad, because of this guy." The fact that the squad car patrolman had picked up a foot patrol officer on the way to the tavern was described by police this morning as "a fluke."

Taken to the Winnebago County Jail in Oshkosh, Zblewski fought most of the way and was discovered with a cigarette lighter in his hand when the squad car arrived at the jail, apparently with the intention of starting a fire in the car, according to police.

He was placed in solitary confinement, pending action on the case in court.

Ablewski gave 903 E Parkway Ave., Oshkosh, as his address Tuesday night. Previously, police had 413 First St. in Menasha as his address. Officers reported Zblewski had expressed antagonism toward policemen in at least one earlier incident, when he had also told of the death of his brother.

Assailant Flees After Hitting Man in Face

Ralph Schwartz, 1213 W. Commercial St., told the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department late Tuesday evening that he was struck in the face by an assailant who then fled in a late model car.

Schwartz said the incident occurred about 11 p.m. at Emma and Louis' Bar, 1931 W. Wisconsin Ave. He described his assailant as being about 26 years old, about six feet, two inches tall and weighing about 220 pounds. Schwartz told police the car which left the tavern had Minnesota license plates.

Judge Sitter Easily Re-Elected

NEENAH - MENASHA — Winnebago County Judge James V. Sitter won re-election to County Court Branch 3 by decisively defeating Oshkosh Attorney Thomas Williams in Tuesday's election.

Sitter, who will be starting his second six-year term on the criminal court bench, rolled up impressive margins in the cities in the county for a 15,493 to 10,450 vote victory.

Former Kimberly Resident Admits To 7 Bad Checks

Three years probation was ordered Tuesday afternoon for Richard C. DeLeeuw, 26, Oak Harbor, Wash., after he pleaded guilty to seven counts of issuing worthless checks.

DeLeeuw, a former Kimberly resident, entered the pleas through his court-appointed attorney in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

He was charged with issuing $10 checks at the Shell Service Station, Consolidated Service Station, and Brandt's Beer and Liquor Store, all in Kaukauna, and at Slim Otto's Bar and Tom's Drive-In, Appleton. He also was charged with issuing a $5 check at Hietpas Motors in Kaukauna and a $15 check at the Darboy Club. The latter check charge was consolidated from Calumet County. The checks were cashed in July, August and September.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered that DeLeeuw make restitution on the checks, pay the $806 it cost for county authorities to return him from Washington, and repay the county for the cost of his appointed attorney.

Edward Spierings Re-Elected at Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — A 2-way race for president and an 8-way race for trustee posts attracted about 80 per cent of the 1,876 registered voters Tuesday with

Spierings

Edward Spierings renamed village president by an 859-635 margin over Paul Kostka, former president, who was defeated by Spierings in 1965.

In the race for trustee posts, Lloyd Vanden Heuvel, incumbent, garnered 923 votes and Patrick Blohm, incumbent, received 903 votes. Winning the third seat was George Vanderloop Sr. with 753 votes. Other candidates and their totals were Donald DeGroot 665; Dominic Van Eyck 525; Donald Nagel 226; Arthur Grundy 106, and Charles Champeau 82. A total of 1,517 votes went to the polls.

Neenah Sinks Proposed Pool

NEENAH — Proponents for the $650,000, indoor - outdoor swimming pool are re-evaluating their efforts this morning following the sound defeat of the pool question in Tuesday's referendum.

The final tallies showed only 38 per cent of the citizens going to the polls favored the year-around facility at Washington Park.

Only three wards, the Fourth, Sixth and Seventh, went in favor of the referendum. These three wards are located in the vicinity of the proposed pool. The decision wasn't even close in the other seven wards.

The totals were: 1,844 in favor; 3,020 opposed.

Town of Neenah Approves Park, Planning Commission

NEENAH — The stirrings of an urban spirit became a little more apparent in the Town of Neenah Tuesday night as voters at the annual town meeting faced up to needs brought on largely by increasing population and industrialization.

About 70 voters authorized the town board to appoint a park commission and a planning commission, and ordered the board to appropriate $5,000 "as a start" toward improving and cleaning up the Neenah slough.

Electors at the annual meeting at Lakeview School also approved the audit report containing estimated expenditures totalling $176,857 for the coming year, ending March 31, 1968.

Plan Commission

Perhaps the most far-reaching of the voters' actions was the authorization for a planning commission.

The first task of the commission would be the drafting of a subdivision control ordinance, voters were told by Town Chairman Laurel Heaney.

The ordinance would deal with such matters as zoning restrictions, drainage control and other matters related to land use. The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission has a model ordinance from which the actual measure would be drawn.

Local Control

Heaney explained that similar restrictions will take effect at the state level in 1968. Passage of a local ordinance, he said, would avert having "outsiders" dictating town affairs.

The ordinance, once drafted by the new commission, would be presented to voters for approval at a public hearing before being adopted, townsmen were told.

Jury in Circuit Court Acquits Appleton Pair

Elroy Barth, Carroll Kaiser Found Innocent of Receiving 'Hot' Jewelry

Two Appleton men accused of receiving jewelry stolen from a northside home were acquitted Tuesday afternoon by a 12-member Circuit Court jury.

The jury deliberated two hours before returning innocent verdicts for Darrell Kaiser, 40, and Elroy Barth, 18, both of 721 N. Morrison St. The men had court-appointed attorneys.

A 17-year-old Appleton youth who stole four rings and two watches valued at $4,600 from the home of a relative, Eugene Hopfensperger, 534 N. Garfield Place, on Feb. 16 testified that he had sold a watch to Barth at the Barth home Feb. 18. Under questioning by Asst. Dist. Atty. Richard Hamilton, the youth repeated several times that he had told Barth the jewelry was stolen.

Because the youth is a juvenile, and was not waived to criminal court for conviction, state law prohibits publishing his name.

Drove to Cottage

The youth said that he, Barth, James Jones, 19, of 1030 S. Christine St.; Doris Dietzen, 16, of 1627 N. Charlotte St., and Rita Hafeman, 18, of 1829 S. Jackson St., drove to the Barth cottage near Shawano Feb. 18, the same day Barth allegedly bought the watch. The youth said he left the jewelry at the cottage.

He testified that the next day he, Barth, Kaiser and Mrs. Rosetta Helser (Barth's sister) drove to the cottage where he said Kaiser bought a woman's watch and two men's rings.

Although the boy could not positively identify Kaiser at a preliminary hearing last month, he did so readily at the trial.

The youth's testimony was corroborated by James Jones, who had refused to testify at Kaiser's preliminary hearing. Jones said that he was at the Barth home when the 17-year-old youth sold Barth the watch, and testified he heard the youth tell Barth the watch was stolen.

Jones also told of hearing Barth tell his sister and Kaiser the evening of Feb. 18, at the Barth home, about some diamond rings they could buy that were "hot."

However, Barth, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barth; Miss Hafeman; and Kaiser, who testified briefly, all said that Jones had not been at the Barth house the evening of Feb. 18.

Barth disputed much of the testimony by Jones and the 17-year-old jewelry thief.

Belonged to Mother

He said there was no discussion of any jewelry at any time Feb. 18, the day Barth allegedly purchased the watch. Barth, who claimed he bought the watch for $5 on Feb. 19, testified that the youth told him the jewelry belonged to his widowed mother who needed the money.

Both Barth and Kaiser said it was Mrs. Helser and not Kaiser who bought the two rings and a watch at the Shawano cottage Feb. 19.

Barth said the first he knew the jewelry was stolen was Feb. 20 when Miss Dietzen told him the 17-year-old boy was in police custody for the theft. Miss Dietzen, called to the stand by the defense, verified Barth's claim.

Barth said he then became frightened and hid the jewelry in his attic.

Det. Sgt. Carl Thiel testified that police went to the Barth home Feb. 20, without a search warrant, and were shown where the watch was hidden. Thiel said Mrs. Helser brought the other watch and two rings to the police station later the evening of Feb. 20.

Council Contest Produces Upset In City Election

the Kimberly-Clark Corp. mill at Kimberly.

It came as no surprise, based on their showings in the primary last month, that two radio station employes — James Bethke of WHBY and Arthur Hoolihan of WAPL—emerged victorious.

With their election, the city council now has three radio station newsmen among its membership, including Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd), who goes under the professional name of "Bill Day."

Bethke, who resides at 2000 S. Jefferson St., bested Edward R. Maloney of 601 Coolidge Ave., a salesman, by a 441 to 287 vote margin. He carried the first precinct 179 to 106 and the second precinct, 262 to 181.

Both candidates conducted extensive door-knocking campaigns, and on Monday Maloney questioned whether Radio Station WHBY had complied with Federal Communication Commission (FCC) regulations regarding equal time.

Errington Strutz

The station management said it did, adding that the burden had been on Maloney to request the same amount of air time.

It was estimated that had Maloney sought equal time, he would have been entitled to seven hours free time to discuss his candidacy.

As WHBY news director Bethke has been covering city council meetings.

Hoolihan, a newspaper correspondent in addition to being a newsman for WAPL, defeated Frederick G. Kafura, 94 Esterbrook Court, 442 to 181, in nailing down the 11th Ward alderman's job which Paul Klemmer gave up after serving one term.

Hoolihan is also an elected member of the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors, and during the campaign said that, if elected, he would serve in both capacities.

He will hold the distinction of being the lone public official in Appleton sitting on both the council and county board at the same time.

Unopposed for re-election to the council were:

—Ald Richard G. Huisman (1st), 1002 N. Superior St., his third term. He received 299 votes.

—Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), 1128 W. Lorain St., his seventh term. He received 390 votes.

—Ald. John MacDonald (7th), 1615 Orchard Drive, his second term, 507 votes.

—Ald. William F. Errington (15th), 1807 E. Glendale Ave., his first time after filling a vacancy last year, 512 votes.

—Ald. Orville A. Sturtz (17th), 733 E. Grant St., his second term, 656 votes.

Aldermen serve part-time, receiving $1,200 a year.

Lame Duck Session

The last meeting of the present council for the legislative year — a lame duck affair — will be tonight with a considerable amount of business on the agenda.

On April 12 Mayor Buckley will conduct an informal meeting of the "new" council to discuss rules and regulations for the 1967-68 legislative year.

And on April 18 the new aldermen will officially take office when the council is reorganized for the coming year with the mayor making committee appointments.

The first regular business meeting will be the following night, April 19.

City Clerk Elden Broehm said today that 54.3 per cent of Appleton's registered voters went to the polls in the citywide election. There were 11,510, including absentees, who voted.

Broehm predicted Tuesday morning that the election would attract a turnout of about 11,000.

Negligent Homicide Charge

First Witness Heard in Fatal Car Crash Trial

A Neenah woman testified this morning that she had just pulled out of the Outagamie County Hospital driveway Sept. 5 when her car was sideswiped by an auto that then struck an oncoming car headon, resulting in two deaths.

Mrs. Edna Hinz, 164 Rickers Bay Road, was one of three state's witnesses called this morning as trial opened in Branch 2 for Thomas Lubeck, 24, rural Janesville, charged with negligent homicide in connection with the Labor Day traffic deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Krebsbach of Manitowoc.

A jury of 12 men is hearing the case. Lubeck was charged last October following a negligent homicide finding by a six-man coroner's jury.

Mrs. Hinz said she believed the oncoming car that struck her in the westbound lane of U.S. 10, a mile west of Appleton, was "about four blocks" to the east on 10 when she pulled out of the driveway. Lubeck's attorney disputed her judgment of distance.

The car Lubeck was driving sideswiped the Hinz auto, then struck the eastbound Krebsbach car head-on. Lubeck, a college student, was living at 700 S Memorial Drive, Appleton, at the time of the accident. Mrs. Hinz and Lubeck were injured in the mishap.

Thomas Techlin, 18, 1606 N. Outagamie St., said today he was following the Krebsbach car when he observed the Hinz car pull onto U S 10. He said the Hinz car was in its own lane when it was sideswiped by the westbound auto which he said appeared to be traveling over the speed limit.

The only other testimony this morning came from Sgt. Stanley Arnold of the Outagamie County police, who gave an account of his investigation.

14-Year-Old Held on Theft Of Five Cars

Offenses Occurred In Combined Locks, Appleton, Neenah

A 14 - year-old Appleton youth is in juvenile custody in the Outagamie County jail in connection with the theft of five cars, including three in Appleton and one each in Neenah and Combined Locks.

The boy and a 14-year-old companion from Menasha were apprehended after Neenah police observed them early Monday morning in a car owned by Mrs Paul Hendrich, 1921 N. Harriman St., Appleton. She reported the 1964 auto missing the afternoon of March 28 from Zwicker Knitting Mills parking lot.

Police said the Appleton youth who stole the auto drove it about 230 miles. The air cleaner was missing. One of the two youths was apprehended by Neenah police about a block from where the car was abandoned after a short police chase that ended on S. Commercial Street. The Menasha youth was not held, Appleton police said.

Police said the Appleton boy was involved in the theft of a 1958 Studebaker March 24 and a 1963 Chevrolet March 4 from Jack and Dick's Service Station, 533 N. Richmond St. Both cars were recovered shortly after they were reported stolen, police said.

The car stolen March 25 in Combined Locks is owned by Greg Marciniak of Kimberly, according to Combined Locks police. That car was recovered in Neenah.

576 total for the two precincts, followed by Edward Ziegler with 550 votes.

Ziegler, in joining Livingston on the town board, replaces his brother, Herbert Ziegler, who did not seek re-election. Unsuccessful candidates for supervisor were Tom Foxgrover and Ronald Haberland, with 450 and 505 votes, respectively.

In other contests, Eugene Paltzer retained his treasurer post by defeating George Froehlich 680 to 480, while John Arft remains constable by virtue of his 740-406 victory over David Neubert.

Re-elected without opposition were Chairman Thomas A. Thorson, 999 votes; Clerk Leslie C. Woldt, 1,049, and Assessor John Stevens, 933.

Kaukauna Man Fined For Reckless Driving In Motorcyle Mishap

Eugene T. Kappell, 35, 1424 Hillcrest Drive, Kaukauna, charged with reckless driving in connection with an accident that injured a Kaukauna motorcyclist Saturday night, Tuesday was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail after he was found guilty.

Kappell had pleaded no contest to the charge brought by Combined Locks police. He appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Police said Kappell's car struck a motorcycle operated by James Courtney, 21, 720 Grignon St., who was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital in Larry's Ambulance with back, hip, and rib injuries.

The accident occurred about 11 p.m. Saturday on Outagamie County Trunk Z, in the Village of Combined Locks.

side of College Avenue," Pfefferle commented. "This is purely a temporary measure to facilitate sewer and pavement construction."

The new poles will be placed along the curb as the old poles were, Pfefferle added. The avenue will be getting a new lighting system as part of the reconstruction plan.

He also gave assurance there would be sidewalk area for pedestrians so they could gain access to downtown stores, through front and rear entrances.

Without Walks

Pfefferle pointed out that during the period new sidewalks are being laid, some areas will be without a pedestrian walk for about a week at the most.

"We hope to make walking along the avenue as convenient as we can for the shoppers," Pfefferle said.

He said once the Vinton firm starts paving the street, which should be in mid-summer, 18.5 foot strips will be laid on each side and then another down the middle.

Considerable underground work remains to be done in conjunction with sewer replacement, and local utilities will be undertaking major improvements.

Pfefferle said the pavement removal has been moving at a pace of about a block a week.

He also announced that with the barricading of the nine-block district, the Drew Street intersection will remain open to vehicular traffic and there will be one-way traffic at Appleton and Oneida streets at all times.

Appleton residents were urged to make a trip downtown to view the heavy construction work underway on the avenue.

George R. Currie won only 10 of the county's 56 precincts and they all were in urban areas. Currie won Appleton's 1st, 7th, 8th, 12th and 17th wards, Kaukauna's 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th wards, and the village of Little Chute. Robert W. Hansen won every other urban precinct and all the rural precincts.

First, Last

Winning the honors Tuesday night of being the first precinct to report its complete election returns was the Town of Bovina whose clerks phoned in the results at 7:40 p.m. Next came the Town of Maine at 8:02 p.m., followed by the village of Shiocton at 8:15 p.m.

The first Appleton ward to report was the 20th, at 8:32 p.m. The last Appleton ward was the 12th, which reported in at 9:14 p.m.

The Town of Freedom won the dubious distinction of being the last to report — at 1:05 a.m. today. Next to last was the Town of Oneida with a report at 12:07 a.m. today.

Citizens' Committee Advises School Board

Kimberly Group Say West Side Sites Offer Adequate Space for New School

KIMBERLY — After a seven-month study by an 18-member citizens' committee, recommendations concerning future school construction and planning have been forwarded to the board of education for study.

Committee members indicated the school district should make no further effort to purchase land at the west end of Kimberly for a school site since the 5.35 acres presently owned by the district and an adjacent 3.75 acres owned by the village were deemed adequate for a school and playground site.

The group also felt the option held by the district on an additional 3.6 acres at a cost of $36,000 should be dropped. "Present property is large enough to build a multi-story elementary school and still have enough room for recreation," according to the report.

Combined Locks

Recommended was an eight-classroom addition to Janssen School, Combined Locks, which would make use of existing heating facilities. It was felt this would enable the school to reach its maximum capacity, but thought should be given to purchasing additional property near the school.

An 18-classroom elementary school was recommended for the west side of Kimberly. The structure should be, the report said, a multi-story affair of expandable design. Also recommended was a review of the hot lunch program, particularly the cost of additional facilities to feed all children of the district.

Next major building program, after the Janssen School and west side elementary building, appears to be a new junior high school in 1972 or 1974, according to the report.

Seek Study

It was felt this should be adjacent to the senior high school, thus making it possible to share some facilities. The committee also felt this building should be expandable to permit addition of a grade school wing in the future.

Prior to this move, the committee recommended a comprehensive study of private school enrollments in the district. They also felt the board should consider exchanging some land at the senior high school to make a more compact school site, and study building possibilities in the district with options taken on land for school purposes.

A long-range study should include the possible sale of Ryan School, Combined Locks, when the school can no longer be used for classrooms or when it becomes a burden to the district in maintenance costs, noted the report. Earlier recommendations did not take into consideration sale of the school.

A survey, conducted by the committee, revealed about 55 per cent of the parochial school children living on the west side would be sent to a public elementary school if one were constructed.

This would indicate a minimum of 100 children would transfer to the public school. Initial enrollment of 390 was anticipated for the west side school.

Officials of Holy Angels School, Darboy, have notified the school board it can expect a transfer of first grade or eighth grade pupils from that school to the public school in 1970, noted the report.

"These recommendations by the citizens' committee are considered part of the Holy Name School plan to send seventh and eighth grade children to J. R. Gerritts Junior High School on a full-time basis beginning September 1969. At that time the public school would return the second grade to Holy Name. It is the hope of the school board at Holy Name that they will eventually be able to handle all parochial children in grades one through six with present facilities," concluded the report.

of the school board since 1955. He attended Marquette University and is chief administrative officer for a local electronics manufacturing firm. He ran runnerup to Sager in his own 11th Ward with 298 votes.

Won 13 Wards

Sumnicht outdistanced Stevens and Smith in 13 of the city's 20 wards but failed to do so in the four towns attached to the Appleton school district.

Smith, a resident of the 10th Ward, finished second there to Sager with 208 votes.

As was expected, Stevens received a substantial vote in his own Town of Grand Chute where he bested the field with 701, followed by Sager's 633.

Sager and Sumnicht will start their terms in July when the board holds its annual reorganization.

Other school commissioners and the years in which their terms expire include: President Charles Buchanan, 1968; Dr. Roy Whitney, 1968; John A. Schneider, 1969; Mrs. Walter Heil, 1969, and Ronald Roberts, 1969.

School commissioners serve without pay.

Illinois Man Pays $35 For Public Drunkenness

59 Per Cent Vote

Students at Kaukauna Pick City Officials

KAUKAUNA — Fifty-nine per cent of the registered junior and senior voters went to the polls at the high school last Friday to cast ballots for the officers who will serve during Youth Government Day at the city hall Friday.

The program is sponsored jointly by the Jaycees and high school student council. Elected mayor was David Krings; Karla Wynboom, clerk; Janet Skromme, treasurer; Alice Weber, municipal justice; James Gillen, city attorney, and Mary Van Den Heuvel, assessor.

Two aldermen were named from each of six wards, the Sixth Ward added to accommodate rural students in the school. Named in the Ward were Daniel Siebers and David Appleton; Second Ward, William Derricks and Thomas Kneepkens; Third Ward, Lin Cherkasky and Ted Simon; Fourth Ward, Allan Skromme and David Egan; Fifth Ward, Steven Veldmann and Karen Six, and Sixth Ward, Earl Vande Yacht and Ronald Schmidt.

Referendum questions received a varied vote. On the question of raising beer drinking age to 19, the students voted 36 to 7 against a change; a 10 p.m. school night curfew and 11 p.m. weekend curfew was defeated 40-3 and a question of lowering voting age to 18 was approved 32 - 12.

No Underclassmen

The final referendum permitting sophomores and freshmen to hold offices for Youth Government Day in the future was defeated 27-15, possibly due to the vote being limited to juniors and seniors.

Student winners will assemble in the council chambers of city hall at 9 a.m. Friday for a talk by Mayor Gilbert Anderson after they will be seated as the council. Other elected officers will spend the day in comparable city hall office.

Agenda for the council will include discussion on city beautification, a 4 - year term for mayor, parking problems and a youth and civic center.

Editor to Speak

The officers will be guests at a noon luncheon at Oakwood Hills Country Club. John Torinus, editor of The Post-Crescent, will speak. Walter Roloff, president of Roloff Manufacturing Corp, will present a plaque to the mayor on behalf of his firm and certificates to other successful candidates.

The council meeting will resume after lunch. Reports from the treasurer, assessor and municipal justice will be made about 3:30 p. m. after which students will conclude their day in office.

Jaycees working on the program are Richard Berkers, Thomas Berg, Thomas Look and Chris Harris while student council members involved were Lin Cherkasky and Alice Weber.

Life, Programs In Reformatory Told by Priest

Catholic Chaplain Talks to Lions Club On DePere Institution

"Many fine programs are offered at the State Reformatory for Boys at DePere, which today stresses the correction angle instead of punishment," Appleton Noon Lions Club was told Monday.

Speaking on life behind the prison walls was the Rev. Paul DuCharme, first full-time Catholic chaplain at the reformatory.

The programs, referred to by Father Du Charme, include a high school from which the boys can graduate, and the vocational school, where almost every imaginable trade is offered, "and probably is second to none in the state," the chaplain said.

"The trouble is motivation," he added. "How do you get these people to take advantage of the facilities and programs?"

Psychologists, psychiatrists, guidance people and spiritual directors are available at all times for group therapy, and individual counseling but, again, the residents must be motivated to seek help, the priest said.

He also showed a film which briefly traces the life of the prisoner from the time he is sentenced to the time he is released.

For the first week after he is taken to the reformatory, he goes through a series of medical examinations, has a chance to tour the institution and view the facilities and opportunities available to him, and goes through a series of interviews with social workers, guidance directors, who help him lay out his program, and meets the spiritual directors.

After one month, Father Du Charme said, he receives his permanent assignment to either a school or a job.

"It is especially important that they are kept occupied all day and are confined to their cells only at night," the chaplain added.

Activities other than school or work which take up much of the time include studying or reading in the library, operating a radio station, printing their own newspaper, "The Bay Banner," or participating in various inside sports.

Statistically, 300 of the 750 inmates take advantage of the fine schooling program offered. Of the 750, which, he added, is not a large number compared to the 1,100 a few years ago, about 20 per cent are Negro and 8 per cent American Indian.

Though the average age is 21, the reformatory has inmates ranging in age from 14 through 35, "which often causes problems, even though we try to divide them into their own age groups," according to the priest.

A farm at Oneida produces much of what is needed, including meat, vegetables and dairy products.

About 270 persons are on the staff at the institution, including women. "By and large, the inmates are respectful to the women except for an occasional whistle; but that happens quite often on the outside, too," Father Du Charme added.

7 Appleton Instructors Participate in Course In Welding Metallurgy

Seven Appleton school instructors were among recent graduates of a "Welding Metallurgy" course held at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, sponsored by the Fox Valley Section of the American Welding Society.

Included in the 135 area men who took the course were: Jess Hill, Wilson Junior High School; Armin Gerhardt, Appleton Public Schools; Robert Brandt, Roosevelt Junior High School; Donald Gee, Roger Kerstner, Robert Hanson and Donald Conachen, all of Appleton High School-West.

John H. Sherry, 829 Third St., Menasha, a truck driver, showed liabilities of $6,898 and assets of $383, with $255 exempt.

Vernon N. Sevenich, 645 Ninth St., a millworker, showed liabilities of $23,066 and no assets, with $10,800 exempt.

License Needed By All Peddlers, Police Remind

KAUKAUNA — Police have received complaints recently about peddlers and "high-pressure" door-to-door salesmen, leading Chief Harold V. Engerson, to advise residents on how to handle these people.

The chief suggests property owners should ask the solicitor to produce a city peddler's license card. If the seller has no card, the property owner should call police and notify them of the area in which the person is soliciting.

Police will then check to see why the peddler has not secured a permit and take remedial action. The license regulation was passed by the council to help protect citizens from unscrupulous sales people and only through cooperation by citizens can the ordinance be strictly enforced, noted the chief.

This Is the SDS . . . Part IV

Arson—the 4th 'R' in Education?

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic" are the traditional "3R's" in education.

A document currently being distributed by Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) has added a fourth "R" to the curriculum — arson.

The document, a natural partner to SDS vice president Carl Davidson's paper on student syndicalism in colleges, is entitled "High School Reform: Towards A Student Movement."

The paper was written by Mark Kleiman. He claims to have written the work in December of 1965 while he was "a student in a Southern California high school."

Organizes On Discontent

"The movement," SDS literature says, "organizes on the basis of discontents."

It then asks the question: "Is it possible to create a radical generation by gaining power in the educational system?"

The answer is, of course, obvious — it is possible.

Whether the means are criminal seems to be of no matter to Kleiman. It is a crime to set off false fire alarms, or to aid, abet or incite arson in any form.

Yet on page one, Kleiman writes:

"Even such seemingly destructive actions as starting trash can fires and pulling false alarms are actually forms of protest directed at the school as it is now constituted."

Further on he adds, "There is one primary reason why we set trash fires, why we cannot communicate with one another on campus, and are forced to make use of off-campus publications, and to why they have to build fences around us.

"High school," Kleiman reasoned, "is not worth the time we spend there."

Unsuspecting Youth

In an attempt to lure unsuspecting youths into radicalism, Kleiman writes, "Those responsible for our education have done their utmost to create an artificial community on the high school campus, a community which will demonstrate to us that it is better to 'adjust' to an unsuitable society than to change the society into something in which we can live with honor and dignity. There is already a considerable degree of unrest on the high school campus."

At several California high schools 'underground' newspapers have been started. "At Westchester," he says "30 students destroyed their Student Activity Cards and 'sat in' for the first ten minutes of fifth period . . . At University High School there has been a storm of protest over the suspension of a student for wearing his hair too long and an administration threat to take away nutrition unless we have a clean campus . . ."

Kleiman writes that "all schools spend a great deal of money on staffing and supplying an attendance office. The very existence of such a system would indicate a belief on the part of the administration that we are unwilling to play by their rules that were made by them, and must be coerced into doing so. It is clear that the motivating factor behind acceptable behavior is not understanding, but force."

The author of the SDS pamphlet objects to health classes that warn students "about drugs proven to be physically harmless." Although Kleiman doesn't specify the drugs he refers to, much publicity has been given to the use of drugs such as marijuana and LSD in high schools, especially in California.

Continuing, Kleiman recommends establishment of teacher-student "alliances" against the school administration.

"Let us," he writes, "consider briefly the roles taken by students and teachers in our schools. It is the function of a teacher in our system to feed us material data designed to help us fit into a ready-made life in society. We, as students, undergo this change and 'help' our peers change through social pressure.

"Who," Kleiman asks, "dictates the nature of this change? Who tells teachers what to teach and how to teach it? Who tells students under what conditions they may learn in this Great and Free society? Both student and teacher are tool and product of administrative totalitarianism. The student comes out of high school a finished product to be consumed by either the agro-business or the war machine. He is by then a tool, to be used to make others conform.

"The administrator," Kleiman continues, "whose real function is nothing greater than the maintenance of the campus (a task which could easily be performed by a simple-minded computer) has become the lord and master of our schools, commanding unbounded fealty."

"Exploitation"

Three areas were cited for "organization" and "exploitation" — "dress regulations," "attendance," and "the education itself."

Following as Davidson's paper on syndicalism for college students, Kleiman urges the "agitators" to become candidates for student body offices.

"Where we win control of any office," he writes, "we force the administration to either give in on major points, or continually override our actions, which makes the administration look silly to the students, our parents, and our principal's bosses downtown."

As a means of disseminating the philosophy, he urges another action which is being used extensively by SDS chapters on various college campuses ... the underground newspaper.

"Underground newspapers," Kleiman states. "have proven to be highly successful at two schools already. The first few issues should be written and produced by four or five people (to distribute reprisals, as well as the workload). These students should continue to take responsibility for the production of the paper, but most of the material should come from other segments of the student population as soon as possible, so that it is a true reflection of student opinion.

"The first issue," he recommends, "should be sent to the leadership of as many social cliques as possible (so that the paper is IN), and should be mailed to them. Mailing is emphasized because any attempt to distribute such a paper on campus would result in those responsible for it being crushed by the administration."

"Freedom Schools"

Continuing with his plan, Kleiman urges formation of "freedom schools" during students' lunch hours, and to make concerted effort to win support from the American Federation of Teachers, the American Civil Liberties Union and the PTA.

"Rights" for high school" youths, according to Kleiman, are "freedom of advocacy on the high school and junior college campus," "an end to student police squads and oppressive attendance offices, replacing them with a voluntary honor system," and "the right of students to take or not to take courses as they see fit."

Students for a Democratic Society, it seems, must be willing to rob the cradle in its attempts to promote radicalism and to establish what it calls a "participatory democracy."

Baptists Hold Revival Rites

Guest Preacher for Week of Services At Valley Church

A week of revival services is in progress at the Valley Baptist Church, with services at 7:15 p.m. each evening through Saturday and 10:45 a.m. Sunday.

Guest preacher for the week is the Rev. Robert G. Fulmer, pastor of the Midvale Baptist Church, Madison. The Baylor University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary graduate held three pastorates in Texas prior to his present position.

Since coming to Wisconsin he had been active in evangelistic emphases, has served for two years as chairman of Evangelism for the Central Wisconsin Baptist Association and on the steering committee for Wisconsin - Minnesota Baptists' first two annual conferences. He also serves along with the Rev. Byron Epps, pastor of the local church, on the four-member area committee which coordinates all the work of the Southern Baptist associations in Wisconsin.

Before services the juniors and intermediate children meet with both pastors. Part of this time is spent rehearsing for the special youth night service Saturday. Later in the week children's sermons will also be introduced.

Easy Experiment Can Find Numbness Cause

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a male aged 58, five feet 11 inches and 210 pounds. My question: My hands go numb quite often while I am asleep. I have been to doctors but they give me no satisfaction. Can you help me? — J.H.M.

While this is not uncommon complaint, it is not an easy one to deal with medically. You may have better luck trying some simple experiments by yourself.

Here's the reason: As we get on into middle age we can expect some changes in the spine. That's perfectly natural. But sometimes there may be traces of arthritis, or some slight change in shape of the spine which, under some circumstances can put a bit of pressure on a nerve.

The pressure may not exist during the day when we are up and moving around. But at night the bones of the spine settle into a different position. Pinch the appropriate nerve and it can result in numbness.

Cutting off circulation to some degree can have a similar effect at times. You know how your foot can "go to sleep" if you sit with legs crossed in a certain position.

There's nothing dangerous about that, and usually there is no reason to be concerned over numbness after you've been asleep, since the trouble stops when you wake and move about. Still, it's a nuisance.

The pinching of the nerve is very slight and does not exist when you are up. That's why it is very difficult for a physician to identify the exact trouble spot. Neither can he very well guess what odd position you may sleep in.

So here are my suggestions:

Experiment with a higher or lower pillow, or none. The position of the neck and shoulders may well be suspected since it is your hands which turn numb. Nerves serving the hands run from the neck spine through the shoulders and arm.

Too soft a bed, or sagging of it, can compress a nerve. A harder mattress might help. But a less expensive method to try first would be inserting a bed board (a sheet or ordinary plywood works well) between the springs and mattress, to minimize sagging.

Or you might merely try to correlate your sleeping position with numbness. Some particular position may cause it. This is somewhat difficult, however, because most of us change position repeatedly in our sleep.

X-ray examination of the spine, especially the neck, and neurological tests are necessary to determine the exact site of trouble. You are overweight. This might well have something to do with your symptoms, also your sleeping position, pressures on circulation to the arms. Try the simple methods first.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and recently have noted a hard lump-like formation in my right breast. In the last two years I have had two chest X-rays and wonder if this could have caused it.

My mother thinks I should see a doctor and I am planning to do so as soon as I hear from you and find out if it is serious. — S.H.

Do as your mother says. Until your doctor examines it, there is no way to guess whether it is serious or trivial. Maybe it will amount to nothing at all, but find out.

Note to Mrs. L.T.: Yes, it is possible for cataracts to exist from birth. It is not common, but it does occur. Your only recourse would be to consult a specialist to see whether surgery can correct the problem. Glasses can't.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Anderson Sweeps To Mayoral Victory In Kaukauna Race

Referendum Outcome Favors Full-Time Office

KAUKAUNA — With 80.5 per cent of the registered voters going to the polls Tuesday, Mayor Gilbert Anderson was returned to office for a one-year term and voters favored a full-time mayor on advisory referendum 1,905 to 1,501.

City council approval of the switch to a full-time mayor policy is required before the matter goes into effect.

Anderson was elected mayor by the Kaukauna Council eight months ago following the death of Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon and now will serve the year remaining on Bayorgeon's term. Anderson topped his opponent, Clarence Sullivan, in every ward. His First Ward margin was 571 to 278, Second Ward 545 to 289, Third Ward 508 to 296, Fourth Ward 494 to 319 and Fifth Ward 352 to 189.

Voters in every ward also favored electing a full-time mayor. First Ward voters approved the move 404 to 338, Second Ward 367 to 359, Third Ward 427 to 296, Fourth Ward 417 to 324 and Fifth Ward 290 to 184.

Gilbert Anderson

No Competition

School board candidates ran without competition and Marshall Bayorgeon tallied 2,569 votes while Richard Kuehn had 2,605 votes.

A three-way race for First Ward alderman saw Arnold Vander Loop, 10-year veteran, defeated by newcomer Robert Vondracek 548 to 254. Robert Wieseler, third candidate, received 52 votes.

Second Ward voters also defeated an incumbent in a five-man race for alderman. Richard Gerrits, former policeman and fireman and now a school teacher at Kimberly, defeated incumbent Earl Luedtke, 356 to 252. Other candidates and their totals include Robert Nack 114, Clifton Coffey 60, and Frank Merckx, 52.

Wide Margin

Third Ward voters returned incumbent George Simon by a wide margin in a three-way race, giving him 501 votes compared to 22 for Norman Meinert, a former alderman, and 90 for Richard Huss.

Fourth Ward voters had two incumbents running for a two-year term as a result of ward redistricting and Russell Dix downed Richard Helf 430 to 374 for a two-year term. In a term for one year, Jerry Klarer downed Phillip Voights 596 to 185. The single year term is also a result of ward redistricting.

William Rogers was returned to office for a two-year term in the Fifth Ward with 266 votes compared to 121 for Henry Drechsler, 94 for Oscar Jahns and 54 for Cyril Reichel. In the one-year term race for the post vacated by Mayor Anderson, Carl Engerson narrowly edged LeRoy Peters 266 to 256.

Total vote was 3,873 and total registered voters numbered 4,808.

Judge Orders Year's Probation For Absconder

A 22-year-old Clintonville man who failed to pay a $50 room bill in Appleton, Tuesday afternoon was placed on probation for one year to the State Department of Public Welfare after he was found guilty of absconding.

Douglas Stichman, 206 Walnut St., Clintonville, pleaded no contest through his court-appointed attorney. He was found guilty by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Stichman stayed at a rooming house at 117 N. Appleton St., for five weeks before absconding Sept. 4. The complaint was brought through the district attorney's office by H. M. Pankratz, owner of the rooming house.

Stichman waived preliminary hearing before being bound over to the felony branch of County Court Tuesday. Judge Keller ordered that the youth make restitution to Pankratz within 60 days and repay the county for the cost of his attorney.

Kimberly Board Changes Requirements

Alters System of Credits for Students In High School

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night revised next year's graduation requirements for senior high school students.

Fifteen credits will be needed in three years for graduation from the senior high rather than 18 in four years as previously required. The credits must be in addition to those earned in junior high and a minimum of three junior high credits will be required for admittance to high school.

Junior High credits will be used in establishing class placement. Next year's juniors will need 14 credits to graduate, but a minimum of five subjects must be carried each year.

August Winters and Sons was awarded the contract for installation of a new hot water heater at the junior high school at a cost of $1,198. Word was received from the State Department of Public Instruction indicating Title I aid was cut from $4,974 to $3,466. Aid is based on the number of dependent children in a district and the Kimberly district experienced a reduction in the number this year.

Replacement

Board members approved the hiring of Kenneth Kitzinger, student at Stout State University to replace Ansel Anderson as industrial arts teacher for the remainder of the year due to the illness of Anderson. Approval was given to the hiring of Miss Renee LaChapelle, a graduate of Holy Family College, Manitowoc, to teach sixth grade next year.

New textbooks approved for next year include "Alm French-Level One" by Harcourt-Brace for use in French 1; "Modern Woodworking" by Goodheart and Willcos for use in woodworking II, and "Machine Drafting" by McGraw-Hill for use in machine design.

The summer school program approved includes first and second year conversational French, first and second year conversational Spanish, speech correction, remedial reading two and three, remedial reading fourth through sixth, improvement reading two, three and four through six, elementary art two and three, advanced art three through six, science, advanced science and modern math four through six.

Classes Offered

Junior high classes will be introductory secondary mathematics and geometry for credit and speed and improvement reading, personal typing, summer band, modern mathematics seven through nine and art seven through nine for enrichment purposes.

High school subjects for credit will include geometry, introductory secondary mathematics and English and social studies. Other subjects will be typing, summer band; enrichment math and driver education, the latter offered through the Vocational School.

Board members agreed to raise the fee for non-residents enrolling in the program from $20 to $30 a course. Each child will be permitted to take one academic course. Classes will be in the senior high school, and transportation will be the responsibility of the student with daily attendance required for credit courses.

Spouses Elected for Woodville

ST. JOHN — Mrs. Lester Elting, wife of the Town of Woodville chairman, was elected assessor Tuesday giving the town its second husband-wife political team.

Mrs. Elting was the only newcomer to a town office this year and was unopposed. She succeeds Anthony Kesler who did not seek re-election.

Her husband was re-elected town chairman on a ballot that was devoid of contests.

The other husband and wife team is Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmitt, who were re-elected treasurer and clerk, respectively.

Others re-elected were Ralph Mader and Howard Fochs, supervisors.

Two Contracts Awarded for Kimberly Work

Street Resurfacing, Utility Installation Projects Approved

KIMBERLY — Contracts for street resurfacing and installation of sewer and water were approved by the village board Monday night and special assessments set for the projects.

Fox Valley Construction with low bid of $61,064 will handle resurfacing work. Van Daalwyk Construction was low bidder for sewer and water installation with a bid of $6,417.50.

Resurfacing is planned for Maes Avenue from James Street west to Clark Street, Clark Street and Ann Street. Assessment for the Maes Avenue and Clark Street projects is $8.77 per lineal foot for 8-inch concrete and for Ann Street the assessment is $7.03 per lineal foot for 6-inch concrete.

Sewer and water is to be installed on Clark Street with the assessment to be determined after all costs are tabulated. Two property owners involved in this project have agreed to pay full assessment.

Purchase of two vehicles from Gustman Chevrolet Sales was approved, both results of submitting low bids. A utility truck for the fire department was purchased at a cost of $3,075 and a 6-passenger enclosed van was purchased for the street department at a cost of $2,302. It will be used for hauling in place of a pick-up truck.

Purchase of a $675 combination tractor - mower and a $170 chain saw was approved from Cease's Radiator Service, Little Chute, and $375 generator unit for use on the fire department utility truck from Schreiter Auto Sales, Appleton.

Approval was given to raising the pay of school crossing guards from $1.50 to $1.60 per hour and the police clothing allowance was increased from $75 to $100 per year. New men joining the department will receive a clothing allowance of $150 for the first year on the department.

Board members voted to establish a fee for reserving shelters at Sunset Point Park. Non-residents will be assessed more than village residents. Rate for shelter use and who will be responsible for the collection has not been determined.

Clean-up week was set for April 24 through 28 at which time crews will make daily runs throughout the community to collect discarded items.

Dohr and Sebora

Two Fox Valley Judges Win Re-Election Bids

Two Fox Valley judges won new six year terms without opposition Tuesday.

They were Raymond P. Dohr of Appleton, who polled 19,926 votes in being re-elected for a second term to Outagamie County Court Branch 3, and David H. Sebora of Chilton, who counted 4,562 votes for the third term as Calumet County judge. A total of 5,564 votes were cast in Calumet County.

Judge Dohr, whose primary duties include handling juvenile cases, small claims and damage suits, polled 8,927 votes in Appleton, 2,974 in Kaukauna, and the remainder in the cities, villages and towns.

Judge Dohr, who lives at 1309 Alicia Drive, was admitted to the bar in 1925, served two full terms as Outagamie County district attorney, after he was appointed in 1934, and was president of the county bar association.

Dohr became the county's first corporation counsel in 1950 and held that post until he was elected judge.

Judge Sebora was district attorney in Calumet County from 1946 until his election to the bench in 1955. He graduated from high school in Stevens Point, received his bachelor's degree from Ripon College and earned his law degree from the University of Wisconsin.

He was with the law firm of Fox, Sebora and Fox in Chilton and prior to that had a law practice in Brillion. Judge Sebora and his family now live in Chilton.

Youths Start Fire in Locker At Chilton High

CHILTON — Two high school youths were referred to juvenile authorities after starting a fire in a locker at the school Tuesday.

According to police the pair stuffed the locker with paper, threw in a lighted match and secured the door with a lock.

A teacher passing discovered the blaze and after forcing the locker open put out the fire with an extinguisher, police said.

Youth Center Gets Aid of Village Voters

COMBINED LOCKS — Village voters overwhelmingly favored village support of a community youth center in a local referendum Tuesday, voting 378 to 116 to have the village furnish land, sewer, water and sidewalks for a youth building.

Erection, supervision and maintenance of the building is to be handled by the Jaycees of the community. A total of 499 persons went to the polls and 494 voted on the referendum question which, on the basis of other voting, proved of major interest in the village.

Daniel Williams, running without opposition for re-election as president, garnered 443 votes. Four candidates ran for the three trustee posts and top vote getter was Eugene Schulz, newcomer, with 377 votes. Incumbents Donald Ourada and Marvin Schumacher received 338 and 352 votes respectively while the fourth candidate, Ronald Hammen, tallied 285.

Martin Roovers was named constable over Marvin Hartjes 318 to 172 and John Miron, without opposition, was re-elected assessor with a vote of 452.

Youth Pleads Innocent of Eluding Police During Chase

A 19-year-old Bear Creek youth who allegedly led county and state police on a 100-mile-per-hour chase early the morning of March 26 and then said he had been kidnapped at gunpoint, pleaded innocent in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Tuesday to a charge of eluding police.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller set trial for Michael L. Samson for April 17 and ordered $150 bond.

A county police patrolman said he started chasing Samson's 1966 auto after it did not stop for a stop sign at Outagamie County Trunks OO and A, in the Town of Grand Chute. The chase then proceeded north on U.S. 41 after Samson's car allegedly went south on A to State 125 then onto 41.

Police said the auto, after going in and out of a ditch, turned north on County Trunk N near Little Chute, where a state trooper picked hp the chase. Samson's car allegedly ran several roadblocks near Kaukauna before going out of Kaukauna on State 96, toward Wrightstown.

The auto was found later near a telephone booth at Wrightstown. Brown County police reportedly received a telephone call, allegedly from Samson who said he had been kidnapped at gunpoint and was made to lie on the floor near the back seat while his captor drove.

whether the carton is packed by hand?

Tea has a special place in our heart. After all, it was the first thing we ever sold. And we're old hands at pampering fine, exotic teas all along the way.

We've been tea fanciers—and importers—since 1859.

We even pack our A&P Tea bags in cartons by hand. This lets us give them an extra personal check. And we think that's important.

Human interest is important—even in packing tea bags.

This hand-packing costs us a bit more. Takes a mite more time. But we think it's worth it. And we never let the price get out of hand, either. In fact, A&P Teas give you worthwhile savings.

The steak looks good, but is the bottom all bone and fat?

It's a problem...a problem we've given a lot of thought.
We think we have the answer.
We have a policy.
We put the best side down.
The side you don't see is guaranteed to be equal to or better than the side you can see.

Your Money's Worth

Work Around Home Adds to Nation's GNP

BY SYLVIA PORTER

It's April and on his weekends, my do-it-yourself husband is back on his five-year-old bulldozer and seven-year-old tractor and into the woods around our country home opening up still another road, building still another bridge, clearing still more acres of valuable land. In the process, he is conservatively adding hundreds of dollars to our Gross National Product and, were he paying skilled workers to help, his addition to our GNP would run into the thousands.

But because his machines were bought in the past, his labor is his own and no one is measuring the value of what he produces, all that will show up in 1967's GNP will be the $100 or so he spends for fuel and materials.

If you lumped all the work we perform off the job and without pay today — and put a money value on that effort — it would amount to an estimated $300 billion to nearly $1.1 trillion to GNP, it would push the total from this year's projected $787 billion to nearly $1.1 trillion!

This arithmetic is based on a gigantic study of "Productive Americans" by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research — a study which reaches the astounding conclusion that "American people spend as much time on unpaid productive activities as they do on work for pay."

On the average, you, the American wife, spend almost 40 hours each week—or 2,053 hours per year—doing housework. If you add to this the amount of work you do for pay, your work total tops that of the male breadwinner.

On the average you, the American family, spend another seven hours a week doing other unpaid productive work—home redecorating, car repairs, home haircuts, baby sitting, sewing, etc. Altogether your family's productive work for pay and not-for-pay comes to 5,100 hours a year—an average of 98 hours per week.

Who does the most unpaid work today?

It's no surprise that the married couple, with several small children, does 50 per cent more housework than the average. Nor is it surprising that working wives do less housework than wives who don't work outside the home; or that young, single men and women living in apartments do the least of all.

What is surprising, though, is that the family with a lot of automatic appliances does not spend less time on housework and that to a single person, a new appliance actually may mean more housework. Why? Because most likely to load up on appliances is the young, growing family whose housework demands outrun any time-savings by automatic machines.

And to the single person, a new appliance often means doing an extra job at home.

Oldsters Also Work

Also surprising is the fact that, among single people living alone, the older they are the more housework they do. One explanation for this may be an increase in "busy work" due to loneliness. Another may be that many widows are left with large homes to care for.

A third surprising finding is that families in higher income brackets do more unpaid work than those in low income brackets — possibly because they are more concerned about their homes and certainly because they do more volunteer work than poorer families.

The nation's manpower planners may pontificate endlessly about the implications of the spread of leisure time in this country. But the overwhelming evidence is that the typical American spends almost no time "sitting around" and that he chooses to keep busy for non-pay as well as for pay. This leads to the key fact that by so choosing, he is sending our economy to heights no official statistic even tries to gauge.

Mumps or Not, Nicklaus Still Favorite in Masters

Pirates May Have 'Find' In Hal Smith

Coach Ignites Rally With Pinch Single; Yanks Beat Braves

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The slugging Pittsburgh Pirates, not satisfied with having the top hitter in the National League last season, have unveiled their candidate for the best hitting coach in the league.

He is catcher Hal Smith, known more for his defensive abilities with the St. Louis Cardinals before a heart ailment sidelined him midway through the 1961 season.

Smith, who will be 36 on June 1, took bat in hand Tuesday and singled to start a three-run rally that stopped the Boston Red Sox 3-1 in an exhibition game at Fort Myers, Fla.

The club indicated he might see action at the plate and behind it during the season if the Pirates' catching staff does not improve on its disappointing spring performance.

It would be quite a comeback for Smith, who hit .258 in 5½ seasons with the Cardinals before coaching for them one season, managing in the minor leagues two years and coaching with the Pirates in 1965-66.

Pittsburgh called on him once

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Does he or doesn't he? Even his doctor doesn't know for sure.

The question involves Masters champ Jack Nicklaus and whether he has a case of the mumps.

"I don't know," Nicklaus said as he put the finishing touches on his preparations for the Masters Tournament that starts Thursday.

"I just don't know. My doctor doesn't know. No one knows. I was exposed to it about two weeks ago when I visited Gardner Dickinson. His kids have it.

"The incubation period isn't yet past. I may have it, but I don't think so. I don't think it's a problem."

3-Time Champion

Nicklaus, a three-time champion and the only man to score successive victories in this prestigious tournament, is favored to retain the famed green jacket that goes to the winner — if the mumps don't sideline him. Even without the health problem he's having difficulties.

"I'm not putting well, I'm not chipping well. I'm not driving well," he complained Tuesday after a practice round with former amateur champion Deane Beman.

Nicklaus said he shot "about a 73" over the 6,980-yard, par 72 Augusta National Course, and Beman had a 71. Gary Player said he didn't keep

Vikes' Rusk Lauds Emanuel and AHS Cagers at Banquet

Says Appleton Won't Forget 1966-7 Terrors

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

"Appleton will never forget this team," said Clyde Rusk of the 1966-7 Appleton High School basketball squad Tuesday afternoon.

Rusk, Lawrence University cage coach, spoke at the Appleton Rotary Club's annual banquet for the AHS team in the Conway Hotel.

Rusk said he has seen many a team fall flat on its face in the state tournament, but the Terrors "played inspired ball on all three occasions in Madison." . . . I've never seen a better comeback than the one against Whitefish Bay, unless it was the one against Neenah in the regional tourney."

Even after the division of AHS into two schools, "You'll never see basketball go down as long as Dick Emanuel is coach," Rusk told the Rotarians and guests. The Lawrence coach cited several characteristics of Appleton basketball under Emanuel:

(1) "I've never seen the team give up." (2) "They play exceptional team defense — always helping each other out." (3) "They get good rebounding position." (4) "They play their best ball around tournament time."

The team's success was achieved through hard work, said Rusk, who told the players, "There's a great opportunity for you in the future, but you must continue to pay the price." The need for off-season practice was stressed by Rusk as one of the essentials.

"Dogged determination" was another attribute of success cited by Rusk, who used Wisconsin cage coach John Erickson and Minnesota Viking quarterback Ron VanderKelen among his examples. Rusk said Erickson failed to make his basketball letter in high school but went on to stardom at Beloit College. And VanderKelen, rather than becoming discouraged with his seeing but a couple minutes' action as a UW junior went on to senior year stardom and the Rose Bowl.

Rusk said he thought the state high school tourney in Madison was more exciting than the NCAA tournament he saw in Louisville. The Vike coach noted that Lew Alcindor's contributions to the UCLA team are "immeasurable," but added that the other four players "are outstanding, too."

Rusk declared he would "like to see the dunk shot stay in the game." He said it might be because he has a 6-foot-9 center (Brad Childs). According to Rusk, the "dunk," on occasion, could rally a team and bring a crowd "alive."

Emanuel characterized his team as "a group of fellows who put out 150 per cent all season. I thought their desire and pride were unparalleled."

Emanuel, who, it has been announced, will remain in his present position (Appleton West) next season, called this

Manitowoc Rates As Heavy Favorite In FRVC Track Meet

North Seen as Chief Challenger; AHS Has Inexperienced Cast

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Manitowoc's track team, which has been crushing all opposition in dual and multi-school meets, rates as the overwhelming favorite to become the first 3-time winner of the Fox River Valley indoor title.

The 1967 meet is scheduled Thursday evening in Manitowoc. The Ships won the 1966 meet to tie Appleton, at two titles apiece. Sheboygan North is the only other school to win a crown in the 5-year history of the meet.

Manitowoc not only has strong personnel this year but has the added advantage of an exceptional indoor plant for early conditioning. This will be the first time that all 10 FRVC members will participate in the indoor test.

Sheboygan North looms as perhaps the best of the challengers, even though the Raiders lost a 54-32 decision to the Ships Monday. North's cast features the versatile Mike Stieghorst, who won the FRVC indoor high jump title last year; and Pat Matzdorf, who soared 6 feet, 5 inches in Monday's dual-meet high jump event against Manty.

Oshkosh, which placed second last year, also is a possible contender. Other schools have a scattering of potential point winners but lack balance.

Appleton, which placed third in 1966, will enter its most inexperienced squad in some time.

Three individual defending champions in addition to Stieghorst, are back. They are Manitowoc's Greg Gretz (shot put) and Jerry Jorgenson (half-mile) and Green Bay Southwest's Greg Aubinger (mile).

Other Manitowoc stars include sprinters Tom Gass, Jim Nickels and Al Novak; high jumper Dave McDonell; and hurdlers Jeff Rohrer and Bill Stepanski.

AHS' individual entries include: John Vogt and Bill King, in the hurdles; Steve Kagen and Mike Reddy, 60-yard dash; Randy Thomas and Dennis Kray, 880-yard run; Scott Schultz and Greg Foker, mile; Neil Gleason, long jump; Gleason and Paul Gammelin, high jump; Cliff Tierney and Bob Manwell, pole vault; and Dave Romenesko and Terry Calder, shot put.

In the 4-lap relay, the Terrors will use Kagen, Reddy, Ken Vokral and Gerhard Hendriks. For the 10-lap relay (mile), AHS will use Kray, Thomas, Jim Krull and Hendriks.

Schultz finished third in the mile in last year's meet, and Thomas was fourth in the half-mile.

New Candidates

Head Coach Keith Kohlman reports that about a dozen new track candidates have turned out in the last week, increasing the squad to 56. Kohlman is being assisted by Gene Vanden Heuvel and Bill Swenson.

Among Oshkosh's top entries are hurdler Jim Hoffman, who was third in the highs and fifth in the lows last year; and pole vaulter John Oaks, who placed fourth in 1966.

Fond du Lac's Rick Wollmner looms as a threat in the 880, since he finished second to Jorgenson last year.

The meet's trials, in the John F. Kennedy Fieldhouse, begin at 5 p.m. Thursday. The semi-finals start at 7 p.m.

Dick Stuart Quits Dodgers

Power-Hitter Says He Will Play for Japanese Squad

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Dick Stuart, a well - traveled first baseman, has packed his notorious glove and bid sayonara to baseball wars in the United States.

Stuart, known as a power hitter and questionable fielder, said Tuesday he is leaving the Los Angeles Dodgers and will play this season with a Japanese team.

Stuart, a 34-year-old veteran of nine major league seasons, would not reveal the name of the Japanese team. He said only that he made his decision after talking with Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi.

Playing for National League entries in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York and Los Angeles, as well as Boston's American League club, Stuart hit .265 with 227 homers and 730 runs batted in for his nine seasons.

Las Vegas Date April 25

Cassius, Floyd in 'Final' Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson are set for another collision at Las Vegas, Nev., April 25 in what figures to be Patterson's last shot at the heavyweight title and the unbeaten champion's last fistic stand before his showdown with the U.S. Army.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali, signed Tuesday to defend against Patterson in the desert gambling mecca, where he battered the former champion for 11 rounds 1½ years ago before winning by a technical knockout in the 12th.

The return meeting was shifted from Detroit to Las Vegas after negotiations broke down with the Detroit promoting group last week. A threatened lawsuit to prevent the Las Vegas bout failed to come off Tuesday in Detroit but Eddie D. Smith, attorney for the E&J Sports Club, said his client still may go to court.

'Living Legend'

"I'm sure this is the end of the road," Clay said at the signing ceremony in a New York hotel. He urged the public to come out "to witness this living legend and see this beautiful machine in action."

The 25-year-old champion faces induction into the Army on April 28 after failing to gain exemption as a minister of the Black Muslim religious sect. He has hinted, however, that he may risk going to jail rather than report for induction.

"I have made up my mind," he said, "but I will only answer to the government."

Clay said he thought Patterson, only man ever to lose the heavyweight crown (to Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in 1959) and then regain it, "should have another chance for my title before the induction comes off."

Patterson, who has reeled off a string of knockout victories since being stopped by Clay, flattened Britain's Henry Cooper in four rounds last year at London. Clay was unable to knock out Cooper in two tries.

"I am very happy to be able to get another chance," said Patterson, who complained of an ailing back after his unsuccessful challenge in November, 1965. "I will do everything I can to win."

Promoter Harold Conrad, representing Championship Sports, Inc., and Main Bout, Inc., was in Las Vegas today to select training sites and complete arrangements for the 15-round fight at the Convention Center.

The bout will be seen throughout the United States and Canada on closed-circuit television and also will be beamed to Japan and parts of Europe via satellites.

No Entries at Aqueduct; Race Program Off

Boycott by Owners, Trainers Expected To Continue Today

NEW YORK (AP) — There was no racing today at Aqueduct, scene of many of the country's famous thoroughbred races, and it appeared that Thursday would be a dark day, too.

The New York Racing Association, which operates the Big A, canceled today's card when not a single entry was received Tuesday. Entries normally are made one day ahead.

The boycott or strike by horse owners and trainers resulted from the action of the New York members of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association in voting to withhold entries as a protest against the state legislature's failure to approve a bill that would increase purse money about $3.5 million for the year.

Get an Agreement

Jack Dreyfus, Jr., master of Hobeau Farm and acting president of the New York chapter of the HBPA, said the horsemen had "no plans for entering horses until we get an agreement on purse increases."

"We hate to have to do this," Dreyfus said. "But all our reasonable efforts have failed. Apparently the legislators don't seem to understand the plight of the horsemen who produce the show."

The horsemen contended they need bigger purses to offset their increased operating costs. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had approved the measure, which had been passed by the Senate, but it died in an Assembly committee Sunday when the legislature adjourned for the year.

Of each dollar wagered, the state takes 10 per cent and the track five per cent for operating costs, including purse money, which amounted to $16 million last year.

score, but his caddy said he had a 68.

Arnold Palmer said he had "about a 70 or 71. I'm playing pretty well and satisfied with my game."

Driving Better

Nicklaus said he was still having troubles but was driving a little better.

The 210-pound strongboy from Columbus, Ohio, as expected, named Palmer as his chief threat.

"I always figure if I can beat Arnie, I can win. And Arnie figures if he can beat me, he can win," Nicklaus said.

Palmer, the only four-time champion of the event, agreed.

"I don't think there are any two people in the world who enjoy beating each other more than Jack and I do," said Palmer.

Between them, the two have won seven of the last nine Masters, and the last five in a row.

"It's a big hitters' course," explained Player, the little South African who won it in 1961. "You have to say that players like Nicklaus and Palmer have an advantage."

Other favorites in the field of 83 include U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, veteran Julius Boros, Doug Sanders and Gay Brewer.

Won 2 Tourneys

Boros, two-time National Open champ, has won two tournaments already this season. Sanders, was runner-up in last week's Greenboro Open, and Brewer has played exceptionally well all spring.

In addition to Player, top foreigners include lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand, a former British Open champ; Australian Bruce Crampton; Spanish Open champ Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina; former British Open champ Kel Nagle of Australia; George Knudson of Canada, who took individual honors in the last Canada Cup competition; Japanese Open champion Chen Ching-Po of Taiwan, and Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan.

The first twosome is scheduled to go off Thursday at 10 a.m., EST.

Awards Won by Murray, Gowdy

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Los Angeles Times sports columnist Jim Murray and Curt Gowdy of NBC-TV have been named best in their fields by the National Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association meeting at Salisbury.

Murray has won the top sportswriter award once before while it was the first time for sportscaster Gowdy.

The association also presented awards to state winners in sports writing and broadcasting. Those honored represented every state except Alaska, which does not participate in the program.

The group inducted the late Ring Lardner into its Hall of Fame. Earlier inductees have included Ted Husing, Grantland Rice, Damon Runyon and Graham McNamee.

Packers Regard Bob Hyland As Prize, Says Chuck Lane

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

When the Green Bay Packers picked Bob Hyland, of Boston College, in the first round of the pro draft, many Packer fans could only raise their eyebrows and ask, "Who's that?"

But according to Chuck Lane, Packer public relations director, the Green Bay staff believes it has picked a plum that may prove of immense value in the future.

Lane, in a recent talk, said that the Packers were "very fortunate" to be able to choose him so late in the draft (9th).

"We thought Detroit might pick him," Lane revealed. The Lions took Mel Farr, a UCLA star halfback, instead. Although likely destined to a place on the bench for at least a year (as is customary for first year players on Vince Lombardi teams), the Packers believe Hyland could step in at either guard or center right now and do a capable job.

Lane said that with Bob Skoronski and "Fuzzy" Thurston getting on in years, and center Ken Bowman untested after a shoulder operation, Hyland could well prove a major cog in the Bays' bid for another title.

Turning to the problems the Packers experienced in field goal kicking last year, Lane said "Nobody was more unhappy about Don Chandler's kicking than Don Chandler." He likened Chandler's plight to that of a golfer. "He was hitting well in practice, but couldn't get them in the game."

Standstill

However, Lane emphasized that the Packers would not remain idle in attempting to pick up new blood to replace players who had essentially come to the end of their careers.

"It is a tribute to Vince Lombardi that the Packers have only 15 players left from the championship club of 1962 and have still remained on top of the league," said Lane.

Lane called the soccer-style kisking method a "definite trend," and disclosed that the Packers had signed a free agent from the University of Indiana named Rudyard McGary, who kicks soccer style. Like a counterpart in the Packer draft — Bill Shear of Cortland, N.Y. — McGary is relatively small but hits the ball well.

They'll Do It Every Time

Hand Says Dodgers Appear 'Also Rans' Minus Koufax

Picks Giants to Edge Pirates for Flag

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The National League looks like a wide open scramble again this year with the San Francisco Giants the pick in this corner to win over the favored Pittsburgh Pirates and the Atlanta Braves in another tight finish.

If there is any firm conviction about what is to be expected in October, it is the notion that the Los Angeles Dodgers will not repeat without Sandy Koufax. If Walter Alston does it again, he should be named manager of the century.

Juan Marichal figures to be Mr. Big of the pitchers, with Koufax in the television booth, and Willie Mays appears headed for a super season. The Giants just missed last year, losing to the Dodgers, but they beat out the Pirates by 1½ games and took their season series 11-7.

Pirates Bolstered

Granted that the addition of Maury Wills, Juan Pizarro and Dennis Ribant should improve Pittsburgh, the Pirates still do not have a solid pitching staff. Atlanta closed with a rush in 1966, but their pitching also is questionable.

The Braves have the power to blast the league apart and the Pirates have the steady hitting and necessary tight defense, but pitching still is the big thing in baseball.

Back of the front three, we would toss St. Louis, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Cincinnati in a hat. Take your pick. Houston, Chicago and New York are the "other league" of the National although the Astros could get tough.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. San Francisco
2. Pittsburgh
3. Atlanta
4. St. Louis
5. Philadelphia
6. Los Angeles
7. Cincinnati
8. Houston
9. New York
10. Chicago

It will be up to Marichal, Gaylord Perry, Bobby Bolin, Lindy McDaniel and possibly Ray Sadecki to pitch the Giants to the pennant despite a weaknes at shortstop. Mays and his younger outfield mates, plus Willie McCovey, Jim Ray Hart and Tom Haller must provide the bang.

Wills Big "If"

If Wills can regain his old Dodger form and avoid leg injuries, he will make the Pirates' attack even more formidable. With Maury on base and men like Willie Stargell, Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon to drive him around, Pittsburgh should score plenty of runs.

The trick will be to keep the other club away from the plate. Much depends on the development of Tommie Sisk, Steve Blass and Woody Fryman. Pizarro, only 8-6 with the White Sox, could be the key.

Atlanta has the home run boom in Joe Torre, Hank Aaron, Mack Jones, Rico Carty and Felipe Alou. If Denis Menke and Woody Woodward firm up as a solid short-second combo, it will be easier for pitchers like Tony Clininger, Ken Johnson, Denny Lemaster and the youngsters.

Maris Helps Cards

A healthy Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris can add needed punch to the Cardinals who have strong front line pitching in Bob Gibson, Al Jackson, Ray Washburn and Larry Jaster. Much depends on the success of Mike Shannon in moving from the outfield to third base.

Philadelphia's hopes took a body blow when Bill White reinjured himself in spring training. Gene Mauch does have a formidable pitching foursome in Jim Bunning, Chris Short, Larry Jackson and Dick Ellsworth and a budding super star at third base in Richie Allen. The club may have a little too much age.

Without Koufax the Dodgers are just another ball club. They scramble for runs and should get more with Bob Bailey added to the attack. But they no longer have that big man to act as a stopper every fourth day.

Cincinnati has potential in rookie Lee May at first. The shift of positions by Pete Rose, Deron Johnson and Tommy Helms seems to be working out. Much hangs on the ability of Milt Pappas and Sammy Ellis to bounce back strong.

Wynn Healthy

Jim Wynn has recovered from the crippling injuries of last summer, a blow that knocked Houston out of the race. Eddie Mathews should help at first or third and the Sonny Jackson-Joe Morgan doubleplay combo is solid. Pitching is questionable back of Dave Giusti, Mike Cuellar and Larry Dierker.

Will the Mets or Cubs finish last? That could be one of the most interesting battles of the year. The Mets didn't show much in Florida, but they do have three experienced pitchers in Jack Fisher, Bob Shaw and Don Cardwell. Frantic trading has failed to close infield gaps.

The Cubs have solid performers in Ron Santo and Billy Williams plus comers in Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger. Leo Durocher will be hard up for pitching after Ken Holtzman.

Black Hawks Duel Toronto Thursday

Hull Appears Healthy As Playoffs Approach

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Hull's left knee and Montreal's right side are in good shape — and that means trouble for the underdog Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers in Thursday night's National Hockey League playoff openers.

Hull, whose 52 goals led Chicago to its first regular-season title, reported his ailing knee "feels good" after working out Tuesday in preparation for the Black Hawks' Stanley Cup playoff opener against the third-place Leafs in Chicago.

Meanwhile, the runner-up Canadiens, who entertain fourth-place New York in the first game of another best-of-7 semifinal series, worried over an over-abundance of right wingers after all hands showed up healthy for a bruising, 90-minute scrimmage.

Overcome Injuries

Hull sat out the Black Hawks' final three games after injuring his knee March 28 in a game against Detroit. "I really won't know how strong the knee is until I get hit," the blond superstar said.

Montreal's defending Cup champions were at full strength for the playoffs after overcoming a wave of injuries that besieged them until the final weeks of the season. Once healthy, they stormed to a second-place finish, losing only one of their final 16 starts and finishing with six straight victories and an 11-game unbeaten string.

The Rangers are counting on a right-winger, 36-year-old Bernard (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, to provide the upset spark against his former club.

Chicago is the early favorite to take the Cup, with Montreal rated the second choice and Toronto third. The Rangers are 6-1 outsiders to survive in their first playoff appearance since 1962.

Seasonal Change One Of Henry Jordan's Means of Preparation

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Spring is about to arrive for Henry Jordan, 32.

"Come around the first of May it really hits me," said the all-pro defensive tackle of the Green Bay Packers. "But Olive (his wife) says it happens in April. She says I'm a different guy in April. I'm quieter I guess and I'm kind of lost in thought. It's a bug and you can't get rid of it.

"Then again, I haven't been playing football very long—only 18 years."

The seasonal change in Jordan is one of his ways of getting ready for another National Football League title chase. He's been in 10 of them. The 11th will be something special.

Third Straight

The Packers will be after their third straight National Football League title. No team since the playoff system began in 1933 has won three straight. "There's a sense of pride about it," Jordan said. "You want to be on the team that does what's never been done before."

During the long Wisconsin winter, Jordan is a mortgage broker, a banquet speaker, a basketball player, and, of course, the father of a thriving family.

He tries to keep football in perspective. "Coach (Vince) Lombardi thinks it's impossible to get stale physically, but he does think you can get stale mentally," Jordan said.

In any season, football is not far from Jordan's mind.

"I think football every day. It's a way of life. I find myself wondering if this move might work or that would work. It's always there. You try to get away from it for a while but in the back of your mind you're always thinking.

Running Moves

"And I'm sure it's the same with the others. I would imagine the backs are thinking of running moves and the quarterbacks are thinking of their passing and the linemen are thinking of the weaknesses in the human body you can take advantage of, ways to trick a man or how to ward off a block to make a tackle."

Jordan is not particularly big by NFL standards for defensive tackles. He owes his longevity in the league to the attention he pays to his craft.

Part of his off-season concentration is spent devising new moves. He already has what is perhaps the largest and finest collection of any tackle in the league.

"The old moves get obsolete," Jordan said, "and I have to change my tricks, and it takes so long. I work on a move for about two years before I get it down."

The new season presents added problems. With the change in the divisional setup, the Packers will be playing a radically different schedule. For a tackle this will mean preparing to meet a number of offensive guards for the first time.

"I had been playing against some guards so long that when we met out there we wouldn't talk football, we'd just ask about each other's families," Jordan said.

Lance Alworth Reportedly to Get $75,000

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Lance Alworth, leading pass receiver in the American Football League last season, signed his 1967 contract Tuesday with the San Diego Chargers.

Terms of the star flanker's contract were not announced, but sources estimated Alworth will receive about $75,000.

Alworth, who pulled in 73 passes for 1,383 yards and 13 touchdowns in 1966, suffered hairline fractures in both hands and a pulled hamstring muscle during the year.

before when injury struck its catching staff in 1965, but he went hitless in three at-bats in four games.

The Pirates, whose Matty Alou led the league at .342 last year, overlooked Jim Pagliaroni and Jesse Gonder for Smith, who opened the eighth inning with a single, and George Spriggs later followed with a two-run triple.

Tommy Sisk pitched one-hit ball for five innings for Pittsburgh, but Dennis Ribant finished up for the victory. Darrell Brandon hurled seven scoreless innings for Boston, giving up four infield hits, before the Pirates jumped on Dennis Bennett.

Frank Comes Through

Baltimore relied on old-reliable Frank Robinson to touch off their attack that beat Washington 7-4 at Pompano Beach, Fla He drove in three runs with a home run and a double Dave McNally of the Orioles and Jim Hannan of the Senators each allowed one run in six inning stints.

Jim Northrup of Detroit brought home five runs, three with a triple in an 11-run third inning that crushed the New York Mets 14-1 in Lakeland, Fla. Mickey Lolich, Johnny Podres and Orlando Pena stopped the Mets, whose Ron Swoboda homered.

Gary Bell, Jack Kralick and John O'Donoghue stopped the San Francisco Giants on four hits and came away with a 1-0 triumph at Stockton, Calif. One of the Indians' seven hits was a run-scoring double by Larry Brown.

Don Sutton sparkled with a three-hitter for seven innings while Jim Hickman and Al Ferrara homered and the Los Angeles Dodgers outslugged Houston 10-6 at Oklahoma City, Okla. Jim Wynn homered for the Astros.

The Chicago Cubs and California Angels were rained out at Anaheim, Calif.

Rare Appearance for Old Champ

Hogan to Try 'Masters' in Spite Of Aching Legs, Jangled Nerves

By RON SPEER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The lonely little man crouched unnoticed on the practice green, stroking putt after putt.

The gallery rushed and eddied around him, flowed over the Augusta National course to gain a glimpse of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

His only gallery was a vast sea of backs.

A little more than a decade ago crowds by the thousands hung on his every shot. The putter in privacy was Ben Hogan, winner of four Opens, two Masters, two PGA's, the British Open and the unchallenged emperor of all golf.

Now the crowds stomped after new kinks.

Hogan kept putting, trying to sink dinky little putts most other pros don't worry about.

Practice, Practice

"I worry about 'em all," Hogan said, and he has reason to.

"I just can't get the ball in the hole anymore," the 54-year-old Hogen added. "It's my nerves, that's all"

He putted again. It was almost embarrassing to watch the three-foot try fall short. Hogan shook his head, grimaced and tried again

Hour after hour the balding old champion kept putting, but his accuracy didn't improve.

Finally he quit and said "I don't think it would make any difference if I hit a million balls I just can't seem to do anything about it.

No Solution

"I've tried about everything and it doesn't help," he added "But all I can do is keep trying.

"My legs were too sore for me to play today, so I just putted, but it didn't do much good"

Hogan played a practice round Monday and the rolling Augusta National layout took its toll of the once-feared Hawk, who hasn't been in a tournament since the U.S. Open nearly a year ago.

Hogan rarely plays anywhere anymore, partly because he is almost ashamed of his putting.

He once said that sometimes he worries so much about his putting that he is afraid he'll freeze in front of a big gallery, unable to even hit the ball.

Hogan didn't have to worry about that Tuesday. There wasn't any gallery.

Warriors and 76ers Bid for Third Straight

NBA Schedules Special Draft to Stock New Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Philadelphia and San Francisco in a commanding position to win their divisional playoff titles in the National Basketball Association this year, the league begins to look ahead, scheduling an expansion draft to fill two new teams and the regular draft of college players

The 76ers and Warriors, both 2-0 in their final divisional playoff series, will be trying for three straight tonight. Philadelphia against Boston at home and San Francisco at St Louis

The best-of-7 series winners then clash in the championship playoff to determine the league champion.

Held in New York

The NBA announced Tuesday that the special draft to stock the new San Diego and Seattle clubs, which enter the league next season, will be held in New York May 1.

Both clubs will be entitled to a total of 15 players from the existing clubs, which can protect seven of the players on their rosters. No team can lose more than three players to a new club.

The regular draft of college players will be held in New York on May 3, with a toss of the coin determining whether Detroit or Baltimore, the two cellar dwellers, get the first choice.

In another NBA development Tuesday, the New York Knicks rehired Coach Dick McGuire, who led the team to a playoff spot for the first time since 1959.

McGuire, who reportedly received a $5,000 increase over his $20,000 salary, said the team would make a strong effort to sign Bill Bradley, the former Princeton star who completes Rhodes scholarship studies at Oxford University in England this June.

Michigan Kegler Hits 717 to Lead ABC Test

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dale Remley was scheduled to be back in Pontiac, Mich., operating a fork lift truck today—just 15 hours after he took first place in the regular singles division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Remley fired a 256-257-204—717 series late Tuesday afternoon at the Miami Beach Convention Hall. He left Florida by jet late Tuesday night and was due to arrive at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport at 7 a.m. today.

"I had to beg to get time off from my job," explained the 5-foot-5, 185-pounder. "I'm due to show up at a high school building project at 8 a.m. Wednesday."

Remley may have a hard time returning to reality.

His score, the best in any division of the 32-day-old ABC, deposed Les Zikes Sr. of Chicago, who had led the singles for three weeks with 702.

Although he has been bowling for 15 years, this was Remley's first ABC effort. His only major tournament win came in 1963 when he paired with Joe Pavlovitch of Denver to win the Colorado state doubles.

If Remley's score is unbeaten when the ABC ends May 7, the 30-year-old Kegler will receive $500 and an invitation to represent the United States in the world tournament next July n Malmo, Sweden.

Tarkenton Views Films of '66 Club

Fran Likes Giants' Personnel

NEW YORK (AP) — Fran Tarkenton has seen the movies of the 1966 New York Giants and, contrary to the expectations of some, the club's new quarterback did not rush for the next plane out of town.

"I think the personnel is better than a lot of people think," said the former Minnesota Viking who cost the Giants two first-round National Football League draft choices among other things. "I think we will surprise some people."

Tarkenton has been looking at movies of four or five Giant games at his home in Athens, Ga. He is in town on business and also to have a series of talks with coach Allie Sherman.

"My biggest job is to get to know the personnel," he said. "After all, this is the first time I have changed teams. I am getting a good idea of the players' strengths and weaknesses from the films.

"It is most important that a quarterback know his men both physically and emotionally. Some of it will have to wait until we get to camp.

"For instance, I want to know which pass routes Homer Jones runs best."

Tarkenton said he had been contacted by Wellington Mara, president of the Giants, before the deal with the Vikings was completed. He said the conversation covered phases of his career.

The scrambling quarterback refused to say what had prompted his unprecedented letter of resignation to Norm Van Brocklin, then coach of the Vikings.

"It wasn't all that big," he said. "But I never have told anybody and I don't expect to tell even my closest friends."

"I am happy to be here in New York. I would have been happy if it had been Chicago or New Orleans. I am just a guy who is happy to be around."

Tarkenton recalled the thrill of his only New York appearance in 1964 when he scrambled behind the line for 35 yards to make a 10-yard gain.

"I always was sort of a hero worshipper," he said. "I saved bubble gum pictures and all that bit. And there I was in the stadium where Babe Ruth played in all those world Series and where Charlie Conerly played football. It was quite a thrill."

Voters Overwhelming in Support for Amendments

Hansen Wins Decisively Over Chief Justice Currie In Supreme Court Contest

Judge Robert W. Hansen, the 55-year-old Milwaukee Circuit Court judge who campaigned on his belief for a need in maintaining "traditionalism" in the Wisconsin Supreme Court, defeated the state's chief justice in Tuesday's Supreme Court election.

Judge Hansen overwhelmed Chief Justice George R. Currie, 67, who would have been able to serve only two years of a new 10-year term in his $25,000 a year post if he had won re-election. Hansen, who will take a $1,000 salary cut as he moves to the high court — where an associate justice draws $24,000 — carried 57 counties to 15 for Currie. He took the lead with the first precinct reporting and never trailed.

The chief justice carried his home Dane County by some 6,000 votes; Hansen piled up a plurality of more than 30,000 in Milwaukee and had more than 55 per cent of the statewide total.

The count, with 3,181 of the state's 3,281 precincts reporting, was:

Hansen	440,649
Currie	357,082

The total vote cast was nearly 20,000 more than the predicted 600,000.

Hansen, who said he viewed a judicial campaign as an opportunity for "a dialogue with the entire community rather than a debate between candidates," said after his election was assured that he felt the campaign was waged on three points.

Judicial Leadership

These were, he said, a need for judicial leadership in the family law field, a need for judicial concern for the rights of law abiding citizens as well as criminal suspects, and the separation of government powers, "with all legislation to be enacted by the legislature."

Of his defeat, Currie said only that "this is a democracy and one who is a candidate for public office should cheerfully accept the decision of the voters in defeat as well as in victory. I do so accept this result."

Currie, a former Sheboygan attorney, reached the high court in 1951 with an appointment by then-Gov. Walter J. Kohler Jr., who three years later named Hansen to a district court vacancy in Milwaukee.

Campaign Topic

Hansen also returned today to a topic he had discussed at length in the campaign — and wherein he had differed sharply from Currie — the developing free press-fair trial controversy.

"I think that should the concept urged by many of 'guidelines,' even guidelines identified as 'reasonable,' be adopted, constitutes judicial lawmaking,"

Not a Presidential Candidate

Dirksen In, Out of Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — To hear Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen tell it, there's a "Dirksen for president" boomlet spreading across the land.

But in his puckish manner, the Illinois senator — whose recording "Gallant Men" has made his sugary tones as familiar as his silver curls — confessed Tuesday he is not about to become a presidential candidate.

Why?

"Because of sagacity born of experience and knowing what it is to campaign and knowing my own limitations," said Dirksen.

The 71-year-old senator was quick to point out that his decision didn't result from a lack of backers.

He told a news conference of a wealthy friend who told him recently: 'You ought to run for president and here's the money to do it."

He said he declined, although he knew the individual concerned had the money and was willing to part with it. How much money?

"It was so big it scared me," said Dirksen.

Just back from a week's vacation in the South, Dirksen said he was surprised by "the amount of Republican talk" he encountered when he journeyed to Miami, Fla., for a speech to the American Textile Manufacturers' Institute.

"These people were from all over the Deep South, as well as from New England," he said. "In a day down there I heard a lot of Republican talk."

Who were they talking about for the Republican presidential nomination?

"About me," he said, dipping his head modestly.

4-Year Terms Approved For Top Elective Officials; School Bus Count Closest

Wisconsin voters Tuesday approved the most sweeping changes in the 119-year history of the state's constitution, passing by overwhelming margins all eight referendum questions put before them.

Included in the approved constitutional amendments are the lengthening of top state officials' terms of office from two to four years, the joint election of governor and lieutenant governor, tax-paid school bus rides for parochial pupils, unlimited consecutive terms for county sheriffs and allowing of changes in justices' and judges' salaries during a term of office.

The public adopted all eight amendments on the ballot by margins of up to 214,000 votes. The cloest of the races was on the school bus amendment, where state voters cast 461,354 yes votes and 355,782 no votes. All other constitutional questions gained 60 per cent backing or better.

The change expected to have the most historic impact on the state was the decision to double the present two-year terms of state officials and elect the top two as a team. The new system will start with the 1970 election.

Seventh State

Wisconsin becomes the seventh state in the nation to choose the governor and lieutenant governor on a single ticket, much the same way as the president and vice president are elected. Only 10 states remain with two-year terms for governor.

Never before had Wisconsin voters adopted more than four changes in the constitution at the same election. Only once before had more than half a dozen questions been on the same ballot — and all 10 listed in 1914 lost.

The school bus amendment rode to success in an election free of the bitter religious disputes that had stained past campaigns. The same change had been rejected by 107,000 votes in 1946.

The 1961 Legislature had tried to provide transportation for private and parochial pupils, but was overruled by the Wisconsin Supreme Court which said the law violated the separation of church and state. The new amendment exempts school bus transportation from that portion of the constitution.

Budget Affected

About 111,000 pupils in Wisconsin will be affected by the amendment. The cost to the state the next two fiscal years is estimated at $6.7 million, a figure that may cause Gov. Warren P. Knowles' $1.1 billion balanced budget to begin teetering.

The 1967 Legislature still must pass a law to carry out the change. However, with the amendment endorsed unanimously by the Senate last month and with little dissent in the Assembly, there is no doubt as to what the decision will be.

Constitutional amendments in Wisconsin must be passed by two consecutive sessions of the legislature, then be approved by a majority of those persons voting in a referendum.

Since Wisconsin became a state in 1848, the people have approved 85 constitutional amendments involving 78 referenda.

Cornell Dorm Fire Kills 10

Eight University Students Perish; 10 Others Injured

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) —Eight students and a faculty adviser at Cornell University perished today and 10 persons were injured in a pre-dawn fire that heavily damaged a 15-year-old dormitory.

The dead students were six women and two men. The adviser was male. The injured, eight of them women students, suffered from smoke inhalation. None was considered in serious condition.

Scores of others escaped through windows and doors. Some evidently tried to use sheet ropes, and the sheets were left dangling.

The bodies, found in bedrooms, hallways and a lobby, were taken to a university morgue. They were not identified immediately.

Knowles Urges Kellett Passage

Governor Claims Bi-Partisan Support Is Responsible for Bill

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a forceful appearance before a joint session of the Legislature, Gov. Warren P Knowles today urged speedy enactment of the Kellett plan to streamline a state government which has been described by mounting numbers of critics as cumbersome, paunchy and unwieldy.

After appearing to hesitate earlier in the legislative session, the Republican governor Tuesday called in leaders of the Democrats and Republicans in both houses of the Legislature, assured them he regarded the issue as a bi-partisan one for which both parties can claim credit, reminded them that both parties had approved platforms pledging a structural reform of state administration, and declared his resolve to fight for its achievement.

Essentially, he endorsed the main pattern of the plan brought in by a reorganization commission headed by William R. Kellett, the retired Menasha corporate executive.

More Urgent

In one respect the Knowles plan is more immediate and urgent than the original blueprint which called for execution of the stream-lining of more than 85 agencies into 26 functional departments on July 1, 1968 He asked that the lawmakers move up the effective date to July 1 of this year.

But amendments covering the creation of a department of natural resources, and a modification of the plan for a department of health and social services, will probably be described as efforts to compromise.

Most of the powerful and angry resistance within the state government to the Kellett proposal has come from the State Conservation Commission, protesting a union with the

Dean Plans to Wed Ex-Coed Of St. Norbert

Post-Crescent News Service

DE PERE — The Rev. Vincent De Leers, dean of St. Norbert College, confirmed today the identity of the young woman involved in his decision to seek laicization with the right to marry from Roman Catholic authorities in Rome.

Father De Leers had announced Tuesday he was seeking permission to leave the Norbertine Order and subsequent laicization, or return to the life of a layman, to enable him to serve the urban disadvantaged. He has been granted a leave of absence from the Norbertine Order effective April 15.

Father De Leers

Father De Leers confirmed that his marriage plans involve Miss Marguerite (Peggy) Best of suburban, Indianapolis, Ind. The Catholic Church forbids marriage of priests without permission from the Vatican.

Miss Best, about 26, was graduated from St. Norbert in 1961. She had become a convert to Catholicism sometime before her graduation. She subsequently studied in Paris preparatory to joining an order of nuns in an eastern state. She never technically became a member of the order, Father De Leers said, but was a candidate for membership. Such candidacies normally last about a year before aspirants take their first vows.

Miss Best was an assistant in the St. Norbert art department while she was in school.

Legislators Okay Taxless Oleo Sale

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A bill repealing Wisconsin's historic ban on colored oleo margarine and allowing its sale without tax was recommended for passage today by the powerful legislative Joint Committee on Finance. The vote was 9-5, as amended.

The bill, backed by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, provides that the state's long-standing bar against colored oleo be removed immediately.

A 7½-cent per pound tax proposal and a $5 million dairy research center at the University of Wisconsin financed by the tax funds were cut from the proposal on votes of 9-5 and 8-6, respectively.

Emergency Clause

Attached to the bill, which passed the Assembly Agricultural Committee last week, is an emergency clause which could allow action to be taken on the measure by the Legislature before passage of the state budget in late May or in June.

First defeated, then approved in recommending the bill, was an attempt to delete the animal and dairy science building and simply provide funds for research. The move was made by assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah, who opposed granting funds for state buildings in that manner.

The university should come to the State Building Commission, he said, to finance facilities. Research funds could be provided from the tax, however, and allow "flexibility in providing the best type of dairy research."

"In essence this is a kind of bargain with the farm interests of the state," said Sen. Robert Warren, R-Green Bay. "We shouldn't tamper with it before it gets to the floor.

The motion was rejected on an 8-5 vote but later was approved.

The move to kill the bill, made by Assemblyman Tommy Thompson, R-Elroy, died for lack of a second.

Termed Compromise

Other members of the committee termed the measure an outright compromise in a session which has 13 oleo bills before it.

Assembly Edge Rises for GOP

MADISON (AP) — Republicans have jumped from a five-vote edge in the Wisconsin Assembly to a likely margin of seven votes.

The Republican domination was restored to 53-47 Tuesday when Joseph E. Tregoning of Shullsburg overwhelmed his opponent to capture the vacant seat for Green and Lafayette counties.

The count, now the same as after the general election last November, was expected to become 53-46 with the anticipated resignation of Assemblyman Kenneth Kunde, D - Sheboygan, who has been named U.S. Postmaster in his home city.

Johnson Asks For Increases In Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked congress today for postal rate increases totaling $800 million and for a two-step pay increase of some $2 5 billion for all federal employes and members of the armed forces.

In a special message, Johnson recommended that the cost of mailing letters be increased by 1 cent The charge for first-class mail would go to 6 cents and an air mail stamp would cost 9 cents.

The President also called for increases in all other postal rates.

Johnson proposed that the government's 2 5 million civilian employes, and members of the armed forces, be given an average pay increase of 4.5 per cent effective Oct. 1.

In addition, he called for further increases on Oct. 1, 1968, and Oct. 1, 1969, for civilian workers.

Urges Teach-ins, Preach-ins

Rev. King Claims U.S. Is Wrong For Bringing 'Violence' to Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Civil rights leader Dr Martin Luther King Jr. has unfolded a major new program of teach-ins, preach-ins and mass demonstrations in an effort to gain from the government an admission "that we have been wrong from the beginning of our adventure in Vietnam."

The winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize pictured the United States Tuesday as so dedicated to its worldwide money and material investments that it has become "the greatest purveyor of violence in the world today," and is on the wrong side of a world revolution for human rights.

'Under Our Bombs'

"Now they languish under our bombs," he said of the South Vietnamese, "and consider us — not their fellow Vietnamese — the real enemy. They move sadly and apathetically as we herd them off the land of their fathers into concentration camps where minimal social needs are rarely met. So far we may have killed a million of them, mostly children."

King's first recommendation, delivered at a news conference, was for "those who are prepared to do it, who see the great dangers ahead for mankind," to become conscientious objectors.

In the evening, before more than 3,000 persons in the Riverside church, he called for clergymen to give up their draft-exemption as clergy and become conscientious objectors.

He also suggested a five-point program designed to "begin the long and difficult process of extricating ourselves from this night-marish conflict:"

—End all bombing in Vietnam.

—Declare a unilateral ceasefire "in the hope that such action will create the atmosphere for negotiation."

—Curtail U.S. military build-ups in Thailand and Laos.

Role of Viet Cong

—Accept a role for the National Liberation Front — Viet Cong — in negotiations and in any future government, because it "has substantial support in South Vietnam."

—Set a date for removing all foreign troops in accord with the 1954 Geneva agreement.

King got standing ovations, at the beginning and at the end of his talk. He was picketed by about two dozen members of a Queens Negro organization that insisted the two causes should not be tied together.

Fire Fighter Burned Battling 50-Acre Blaze

Carlisle Stinemates Is Treated at Waupaca Hospital

WAUPACA — A conservation department fire fighter suffered first and second degree burns Tuesday in a grass fire that burned over approximately 50 acres of grass and woodland 7½ miles south of here, near the Waushara-Waupaca County line.

Carlisle Stinemates, route 2, was taken to Riverside Hospital with burns to his face and left arm, and was released after treatment.

10 Units Battle

The fire, which broke out at the Pine Lake Lutheran Camp in Waushara County, was battled by 10 fire-fighting units from three fire departments and the conservation department. Waupaca, Wild Rose and Saxville fire departments answered the call.

Fire Ranger Sid Miller said the fire was started by burning debris at the youth camp which spread north fanned by a strong south wind. Two sets of buildings and the Erickson Mink Ranch were threatened by the fast-moving flames before they were halted at a town road at the county line.

Damage was confined to some trees in the wooded area that was burned over.

Second Fire

Approximately one - half acre of pine trees was damaged at the Odd Fellows Youth Camp, on Goose Neck Lake, south of Waupaca, by a fire that broke out about 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Waupaca firemen, called to the scene, brought the fire under control before it could spread into a wooded area. This fire also was started from burning rubbish.

Potter Expects Approval of FHA Loan for Sewage Plant

New District Also in Line For Grant

POTTER — Officials here expect this week to receive the first installment of a $60,000 Farmers Home Administration (FHA) loan to build a sewage treatment plant.

"We were told it would be this week," said Winford Kasper, secretary of Potter's sanitary district. The total project cost has been estimated at $142,700. The district's contribution was listed at $28,100 and an FHA grant of $54,600 also is expected.

Bids for the construction work haven't been let but an FHA official in Fond du Lac said construction would probably begin soon after the payment is received. The funds will be sent from FHA offices in Madison.

Board Voted

The loan and grant was applied for in November, 1965 after the Town of Rantoul board voted to sponsor a survey of sanitary problems cited by the State Board of Health.

The state board two years ago claimed the community's private waste disposal systems constituted a health hazard. Originally the systems were considered a pollution factor to the Manitowoc River.

Since the community is unincorporated and, therefore, has no governing body for Potter alone, the town has acted in the community's behalf.

Elwood Hoffman, county supervisor of the FHA, said the funds would probably be available soon but didn't specify a date.

Kasper said, "They (FHA) told us the paper work has all been completed and they told us we would receive it this week."

Stockbridge President

Write-In Upsets Incumbent

STOCKBRIDGE — Paul Westenberger waged an intensive write-in campaign and upset veteran village president George Hostettler Tuesday in a vote that saw several other incumbents swept out of office.

Westenberger announced his write-in candidacy after Robert Grogran, nominated to oppose Hostettler at the caucus in March, withdrew from the race.

Hostettler held the post for 12 years.

Westenberger, an electrical contractor, received 118 votes to Hostettler's 94, the total of 226 was the second highest ever cast in an election here.

Incumbent trustees who were defeated included Marvin Gerhartz and J. Robert Leach. Roman Hoerth was the only incumbent returned to the board. Ousting Gerhartz and Leach were Emil Custer, who received 142 votes, and Norbert Gilles Jr., 120 votes. Hoerth was the top vote getter among the trustee candidates with 151. Gerhartz received 103; Leach, 105, and a sixth candidate, Richard Hammer, 53.

George Ecker, incumbent clerk-treasurer, polled the most votes, 211. He was unopposed as was Vince Johnson, who received 203 votes to be elected assessor. He succeeds Mrs. Paul Westenberger, who did not seek re-election.

New London Expects Drop In Wolf River Level Today

Flood-Resigned Citizens Surprised At Earlier Emergency Declaration

NEW LONDON — The Wolf River is expected to recede today after holding steady near the 10.1 foot level for nearly 24 hours.

Residents along the river, who have become resigned to annual flooding, were surprised to hear that the governor had declared the area in a state of flood emergency.

Expect Relief

The statement was the source of disaster - area jokes as the word spread that indications, although almost unnoticeable, were that residents could expect some relief from the high waters which have proved to be as much of a nuisance as they have been destructive.

The river was at 10.0 feet at 7 a.m. Monday and slowly raised to the 10.1 mark late in the day. About 6 p.m. Tuesday it appeared the river had crested at that level, when it dropped slightly.

However, backwash from an eddy at the river gauge made it impossible to make a definite reading.

Few Complaints

No perceptible changes in conditions were observed Tuesday which weren't evident Monday. Officials reported receiving very few complaints about water conditions and resulting damage.

Ray Pelishek, public works director, reported the extreme west end of N. Water Street had been flooded in the Third Ward. Other water covered streets in that low-lying area were West and Spruce.

Woodlane Drive, along the west bank of the Wolf River at the eastern edge of the city, was also partly underwater, Pelishek said.

Records show the 10.1 river level was the highest since 1960 when the river reached 10.5 feet.

Birch Sign Again Target For Vandals

WAUPACA — Vandals have again struck at the John Birch Society sign between here and Weyauwega on U. S. 10.

Sometime Friday night vandals using black spray paint printed VFW on one side of the sign and blocked out wording on the other side.

This is the third time the sign has been the target of vandals. When the sign was installed last year it was splashed with green paint and later it was cut down.

The sign is seeking the impeachment of Earl Warren and asking the United States to get out of the United Nations.

WEYAUWEGA — Clifford Schmidt is the new mayor of the City of Weyauwega. Schmidt was elected without opposition to succeed retiring Mayor Walter Kamp.

Schmidt, 2nd Ward alderman for the past seven years, polled 213 votes. The council is expected to appoint a new alderman.

In the Third Ward, where there was no declared candidate, incumbent Joseph Pleshek received 10 of 29 write-in votes, enough to return him to office. The remaining 19 votes were divided among 12 other write-in candidates.

Other unopposed incumbents re-elected are Hazel Fraedrich, clerk - treasurer, Assessor Ed Teal, 1st Ward Alderman Alvin Neubauer, and 2nd Ward Alderman Fred Maass.

A total of 238 ballots were cast.

County Eyes Other Sites for Migrants

Stokely-Van Camp Facility Center Of Controversy With Grand Chute

Properties which could be sites for re-locating the Stokely-Van Camp migrant worker camp were viewed Monday by the Outagamie County Board's zoning committee and County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler.

The camp, now located on N. Casaloma Drive in the Town of Grand Chute, has been a subject of controversy ever since it was built last summer.

County officials looked at three pieces of county - owned property — Two in the Town of Bovina and one in the Town of Black Creek.

"All of this property," Esler said, "is on nice land and would make nice locations."

Other pieces of county-owned land in Grand Chute, Esler said, are "too low."

He said county officials might approach the canning firm in the future with offers to sell the property for a re-located camp. No date has been set for a meeting.

In February Green Lake County Judge David C. Willis handed down a decision which defeated the town's attempt to remove the camp.

The ruling came as a result of a long series of court proceedings begun last summer. At that time the town sought to enforce the county's zoning ordinance and halt construction of the wooden buildings and concrete - block service center at the site two miles west of Appleton.

Judge Willis, who was called to conduct the hearing because of writs of prejudice files against two Outagamie County judges, said, in effect, that the town is the wrong party to attempt enforcement of a county zoning ordinance.

Referred to Zoning

The town then filed a request with the county asking for renewal of the action.

The county board was asked to pass a resolution instructing its corporation counsel, A. W. Ponath, to prosecute the case against the canning firm. However, the board referred the matter to the zoning committee.

Grand Chute is trying to establish its own zoning ordinance. A referendum is on the ballot today in the township which asks voters to approve a new zoning ordinance.

Several county officials privately admit that if the migrant camp was moved to some new location in the county, the same problems would be encountered and that it would be better if the camp was left where it is now located.

Challenger Tips Incumbent in Seymour Race

Albert Doepker Edges Robert Kailhofer By 3-Vote Margin

SEYMOUR — An extremely close race for the 2nd Ward aldermanic post was decided by only a three-vote margin as challenger Albert H. Doepker upset Robert J. Kailhofer, the incumbent, by a vote of 122 to 119, Mrs. Josephine Marnocha, city clerk, reported.

Incumbent alderman Earl Eick was unopposed in the 1st Ward. Total vote in the hot 2nd Ward race was 245, higher than usual due to the contested election.

Normally, the clerk said, the 1st Ward turnout is twice as great as the 2nd Ward but this year only 260 voters went to the polls in the 1st Ward.

Both wards, however, registered slightly less than half the potential number of voters.

Kailhofer was appointed to the unexpired term of Maynard Mott in 1963. He was required to run for the post each succeeding year but this was the first time he ran for the full two-year term.

Doepker was successful in his first bid for the job. He owns a Seymour bakery.

Horle Regains Post at Iola

President Wins 183-101; Incumbent Trustee Defeated

IOLA — The village president survived competition in Tuesday's election but an incumbent trustee succumbed in a five-way race.

Adam Horle, incumbent president, defeated R. I. Anderson, 183-101. Trustee Richard G. Anderson polled 140 votes but placed third for the two available seats.

Darboy Sewer Meeting Set

Officials From Area Communities Invited To April 13 Parley

Officials from Kaukauna, Kimberly and Combined Locks have been invited to a meeting April 13 to discuss the possible formation of a sanitary district at Darboy.

The meeting was announced by Eugene E. Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission. Officials will meet in Kaukauna's municipal building.

The planning commission last Wednesday sponsored a meeting to renew talks about the Darboy sanitary district. In a letter to Kaukauna Mayor Gilbert J. Anderson, Franchett said, "There are approximately 150 homes in the Darboy area, all of which are using septic tanks for sewage disposal in an area with very heavy clay soils."

"Serious consideration is being given to the formation of a sanitary district in the area," Franchett continued.

At the meeting last week, Town of Buchanan officials asked the planning commission to arrange the next gathering. The three municipalities north of Darboy are included in the talks because they are in the same watershed and might be the site of a possible sewer hook-up from Darboy.

Darboy is on the border of the towns of Harrison and Buchanan. Officials from both towns also were invited to the next meeting.

$35,000 Waupaca Project

Youth Center Site Chosen

WAUPACA — A building located at 120 Pine Street which is now being used as a warehouse will be remodeled and become the new Waupaca Youth Center, according to a decision reached by a special youth center committee.

Arrangements are being made to purchase the 54 by 124 foot building from E. P. Kissinger, 507 Mill St. Negotiations have also started for an adjacent house which will be removed to enlarge the parking.

The total youth center project is expected to cost approximately $35,000. It will include the purchase of the building and house, and remodeling of the building. The new center will contain recreation areas, rest rooms, a lunch counter and a heating plant. A ceiling will be installed and the block walls covered with wood paneling, a spokesman for the committee said.

Sites Inspected

A total of 12 sites were inspected by the committee before a decision was reached. Some of the sites were priced too high, others were not available and some were rejected by the state building inspector. At first, a location behind the city hall was being considered, but upon investigation it was learned the site was not suitable for building.

The Old Dane's House, located on the north end of Main Street was discussed but ruled out after it was inspected by the state building inspector.

$9,000 Received

The committee was organized and started discussions on a new youth center approximately two months ago and since that time nearly $9,000 has been received in donations and pledges. A fund-raising drive is expected to start within the next two weeks.

The present youth center is located above Fisher's Dairy Store, 217 N. Main St. The facility not only lacks space but has only one exit, City Recreation Director, Otis Foster said.

Youth Center members have already started their fund-raising projects and to date have raised more than $2,000 from a marathon basketball game and bake sale. Other projects are being planned, Foster said.

Tradesmen Get 3-Year Pact With Increases

Contractors, Union Announce Plumbers, Steamfitters Package

Union plumbers and steamfitters and light major contractors in a six-county region have reached agreement on a three-year contract calling for wage and fringe benefit increases.

The joint announcement was made Tuesday by Don Meyers, executive secretary of the Central Valley Plumbing and Heating Contractors Association, and Roland Choudoir, business representative for Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 8.

Beat Deadline

Agreement had been tentatively reached more than a week ago, ahead of the April 1 contract expiration date.

While union and management spokesmen declined to elaborate on contract terms, it was learned the wage-fringe package amounts to $1.45 per hour over three years on a 45-50-50 basis.

The minimum for a union plumber is reportedly $4.60 per hour in wages, including 38 cents an hour granted the first year of the contract.

Wage boosts reportedly will be 43 cents the second year and 35 cents the third. The remainder of the package will go for improved health-welfare and vacations.

About 200 union plumbers and steamfitters in Outagamie, Waupaca, Shawano, Menominee and parts of Winnebago and Calumet Counties belong to Local 8.

"Management and labor had a good working relationship and as a result this is the first time we ever arrived at a contract before the expiration date. We're proud of the fact," Choudoir and Myers said.

They also said that by mutual agreement the specific terms of the new contract would not be disclosed because of negotiations underway in other areas.

Wage rates for all trades are disclosed annually when they are filed with the city clerk's office. Contractors hired by municipalities must abide by prevailing rates for the area.

Rare Appearance for Old Champ

Hogan to Try 'Masters' in Spite Of Aching Legs, Jangled Nerves

By RON SPEER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The lonely little man crouched unnoticed on the practice green, stroking putt after putt.

The gallery rushed and eddied around him, flowed over the Augusta National course to gain a glimpse of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

And he was alone again.

His only gallery was a vast sea of backs.

A little more than a decade ago crowds by the thousands hung on his every shot. The putter in privacy was Ben Hogan, winner of four Opens, two Masters, two PGA's, the British Open and the unchallenged emperor of all golf.

Now the crowds stomped after new kinks.

Hogan kept putting, trying to sink dinky little putts most other pros don't worry about.

Practice, Practice

"I worry about 'em all," Hogan said, and he has reason to.

"I just can't get the ball in the hole anymore," the 54-year-old Hogen added. "It's my nerves, that's all."

He putted again. It was almost embarrassing to watch the three-foot try fall short. Hogan shook his head, grimaced and tried again.

Another miss. Hogan looked up at the sky, despairingly. Then he sank a short one, and he grinned, his teeth gleaming in contrast with his tanned skin.

Hogan tried a longer putt, missed and returned to his three-footers.

Hour after hour the balding old champion kept putting, but his accuracy didn't improve.

Finally he quit and said "I don't think it would make any difference if I hit a million balls. I just can't seem to do anything about it.

No Solution

"I've tried about everything and it doesn't help," he added. "But all I can do is keep trying.

"My legs were too sore for me to play today, so I just putted, but it didn't do much good."

Hogan played a practice round Monday and the rolling Augusta National layout took its toll of the once-feared Hawk, who hasn't been in a tournament since the U.S. Open nearly a year ago.

Hogan rarely plays anywhere anymore, partly because he is almost ashamed of his putting.

He once said that sometimes he worries so much about his putting that he is afraid he'll freeze in front of a big gallery, unable to even hit the ball.

Hogan didn't have to worry about that Tuesday. There wasn't any gallery.

Warriors and 76ers Bid for Third Straight

NBA Schedules Special Draft to Stock New Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Philadelphia and San Francisco in a commanding position to win their divisional playoff titles in the National Basketball Association this year, the league begins to look ahead, scheduling an expansion draft to fill two new teams and the regular draft of college players.

The 76ers and Warriors, both 2-0 in their final divisional playoff series, will be trying for three straight tonight. Philadelphia against Boston at home and San Francisco at St. Louis.

The best-of-7 series winners then clash in the championship playoff to determine the league champion.

Held in New York

The NBA announced Tuesday that the special draft to stock the new San Diego and Seattle clubs, which enter the league next season, will be held in New York May 1.

Both clubs will be entitled to a total of 15 players from the existing clubs, which can protect seven of the players on their rosters. No team can lose more than three players to a new club.

The regular draft of college players will be held in New York on May 3, with a toss of the coin determining whether Detroit or Baltimore, the two cellar dwellers, get the first choice.

In another NBA development Tuesday, the New York Knicks rehired Coach Dick McGuire, who led the team to a playoff spot for the first time since 1959.

McGuire, who reportedly received a $5,000 increase over his $20,000 salary, said the team would make a strong effort to sign Bill Bradley, the former Princeton star who completes Rhodes scholarship studies at Oxford University in England this June.

Bobcats Face Iron Rangers In Playoff

GREEN BAY — Waterloo's Black Hawks will be favored to add another trophy to their already imposing collection this weekend.

The Black Hawks, who recently clinched an unprecedented fourth straight United States Hockey League championship, will be shooting for the North Star Cup in the USHL playoffs, in the Marquette, Mich., Palestra Saturday and Sunday.

Waterloo will oppose the Rochester Mustangs, third place finishers in the regular season race, at 2 p.m. Saturday, and the Green Bay Bobcats, runnersup to the Black Hawks, will square off against the host Marquette Iron Rangers at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The two losers will play for third place Sunday afternoon, and the opening-day winners will clash for the championship at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Waterloo will skate into action with the USHL's scoring champion on its side. Paul Johnson captured a second consecutive title, collecting 45 points in 29 games, including a league-leading total of 23 goals.

The Bobcats will be looking to Gordie Yewman, the league's No. 2 goal scorer (with 22), and center Paul Coppe, who shared seventh place, with 31 points.

First Time in Tourney

Michigan Kegler Hits 717 to Lead ABC Test

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dale Remley was scheduled to be back in Pontiac, Mich., operating a fork lift truck today—just 15 hours after he took first place in the regular singles division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Remley fired a 256-257-204—717 series late Tuesday afternoon at the Miami Beach Convention Hall. He left Florida by jet late Tuesday night and was due to arrive at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport at 7 a.m. today.

"I had to beg to get time off from my job," explained the 5-foot-5, 185-pounder. "I'm due to show up at a high school building project at 8 a.m. Wednesday."

Remley may have a hard time returning to reality.

His score, the best in any division of the 32-day-old ABC, deposed Les Zikes Sr. of Chicago, who had led the singles for three weeks with 702.

Although he has been bowling for 15 years, this was Remley's first ABC effort. His only major tournament win came in 1963 when he paired with Joe Pavlovitch of Denver to win the Colorado state doubles.

If Remley's score is unbeaten when the ABC ends May 7, the 30-year-old Kegler will receive $500 and an invitation to represent the United States in the world tournament next July in Malmo, Sweden.

Tarkenton Views Films of '66 Club

Fran Likes Giants' Personnel

NEW YORK (AP) — Fran Tarkenton has seen the movies of the 1966 New York Giants and, contrary to the expectations of some, the club's new quarterback did not rush for the next plane out of town.

"I think the personnel is better than a lot of people think," said the former Minnesota Viking who cost the Giants two first-round National Football League draft choices among other things. "I think we will surprise some people."

Tarkenton has been looking at movies of four or five Giant games at his home in Athens, Ga. He is in town on business and also to have a series of talks with coach Allie Sherman.

"My biggest job is to get to know the personnel," he said. "After all, this is the first time I have changed teams. I am getting a good idea of the players' strengths and weaknesses from the films.

"It is most important that a quarterback know his men both physically and emotionally. Some of it will have to wait until we get to camp.

"For instance, I want to know which pass routes Homer Jones runs best."

Tarkenton said he had been contacted by Wellington Mara, president of the Giants, before the deal with the Vikings was completed. He said the conversation covered phases of his career.

The scrambling quarterback refused to say what had prompted his unprecedented letter of resignation to Norm Van Brocklin, then coach of the Vikings.

"It wasn't all that big," he said. "But I never have told anybody and I don't expect to tell even my closest friends."

"I am happy to be here in New York. I would have been happy if it had been Chicago or New Orleans. I am just a guy who is happy to be around."

Tarkenton recalled the thrill of his only New York appearance in 1964 when he scrambled behind the line for 35 yards to make a 10-yard gain.

"I always was sort of a hero worshipper," he said. "I saved bubble gum pictures and all that bit. And there I was in the stadium where Babe Ruth played in all those world Series and where Charlie Conerly played football. It was quite a thrill."

Appleton Legion '9' Seeks Co-Sponsor for 1967 Season

Registration for the Appleton American Legion baseball team will be held 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday in the City Hall basement, according to Manager Sonny Filz.

The Appleton team, which finished second in the league and qualified for the state Legion tournament last year, is seeking a co-sponsor. The club was without a sponsor in 1966 — for the first time. Donations helped finance the team.

All boys who will not reach their 19th birthdays by Sept. 1 are eligible to try out for the team.

Filz' coaching assistants will be Louis Kort, Earl Furlow and John Graff.
